75. The fluctuations under the different heads are explained in detail below. The smaller receipts under India on account of interest on Loans to Native States were due to the gradual reduction of the debt due by the Jaora State. The recoveries from the Presidency Corporations agreed closely with the Budget Estimates, but exceeded the actuals of the previous year in Bengal and Madras owing to additional loans having been granted to the Calcutta Port Trust and the Madras Harbour Trust respectively. As regards recoveries from Municipal and Other Public Corporations, India again omitted to provide in the Budget the amount due for the Mhow water-works loan. The receipt in the Central Provinces was on account of the loan of 30,0 granted to the Nagpur Municipality for water-works partly in 1889-90 and partly in 1890-91. The smaller receipts in Burma were due to the gradual repayment of the loans granted to the Rangoon and Prome Municipalities and the Rangoon Port Trust. The Estimates in Bengal were pitched too high, while in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh the additional loans to the Agra and Allahabad Municipalities having been taken much earlier than expected, the actual recoveries exceeded the Budget. In the Punjab and Bombay the Budget was not realised, as loans were not granted to the extent anticipated. Under Landholders and Notabilities there were some arrear recoveries in India, from the talukdars of Ajmere. The interest on Advances to Cultivators, etc., was under-estimated in the Punjab, while in Bengal the greater portion of the interest due on the large drainage and embankments advances was not realised during the year. The increase under interest on Currency investment was due to the anticipation interest realised on the conversion into the 4 per cent loan of 1842-43 of notes of the 4½ per cent. loan of 1879, and of the 4 per cent loan of 1865 held on account of the investment. The Interest on Overdrawn Capital represents the interest on the drawings of the guaranteed and other Railways, chiefly the Great Indian Peninsula, in excess of their balances. These overdrawals cannot be accurately estimated. The Other Items in India represent chiefly the interest on advances made to the Bank of Bengal, for which no provision was made in the Budget. In Madras there was a special recovery of 3,7 on account of interest on arrears of peishcash left uncollected from the Ramnad Zemindary at the time the State was taken over by the Court of Wards.

76 In England 165,2 was realised during the year from the investment of cash balances which, were exceptionally high owing to the loan required for the purchase of the South Indian Railway having been raised early in the year in consequence of the favourable state of the money market. The rate of interest obtained on the investment was also unusually high.

77. The rise in the rate of Exchange led to a reduction of the charges under this head by 309,7 and 306,5 compared with the Budget and with the actuals of the previous year. If the effect of the rise in Exchange were excluded, the charges would show an increase of 208,7 and 260,8 over the Budget and the actuals of the previous year respectively. The excesses were due chiefly to the extra payments involved by the conversion operations in India and to the discount and interest on the loan raised in England during the year.

13.—Interest on Ordinary Debt.

78. Before proceeding to examine the interest charges in detail, it is usual to ascertain first the amount of Loans raised or discharged during the year, and the following figures supply the necessary particulars for 1889-90 and 1890-91 :—

79. As announced in the Financial statement for 1890-91 no new loan was raised in India during the year. The only important operation of the year connected with the Public Debt in India was the conversion of a portion of the 4½ per cent. loans of 1878 and 1879 into the 4 per cent. loan of 1854-55, but as this was only a transfer from one loan to another, it is not shown in the above statement. The Budget provided 36,0 for the discharge of the expired loans, chiefly the 4½ per cent. loan of 1870 and the Ghazipur-Dildarnagar Railway debentures, but 15,4 only was claimed during the year.

80. In England a loan of £5,400,0 was raised during the year, of which 3,200,0 was for the purchase of the South Indian Railway and 2,200,0 for advances to Railway Companies in India and England under the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway Purchase Act and for the discharge of debentures for 500,0 of the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway. The sum of 1,495,0 shown against the third head represents the amount of the debentures and debenture stock issued by the South Indian Railway, of which the liability was accepted by Government on the purchase of the Railway. The other amounts (1,3 and 84,7) represent payments in redemption of the stocks under discharge.

82. The interest on the 4½ per cent. loans paid in 1890-91 approximated closely to the total amount due during the year for which provision was made in the Budget. The excess interest at 8 annas per cent. up to the date of maturity which was paid on the notes of the loans of 1878 and 1879 converted into the 4 per cent. loan of 1854-55 was more than counterbalanced by a portion of the interest, which would have been otherwise paid on them during the year having on their conversion been paid on the new 4 per cent. notes issued in lieu so having been charged as interest on 4 per cent. loans. The greater portion, therefore, of the extra payments involved by the conversion and amounting to about 120,0 exclusive of the brokerage of 4 annas per cent., appear under the 4 per cent. loans. The brokerage was charged to discount on loans.

83. The following are the details of the interest paid in England:—

| 1889-90. Accounts. | | 1890-91. Budget. | Revised. | Accounts. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2,402,3 | Interest not charged to Railways . . . . . | 2,482,3 | 2,512,8 | 2,512,8 |

Under Interest not charged to Railways the Budget provided for 10,0 for interest on temporary loans which was not required, but on the other hand no provision was made for the discount on the 3 per cent. stock issued during the year which amounted to 40,5. Compared with the previous year, the excess under this head was chiefly due to the interest on the new loan issued during the year, while that under Interest charged to Railways was chiefly due to the exceptional payments involved by the discharge of the debentures of the Oudh and Rohilkhund Railway, namely, of interest on the debentures from 1st October to 1st December 1890 and of a quarter's interest in January 1891 on the 3 per cent. stock issued for their discharge. The Interest charged against Companies on advances was higher owing to fresh advances having been made.

84. The Interest on Special Loans in India was short drawn during 1889-90, chiefly in respect of sums deposited by the late ex-King of Oudh for certain charities and pensions, and there was consequently an excess in 1890-91. The usual details of the interest on Treasury Notes and Service Funds are noted below, which show that the Estimates were fairly well realized.

85. In 1890-91 the net receipts of the Post Office exceeded for the first time the total expenditure including the District Post charges. The net revenue of the Department during the past five years was as follows :—

| | Net Revenue. |
|---|---|
| 1886-87 | —196,0 |
| 1887-88 | —161,0 |
| 1888-89 | −60,9 |
| 1889-90 | −75,4 |
| 1890-91 | +5,8 |

The unfavourable result of 1889-90 was to a large extent only nominal, being due to the change in the system of accounting explained in last year's report, by which the postage on articles remaining undelivered at the end of the year, and the value of postage stamps remaining unsold with the Postmasters, which were formerly taken as revenue, were deducted from the revenue of the year. If allowance be made for this, the above figures would show a steady growth of the net revenue of the Department since 1886-87.

86. The net result of the Telegraph Department is largely affected by the capital expenditure incurred on new lines during the year. In 1890-91 this expenditure was higher than both the actuals of the previous year and the Budget estimate, and the result was consequently less unfavourable.

87. The net receipts under Mint during the year were unusually high, owing to the exceptionally high silver coinage of the year.

88. The above figures show that the revenue of 1890 91 exceeded that of 1889-90 by 101,3. The actual increase was, however, considerably smaller as a sum of 41,0 was deducted from the receipts of 1889-90, owing to a change in the system of adjusting the revenue as explained in the last year's report. On the other hand, however, the reduction in the rates of letter postage to the United Kingdom from 1st January 1891 reduced the revenue during the last three months of 1890-91.

89. The Budget allowed generally for the normal growth of the revenue and the more favourable result of the Accounts is almost entirely due to the large reduction in the Payments to English, Colonial and other Foreign Post Offices which resulted from the non-payment during the year of the amount due on account of open and transit mails and the amounts due to certain Colonial Governments, and from a reduction in the payments to the London Post Office, owing to an arrangement concluded with it by which each country is to retain the letter postage collected by it, except a small portion to cover the cost of Continental transit. This reduction was, however, met by a corresponding increase in the charges in England. Under the Sale of Ordinary Postage Stamps the falling off was due to the reduction of the rates of foreign postage mentioned above. The money order receipts continued to show a steady development, but not to the extent anticipated in the Budget which was too sanguine. The Budget under Mail Cart and Parcel Van Passenger Service and Bullock Train Collections provided for a falling off in the receipts in the expectation that the Umballa-Kalka-Railway would be opened for traffic during the middle of 1890, but it was not actually opened till after the beginning of 1891. Under District Post Collections there was a falling off in Bengal owing to smaller receipts from peons' fees for serving processes, and the Punjab Budget was placed too high.

Indian Telegraph.

90. The receipts in 1890-91 showed an improvement of only 7,3 over those of 1889-90, the growth of revenue being much below the normal and falling short of the anticipations at the time the Budget Estimate was prepared. The increase was realized chiefly from postage stamps affixed to messages and from rents of wires and instruments leased to railways, but there was a falling off in the receipts from the sale of telegraph stamps, and the estimate of receipts from Railway lines of telegraph was pitched too high. The Revised Estimate also proved higher than the actuals as the anticipated receipts from the use of the telegraph in connection with Military expeditions were not fully re .ised, and the net payments to other Telegraph Administrations were greater than was anticipated.

Indo-European Telegraph.

91. Compared with those of the previous year, the actuals of 1890-91 shewed an increase of 9,4, being the net result of an increase of 11,3 under India and of a falling off of 1,9 under England. The increase in India was due to larger payments made by other Telegraph Administrations on account of message revenue and to an increase in the miscellaneous revenue, mainly due to the sale proceeds of some telegraph buildings in Teheran and to the earnings of the telegraph ship "Patrick Stewart." The deficiency of 1,3 from the Budget Estimate was due principally to larger payments in England on account of the common purse arrangement, which are deducted from revenue, while the excess over the Revised Estimate is attributed chiefly to an unexpected increase of receipts in India during the last three months of the year.

92. Owing to the large speculation in silver engendered by the prospect of legislation in the United States, the net imports of silver in India in 1890-91 were unusually large, and as the greater portion of the silver imported was tendered at the mints for coinage, the receipts from seignorage duty also were exceptionally high. The importation of silver and the silver coinage at the mints in recent years have been as follows :—

93. The decrease in the Gain on Copper Coinage was due partly to a rise in the price of copper and partly to a decrease in the amount of copper coins passed into circulation. The increase under Other Receipts in India was partly the result of the larger silver coinage mentioned above and partly of more work done for the Governments of Ceylon and the Straits Settlements and for the Imperial British East Africa Company. The decrease in Bombay was mainly due to a change in the system of adjusting the recoveries from drosses which were formerly credited as revenue, but from 1890-91 have been adjusted by deduction from the expenditure.

94. The differences under Chief Office are small and do not require any special notice. Under Presidency and District Offices the Budget provided for a large increase over the previous year to meet the increases in the establishment and other charges required for the normal expansion of the Department, but nearly half the increased provision was not actually required, the largest savings having occurred in the grant for revision of establishment at the disposal of the Director General and in that for miscellaneous contingencies under which a large increase was provided, owing to the extension of the Railway Mail Service. There was an increase, however, compared with the actuals of the previous year. The saving under Road Establishment and Contingencies compared with the Budget and with the actuals of the previous year resulted from the abolition of some runners' lines, and the transfer from this head of certain recurring contingent charges which were formerly shown under it. The Budget estimate of Payments to State Railways was too low. Instead of there being a decrease in the payments compared with the previous year, as expected in the Budget, there was a large increase on account of larger payments for special train hire and additional train service, owing to the expansion of the Railway Mail Service, as Railway lines are opened for traffic, and also on account of heavy charges during the year for converting Railway carriages into Post Office vans and for repair and maintenance of old vans. The Budget estimates of Bullock Train Establishments and Mail Cart Charges were framed low in the expectation that the charges would be reduced on the opening of the Delhi-Umballa-Kalka Railway in the rainy season of 1890, as mentioned under receipts, but, as the Railway was not opened till after the beginning of 1891, the actual expenditure considerably exceeded the Budget estimate; the excess was, however, more than counterbalanced by increases in the corresponding receipts. The small excess under Subsidies and Steamer Service was due to an increased payment to the Bengal Central Flotilla Company, and an arrear payment on account of the steamer service in Assam partly counterbalanced by a reduction in the payments for the service in Bengal. The saving under Other Charges compared with the Budget was due to smaller charges for boat establishments and to the non-payment during the year of the charges for the conveyance of the China and Straits Settlements mails. Also the amount due for 1889-90 was not paid in that year but in 1890-91.

95. The head Miscellaneous comprises printing establishment and contingencies, charges for construction and repair of Post Offices executed under departmental management, loss on Foreign and Colonial money order transactions, compensation for loss of insured parcels, and other similar items. In 1890-91 the loss on the money order remittances exceeded the Budget by 3,3, and there were minor excesses under other heads also, but they were nearly counterbalanced by the saving under printing charges, which were less than the estimate by 5.3, owing mainly to a large quantity of the work having been done through the Superintendent Government Printing. In the previous year the loss on money orders and the printing charges were larger, and there was a special payment of 1,0 on account of damages sustained by a lady through the negligence of a tonga driver.

96. Under District Post Charges the Bengal Budget was placed too high, while the expenditure in Madras was reduced by the transfer of some District Post Establishments to Imperial.

97. In England the payments to the English Post Office were larger, owing to the special arrangement mentioned under receipts, while the demands for stores were smaller than anticipated.

Indian Telegraph.

98. The actuals of 1890-91 exceeded those of the previous year by 40.1, the increase being due partly to the expansion of the operations of the Department necessitating larger establishments, more renewals, and the maintenance of additional offices, partly to a larger outlay on the construction of new departmental lines and partly to more stores having been indented for from England for the construction of new lines of telegraph; but though more stores were indented for than in the previous year, the indents did not reach the proportions estimated for in the Budget, as they were curtailed to provide for cash outlay in India; the curtailment was however larger than need be, and a considerable lapse occurred under England, on the Budget; which was not fully provided for in the Revised Estimate.

Indo-European Telegraph.

99. The lapse on the Budget Estimate was due chiefly to the issue of more stores for cable repairs than was anticipated, resulting in a larger credit under the suspense heads.

Exchange.

100. The differences under this head were due chiefly to the variations in the expenditure in England and in the rates of exchange.

101. The unusually high silver coinage in Calcutta enhanced the Establishment Charges there, but reduced the Loss on Coinage by restricting the recoinage of uncurrent coins. The charges on this account in Bombay were reduced by the per contra deduction mentioned under receipts. The increase in Other Charges and in those of England was the result of larger purchases of stores owing to the heavy coinage operations in both the Mints.

103. In India the realisations from the sale of estates under the Administrator General lapsing to Government were less than anticipated, and in Bengal there was a special receipt of 1,2 on account of an escheated estate. The variations in the other provinces under Sale-proceeds of Unclaimed and Escheated Property do not call for any special remarks. Under Court Fees realised in Cash, Bengal included a special credit of 5,8 realised under the order of the Board of Revenue, while high receipts on account of Ameen's Fees raised the actuals in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh. The receipts under General Fees, Fines and Forfeitures, consisting chiefly of magisterial fines, fluctuate to some extent, from year to year; and the differences do not call for any special remarks save that the decrease in Burma is attributed to the quieting down of the country, which also accounts for the falling off under Upper Burma Receipts. The low receipts from Pleadership Examination Fees account for the falling off under Other Receipts in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, while in the Punjab the Budget was fixed too low.

104. The decrease under Sale-proceeds of Jail Manufactures in the Central Provinces was due to the abolition of the system under which Inter-departmental adjustments were permitted for the value of articles supplied by the manufacturing department of a jail for consumption in the same or in another jail and to a smaller demand for tents manufactured at the Jubbulpore School of Industry. In Bengal the supplies to the Police and other departments fell off considerably during the year. The Revised anticipated that the deficiency would be more than made good by the supply of castor oil to the Eastern Bengal Railway to the extent of 18,0, but the actual supplies amounted to 10,1 only. The decline in the Punjab is ascribed to woollen and cotton fabrics having yielded less than was expected. In Madras the receipts of 1889-90 were unusually low owing to an outbreak of cholera in two of the largest manufacturing jails in the Presidency having reduced the outturn of work. In 1890-91 there was a considerable improvement in the receipts which was only partially provided for in the Budget.

106. The decrease under Police supplied to Public Departments, etc, in Burma was due to the remission of the Punitive Police Tax in some districts, and to no fresh Punitive Police having been required, as the country is gradually becoming peaceful. The improvement in Bombay was due to exceptionally large recoveries in connection with some special Punitive Posts, to the Aden Port Trust contribution towards the Harbour Police and to larger recoveries on account of Excise Police. The large increase under Presidency Police in Bengal was due to the final credit to Government of recoveries hitherto held under deposit for Police supplied to private parties. In Bombay the Revised provided for the realisation of the contribution towards the Harbour Police and of larger recoveries in connection with private watchmen, but the Harbour Police contribution was not recovered during the year. The larger receipts under Fees, Fines, etc., were obtained generally from Cattle Pounds and in Bombay from Steam Boiler Inspection Fees also. The heavy decline under Other Receipts in Bengal was due chiefly to smaller recoveries on account of the village Police. In Bombay there was a recovery of an arrear contribution of 5, and the credits on account of ordnance stores returned to the Military Department were also higher. The decrease under Upper Burma Receipts was due to smaller recoveries on account of Cantonment Police Charges, to remission of the Punitive Tax in some Districts, and to a smaller number of Punitive Police having been entertained than was anticipated.

107 The Pilotage Receipts depend on the tonnage of ships visiting the port and are therefore liable to considerable fluctuations. The receipts were specially low in 1889-90. The increase under Dockyard Services, etc., was due to larger outturn of work for other departments and private individuals and to larger supplies made to H. M.'s vessels on the Indian station. The condemnation and sale of a larger quantity of stores belonging to the Imperial Marine augmented the receipts under Sale-proceeds of Vessels and Stores. The increase under Registration and Other Fees in Bengal was due to the inclusion for the first time of receipts from Marine Survey Fees. The increase under Coast Light Dues was due to a larger number of vessels having visited the Rangoon Port. The Other Receipts are liable to considerable fluctuations, and there is nothing special to note in regard to them except that there was an exceptional receipt of 9 in Burma for coal taken over by the Arakan Flotilla Company of Akyab, and that a contribution by the Rangoon Port Trust towards the pay of the Port Officer was realised from 1st October 1888. The Upper Burma Marine was transferred to the control of the Civil Department from 1889-90; but there were no receipts in that year and none were estimated for in the Budget.

108. The Bengal estimate of the receipts from Fees and Fines was framed too low. The increase in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and Madras resulted from enhanced rates of fees and from an increase in the number of students, while a reduction in the rates of fees in the Deccan College diminished the receipts in Bombay. The actuals under Contributions include in the Central Provinces arrear collections of 6, and in Madras a special receipt of 6 on account of the Jubilee Museum and Library Fund in the Madura District. The fluctuations under Other Receipts occurred mainly in the sale-proceeds of books which were over-estimated in Bombay. In Burma the budget was framed too high, but the receipts also fell off owing to the sale of books through the Mission Press being stopped.

109. The only noticeable points under this head are the following. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh the Budget provided for contributions from Towns and Local bodies for the pay of vaccinators employed in towns, but as the question of the status of these officers was not settled by the Local Government, no contributions were recovered during the year. The Madras actuals under other receipts included 5 on account of the sale-proceeds of a Madras Municipal Debenture held on account of a dispensary. In Bombay some arrear contributions for the previous year were realised in 1890-91, but the Port Trust contribution for the General Hospital for the year was not realised.

110. The large receipts in England include £31,000 for the sale-proceeds of the Royal India Lunatic Asylum Estate at Ealing.

111. The India Accounts 1889-90 included under Public Exhibitions and Fairs a special credit of 3,4, being the sale-proceeds of certain exhibits sent to the London and Colonial Exhibition of 1886. The accounts of 1890-91 include a special item of 3 for sale to a Native State of a Norfolk trotter stallion for stud purposes. The increase in the actuals of 1890-91 under other receipts in Bengal is due to a credit in re-adjustment of charges paid to owners of exhibits of the late Indo-Colonial Exhibitions which were written back in 1890-91 to debit of India. In the Punjab the transfer of the proceeds of road-side trees to Civil Works accounts for the decrease in the receipts from Botanical and other Public Gardens ; while the falling off under Public Exhibitions and Fairs is owing to the Bilotch fair in the Jhind territory having been held much about the same time as the autumn fair in the Rohtak District where the receipts generally accrue. The very small demand for Madras quinine accounts for the low receipt under Cinchona Plantation in 1889-90; the demand, however, increased, and the actuals of 1890-91 would have come up to the estimates if all the indents had been paid during the year. The improvement under Labour and Emigration is due to the registration in Ganjam of coolies for Assam. In Bombay certain local receipts which used to be credited under Botanical and other Public Gardens are now shown under experimental cultivation. In 1889-90 there was a special receipt of 1,1 under Exhibitions and Fairs, representing the balance of the sale-proceeds of exhibits contributed to the late London and Colonial Exhibitions.

113. The fluctuations in the total expenditure under this head have resulted mainly from the fluctuations in the rate of Exchange.

114. Under Staff and Household, there was a saving of 4,3 in India, due to smaller charges for telegrams from the Private Secretary, and the Bombay Budget was an over-estimate. The only noticeable fact under Executive Council is the increase of 7 in Madras over the Budget, caused by the payment in India to a Member of Council of his leave allowances for six months. Under Legislative Council the Budget in India provided 2,0 on account of the travelling allowances of non-official members, but 7 only was drawn during the year. The usual details of the Indian Secretariat charges are given below. The excess charge in the Revenue and Agriculture Department was mainly due to the abandonment of the plan of leaving a portion of the Department at Simla for the winter, and the large saving in the Foreign Department was due to an over-estimate of telegram charges.

The excess over the Budget in the Secretariat charges in Madras was due partly to the adjustment under this head of the pay of the Under-Secretary in the Public Department, who was on deputation as Superintendent of Census, as well as that of his locum tenens, and partly to contingent expenses having been under-estimated. Large advances for tour expenses drawn by the Military Secretary to the Viceroy towards the close of the year enhanced the Tour charges in India ; the excess under the head in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh was due partly to the lapse on the contract grant of the Lieutenant Governor for the previous year having been as a special case regranted in the current year, and partly to special expenditure incurred in connection with the visit of H. R. H. Prince Albert Victor and the Viceregal Durbar held at Agra for which an additional grant was sanctioned after the Budget Estimate was framed.

115. The increase under Board of Revenue, etc., in the North-Western Provinces was due to the appointment of a Joint Secretary to the Board in place of an Assistant Secretary. The increase in Bengal under Commissioners was due to the appointment of an additional officer in the Patna Division, and in Bombay to the payments of privilege leave and acting allowances. It was explained in last year's report that the head Account Offices includes under India the office of the Accountant General, Public Works Department, and that a detailed comparison for each account office would be misleading. The total charges for all the Account and Currency Offices may be compared with the estimates as follows :—

| | | Civil Account and Currency Offices. | Office of A. P. W. D. | TOTAL. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Accounts . | 1889-90 . . . . . . | 222,0 | 23,1 | 245,1 |
| Budget . | 1890-91 | 226,6 | 24,7 | 251,3 |
| Revised . | 1890-91 . . . . . . | 221,5 | 21,3 | 242,8 |
| Accounts . | 1890-91 | 221,5 | 21,3 | 242,8 |

The expenditure of the Civil Account and Currency Offices for the two years agreed closely, but the Budget was too high, a large number of officers having been absent in both years. The Budget Estimate of the Office of the Accountant General, Public Works Department, was also high, and the appointment of the Inspector of Public Works Accounts was vacant during the year.

116. The excess under General Establishment of Local Fund Offices in Bengal was due to increased charges for establishments of District Funds, and for travelling allowances of non-official members of District Boards, and in Madras to the establishment of additional Panchayets and Unions. The abolition of the Hlutdaw diminished the expenditure in Upper Burma. The head Other charges, etc., shows an excess over the Budget in the Punjab, owing to the furlough allowance of the permanent incumbent of the Office of Inspector General of Stamps, Excise and Registration having been drawn in this country.

117. In England the increase over the Budget was due partly to the passage and outfit allowance of the Governor of Madras, partly to payments to the Bank of England for services in connection with the conversion of India 4½ per cent Rupee Loans, and partly to the supply of Currency Notes having been larger than was anticipated.

118. The expenditure followed pretty closely the Budget Estimate, but largely exceeded that of the previous year, owing partly to the absence of a smaller number of officers on leave out of India and partly to the normal increase in litigation having increased the charges of the Courts of Justice.

119. The increase under High Courts, etc., in the Central Provinces was caused by the privilege leave allowances of the Judicial Commissioner in Bengal by the absence on leave of fewer officers, and in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh by the continued appointment of the Additional Judicial Commissioner for the whole year, instead of for six months, as provided for in the original estimate. The Punjab actuals of 1889-90 included the salary of a sixth Judge for a part of the year. The decrease in Madras occurred in the printing and translation charges which were considerably below both the actuals of 1889-90 and the Budget In Bombay there was a special payment of 5 on account of the arrears of pay of a deceased Judge and the charges for the Sheriff were under-estimated, while in the previous year there was a temporary vacancy on the Bench owing to the death of a puisne Judge. Under Law Officers the expenditure in Assam was low, as no important suits were instituted by or against Government during the year, while the trial of several dacoity cases in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and riot cases in Madras increased the expenditure in those Provinces. In the Punjab the revision of the Department provided for in the Budget was effected late in the year, and the whole grant was therefore not required. The savings under Civil and Sessions Courts in Burma were due to the appointment of an Additional Sessions Judge having been vacant for half the year, and to a Civil Judge having drawn his pay for three months of the year in 1891-92. In Bengal the appointment of additional Subordinate Judges and Munsiffs raised the expenditure of the year, but not to the extent anticipated in the Budget. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and Madras the Budget Estimates were too low, sufficient allowance not having been made for additional officers required during the year in the former and for the process-serving charges in the latter. The savings in the Punjab resulted partly from larger absences on leave and partly from the Process Serving Establishments having been remodelled at a later date than was expected. The savings on the Budget in Bombay occurred chiefly in salaries, the charges under which were abnormally low in the previous year owing to the absence on leave of an unusually large number of officers.

120. The appointment of an Additional Judge in the Presidency Small Cause Courts, Calcutta, accounts for the increase under Courts of Small Causes in Bengal. The smaller expenditure of the previous year was due to the absence of one of the Judges on leave out of India. Under Criminal Courts the Budget in the Central Provinces was an over-estimate, and the pay of the Cantonment Magistrate, Kamptee, was reduced during the year. The Burma Budget also was too high, but a portion of the excess went to meet the leave allowances of officers drawn in India owing to the market rate of exchange having been more favourable than the official rate. The saving on the Budget in Assam was chiefly due to the pay of a Deputy Commissioner deputed on special duty in the Lushai Hills having been debited to Political. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and the Punjab a much larger number of officers was present on duty in 1890-91 than in the previous year. In Madras the savings on the Budget were due to the causes mentioned under Charges of District Administration under Land Revenue. The transfer of a moiety of the salary of the Deputy Commissioner, Thar and Parker, to this head from "Political" accounts for the increase in Bombay. The absence of the Chief Presidency Magistrate on leave out of India diminished the charges under Other Courts of Justice in Bengal The Refunds of the value of escheated property in India in 1889-90 were exceptionally large. In Bengal the Budget under this head provided for rewards for the prevention and detection of offences against the Stamp and Excise Laws, but in the accounts they have been charged to Stamps and Excise. The details of the Upper Burma charges are as follows:—

| 1889-90. Accounts. | | 1890-91. Budget. | 1890-91. Revised. | 1890-91. Accounts. |
| ... | Judicial Commissioner | 5,9 | 3,1 | 3,1 |

| 3,7 | Refunds | 3,2 | 4,0 | 4,2 |
| 71,1 | | 84,0 | 77,9 | 76,9 |

The Judicial Commissioner and his establishment were appointed in July instead of in April as expected, and a smaller salary was sanctioned for his Registrar. The Budget under Criminal Courts was an over-estimate.

121. In England the demand for stores was smaller than was anticipated.

122. The variations under Jail Manufactures occurred chiefly in the Purchase of Raw Materials, which is the main item of expenditure under the head, and, being largely dependent on the demand for the articles manufactured, cannot be very accurately estimated. The only point worth special mention is that a special expenditure of 19,0 was incurred in Bengal for the purchase of castor seeds for the supply of castor oil to the Eastern Bengal State Railway noticed under receipts. In the North-Western Provinces also larger purchases of raw materials were made, but the excess charge is to some extent covered by larger receipts under the corresponding head. Under Other Jail Charges there was an increase compared with the Budget only in Assam and the North-Western Provinces, due in the former to the extra cost involved in transferring and maintaining prisoners at a temporary Jail in the Northern Lushai country to provide labour for the construction of roads, and in the latter to the high price of food grains, to increase of Jail population, and to new charges for two additional reformatories. In all the other provinces there were savings on the Budget, which was framed very high in Burma and the Punjab. The savings in the Convict Charges at Port Blair and Nicobars occurred mainly in the charges for Commissariat and Marine supplies, and clothing and passage money for convicts. The Upper Burma charges were also over-estimated; and there were savings owing to the prisoners having been employed more on extra mural labour, and to the special commission not having been entertained for the period provided in the Budget.

123. Under Presidency Police in Bombay the gross contribution of the Bombay Municipality was deducted from the expenditure instead of the net contribution after allowing for the Government contribution of 1,0 to the Municipality for the Victoria and Albert Museum and the maintenance of the Queen's Statue, which has now been adjusted separately under the proper head of account (see para. 138). Under Superintendence the decrease in the Central Provinces was due to a temporary change in the personnel of the Inspector General and his Personal Assistant. In Burma the actuals include the pay of three Personal Assistants to the Inspector General and Deputy Inspector General, which was provided for in the Budget under District Executive Force, and of two special assistants for the Deputy Inspector General of Civil Police sanctioned after the Budget was framed. Absences on privilege leave account for the excesses in Bengal, North-Western Provinces and Oudh and Bombay In Bengal the provision for the salary of the Personal Assistant to the Inspector General was also insufficient. Under District Executive Force there was a large decrease in India in the charges for dearness of provisions, but the saving was more than counterbalanced by the amalgamation of the Sind-Pishin Railway Police with the District Executive Force, which led to a saving in the Railway Police charges. The Budget in the Central Provinces and Assam was framed too high. There was a large decrease in Burma due to the adjustment of the pay of the three Personal Assistants under Superintendence, as mentioned above, to the Police Force having been below the sanctioned strength, to the disbandment of the Punitive Police in two or three districts, to the sum of 20,0 provided for the training of the Lower Burma Civil Police not having been required, as the introduction of the scheme was postponed till the next year, and to the transfer of the charges for Petty Construction and Repairs, amounting to about 7,7, to the Public Works Department. In Bengal sufficient provision was not made for clothing charges; and in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh some special circumstances caused a high rate of expenditure, the principal being the rewards paid in connection with some important dacoity cases and the travelling allowances of the Police Force sent to Agra during the visit of his Excellency the Viceroy. In the Punjab the estimates provided 6,0 for a Police Reserve and 5,0 for rearming the Police, but neither of them was required; there was also an over-estimate in the ordinary charges, chiefly under "Salaries." In Bombay the provision of 7,5 made for improvement of the pay of establishments was not utilised, and there was a saving of 6,1 under "Arms, Accoutrements and Ammunition," but a part of these savings was counterbalanced by an extra expenditure of 2,4 incurred under Punitive Police owing to the establishment of special punitive posts. Under Railway Police the saving in India has been explained above. In Bengal it was caused by the recovery of a portion of the charges for the Tirhoot State Railway Police from the Bengal North-Western Railway Company, which has undertaken the working of that Railway. In Burma a separate Railway Police was organized in 1890-91. The recovery in 1890 91 of the East Indian Railway Company's share of the charges for 1889-90 accounts for the decrease in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh. In Burma the full sanctioned scale of Village Police was not entertained during the year, and reductions were also made in consequence of the introduction of the Village Police Act in some districts. In Bengal the Budget was low, but the increase in expenditure was counterbalanced by increased revenue. The village watch system was extended to some districts in Oudh, but sufficient provision for this was made in the Budget. In Bombay there was a saving in the cash allowances to village watchmen which are very irregularly drawn, and in the amount adjusted on account of grants in lands and villages to heads of Village Police. There were large variations under Special Police in all the provinces except North-Western Provinces and Oudh and Madras. In India the increase was due to the organisation of the Zhob District Police, while the saving in the Central Provinces resulted from the abolition of the Special Police entertained for the prevention of dacoities. The saving in Burma was due chiefly to the deputation of some men to Upper Burma and to the force having been below the sanctioned strength. The large increases in Assam and Bengal were chiefly caused by the charges connected with the administration of the Northern and Southern Lushai Hills districts. In the Punjab a revision of the Kohat Border Militia led to an increase in the charges as compared with the previous year, but the whole amount provided in the Budget for this purpose was not required, as the revision was made later than was expected. The saving in Bombay occurred chiefly in the Mahikantha Police charges owing to a special provision of 1,1, for arms and accoutrements not having been utilised. The only remark called for under Cattle Pounds is that the Budget in Bengal was framed too low. The increase under Other Charges in Burma and Bengal resulted from refunds of Punitive Police Tax and Additional Constables' Fund respectively. In Madras there was a decrease compared with the previous year, due to the transfer of the guarding of the Pondicherry and Karikal Frontiers to the Salt and Abkari Department.

124. The details of the Upper Burma charges are as follows:—

| 1889-90. Accounts. | | 1890-91. Budget. | Revised. | Accounts. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 195,7 | District Executive Force | 190,2 | 187,0 | 183,2 |
| 655,2 | Special Police | 632,1 | 572,4 | 537,6 |
| 10,1 | Municipal and Cantonment Police | 14,2 | 12,7 | 10,2 |
| ... | Railway Police | 1,4 | 1,2 | 1,0 |
| 7 | Other Charges | 4 | 4,2 | 3,8 |
| 861,7 | TOTAL | 838 3 | 777,5 | 735,8 |

The decrease under District Executive Force was due to the Force having been below the sanctioned strength, chiefly because of the difficulty in obtaining recruits, to reductions in the Police for the Ruby Mines Company, to the reduction and subsequent disbandment of the Punitive Police Force and to smaller expenditure on clothing and rewards. The decrease under Special Police was chiefly due to the transfer of the Shan and Chin levies and the Kubo Valley and Myingyan battalions to the Military Department, to the amalgamation of nine battalions into four, and to some of the other battalions having been below the sanctioned strength. A part of these savings was, however, counterbalanced by increased charges on account of travelling allowances to and from India and by the charges connected with two punitive expeditions.

Under Municipal and Cantonment Police provision was made for Inspectors who were not, however, entertained, and the Budget was otherwise too high. The excess under other charges is due to the refund of excess Punitive Police Tax collected in earlier years.

125. The expenditure in 1889 90 included 98,9 for the purchase of two steamers. The Budget for 1890-91 provided for a considerable increase over the normal expenditure owing to additional establishments expected to be required for the new defence vessels and some special items of expenditure, but the greater portion of the extra provision was not actually required, partly owing to the non-arrival of some of the defence vessels, partly to the postponement of some of the special works, and partly owing to the requirements having been over-estimated.

126 The absence of the Examiner of Marine Accounts on furlough and vacancies in office establishments account for the savings under General Supervision and Accounts. The excess over Budget under Marine Survey and Establishments in Bengal was due to the inclusion for the first time of the charges for the survey of steam vessels in Calcutta. The decrease under Dockyards was due to the employment of less hired labour, to the postponement of the erection of electric-light apparatus in the Bombay Dockyard, to the absence of officers on leave and to vacancies in establishments. The expenditure under Salaries of Officers and men afloat in India fell considerably short of the Budget, owing to a smaller number of officers having been present on duty, to the non-arrival of the new gun-boats, and to the employment of smaller establishments in the turret ships and torpedo boats than were anticipated. In Burma the excess over the Budget was due to provision not having been made for the Chief Commissioner's barge, and to insufficient provision for a launch kept up in the Mergui District. In Assam the excess arose from the post of Commander of the Koladyne being held by a higher paid official. In Bengal there was higher expenditure owing to the charges for the new steamer Guide purchased in 1889-90. Smaller purchases of country coal, etc., and the non-arrival of the gun boats just mentioned led to lower expenditure under Marine Stores, etc., in India, while in Burma larger purchases of coal were made, and in Bengal there was larger expenditure in connection with repairs to Pilot vessels. The charges under Pilotage, Pilot Establishment and Vessels vary with the corresponding receipts, and like them exceeded the actuals of the previous year, though not to the extent anticipated in the Budget. The "Other charges" in 1889 90 included in India 64,3 paid for the Mayo, and in Bengal 34,6 for the purchase of the steamer Guide. In 1890-91 the expenditure in India fell short of the Budget, owing to smaller charges for repairs to Her Majesty's ships in the Persian Gulf and to Indian Government ships at out-stations. The Budget in Assam provided 15,2 for a new steamer, but only 83 was paid, as the steamer was not completed during the year. In Bengal larger grants had to be made to some Port Funds to cover their deficits, and the charges for State yacht establishments and subsidies to steam boat companies were also higher. In Madras a special grant was made for barges required for the Coconada Port, while in the previous year the grants to cover deficits in Port Funds were specially large. The deduction from the total expenditure represents the cost of supplies and services rendered by the Marine to the Military Department. The actual supplies far exceeded the Budget and the actuals of the previous year.

127. The increase in the expenditure in England was due mainly to the demand for stores from Bengal having been much larger than anticipated.

128. The charges under this head continue to increase in most provinces with the spread of education, the increase in 1890-91 having been largest in Madras, Bombay, and Burma. The Budget Estimate of the last two provinces provided for a still larger increase, but a portion of the saving was counter-balanced by an excess in Madras.

129. In India there was a total saving of 2,3 composed of several items, of which the largest was a saving of 1,2 under "Inspection" due to the transfer to Madras of the salary and establishment charges of the Inspector of Schools in Coorg, the Coorg share being recovered interprovincially. In the Central Provinces the charges fell short of the Budget by 3,5, the decrease being distributed chiefly over four heads. The savings under Government Schools and Scholarships resulted from the estimates having been placed too high; the decrease under Inspection was due to the abolition of an Inspectorship on Rs. 750—1,000 and the substitution of one on Rs. 500; and that under other charges to a smaller expenditure on purchase of books for the Government Book Depôt at Nagpur, in consequence of a large stock at the beginning of the year, the purchases of the previous year having been heavy. In Burma a large increase is provided every year under grants-in-aid, but the full amount is never utilised; in 1890-91 the saving on the Budget under this head amounted to 5,6. The decreases in Assam were chiefly in the expenditure by Local Boards, the Provincial share of the savings being 3 only. In Bengal no estimates for the local portion of the expenditure were obtained from the District Boards, and a consolidated amount was shown under the head "Grants-in-aid, etc.," but in the accounts the charges have been distributed over the heads concerned. The following statement separates the Provincial and Local figure under the several heads, which include both Provinvcial and Local expenditure, and shows that there were savings of 5 and 2,1 in the Provincial and Local portion of the charges.

Under Inspection (Provincial) the Budget anticipated larger savings than were actually obtained from the salaries of officers. Under Inspection (Local) the actuals exceeded both the Revised and the accounts of 1889-90, partly in consequence of the adjustment under this head of charges on account of the Subordinate Inspecting Agencies formerly included under other heads, and partly from the payment of arrear contributions for pensions of the employés of District Boards. The increase in the Provincial charges for grants in-aid, as compared with the actuals of the previous year, was due to larger payments on account of European Girls' Schools and grants to Primary Schools, but the full amount of the Budget grant was not utilised. The charges under Direction and Government Colleges are wholly Provincial, and the Budget estimate of the latter was placed too low.

130. The principal variations in the North-Western Provinces are (1) a decrease of 1,8 under Inspection, due to savings under Salaries and low expenditure under travelling allowances; (2) an increase of 3,1, under Government Schools, the estimate of which was framed too low, and (3) a decrease of 2,1 under Grants-in-aid and Payments by results, the Budget under which provided as usual for a margin. In the Punjab the increase under the head Inspection, as compared with 1889-90, was caused partly by increments earned and partly by the return to duty of officers who were on furlough, provision for which was made in the Budget. The charges for Government schools, chiefly those maintained by Local Boards, also increased during the year, but not to the extent anticipated in the Budget. The Budget for Scholarships and other charges was framed too high. In Madras the excess under Inspection was caused by the debit of the full salary of the Inspector of Schools, South Canara Division, instead of a part only as formerly, and by the grant of increased allowances to certain Sub-Assistant Inspectors of Schools. By far the largest excesses occurred under "Government Schools" and "Grants-in-aid and Payments by results," owing chiefly to the opening of new schools, the increase under the latter head having been fully provided for in the Budget. An addition of 8,0 to the grant under Government Schools was sanctioned by the Government of India, but the expenditure far exceeded even the increased amount. In Bombay the difference in the actuals of the two years under Colleges was wholly under Salaries, which were exceptionally low in 1889-90, owing to numerous changes in that year in the professional staff of the Elphinstone College and the appointment of acting officers on smaller pay. The large saving on the Budget under Government Schools was due chiefly to only a small portion of the special provision of 10,0 for the improvement and extension of primary schools having been utilised; considerable savings also accrued in the payments to Municipal schools, owing to the closure of some schools, and under "School of Art" owing to some special grants for the workshops not having been utilised. The Budget under Grants-in-aid was also placed too high. The large falling off under other charges, compared with the Budget and the Actuals of the previous year, was due chiefly to smaller purchases of books for the Government Book Depôt, and partly to savings under translators and grants for the encouragement of literature.

131. The variations in the charges in England are unimportant.

132. Fluctuations constantly occur under this head owing to changes in the personnel of Chaplains which involve the substitution of junior for senior Chaplains, or vice versâ. The only points requiring special notice are mentioned below.

133. The savings in India and part of the excess in Madras under Church of England resulted from the transfer to the Madras books of the salary of the Chaplain of Coorg, whose head-quarters were transferred to Mysore, while in Bombay there were special payments of 9 to officers of other presidencies passing through the Presidency Town. In Madras under Church of Scotland the Budget provided for three Chaplains, but the third was not entertained; and the transfer of the allowance to the Roman Catholic Bishop from the Military Department enhanced the Allowances to other clergymen.

134. As explained in previous reports the fluctuations under Medical Establishment generally arise from the fact that the charges chiefly depend upon the number and standing of the Medical Officers actually present on duty in the Civil Department and are affected by the number of officers absent on leave out of India or employed on Military duty. The following are the only other special points requiring notice under the head. In the Punjab certain items which have been correctly charged in the accounts to Hospitals and Dispensaries were wrongly entered under this head in the Budget by the District Boards. In Bengal the pay of Civil Hospital Assistants in subdivisions was transferred to this head from Government Hospitals and Dispensaries, and the value of Medical Stores supplied to District Medical Officers for the Police and Jail Departments was charged under this head, though no provision was made for this in the Budget. In Bombay the payments to officers of other provinces passing through the Presidency town were larger. Under Vaccine Establishment, etc., the excess in Bengal was due to the charges for the Sanitary Board, which were not provided for in the Budget, and that in Madras was due to insufficient provision having been made for the Establishment and Contingent charges of the newly created office of Sanitary Engineer and to no provision having been made for the charges for the experiments made for the manufacture and preservation of animal lymph for vaccination purposes. The noticeable variations under Medical Colleges and Schools are the savings on the Budget in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and Bombay, due, in the former, to the transfer of charges for Military Medical pupils to the Military Department and in the latter to savings from absences on leave. The increase in the latter, as compared with the previous year, was due to the creation of a new Professorship, the cost of which is met by a contribution from the Gaekwar of Baroda, which is brought to account under the receipt head. The savings under Hospitals and Dispensaries in Burma were due to the employment of a smaller number of Hospital Assistants than expected and to savings in salaries owing to the employment of Local Assistant Surgeons in place of Regular Assistant Surgeons. In Bengal and Madras the excess was in local expenditure due in the former to increased charges for medicines, stores, etc , and in the latter to the establishment of new Hospitals and Dispensaries. The increase in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh was due to a special grant of 3 for the purchase of furniture for the Dufferin Hospital at Allahabad, to the promotion of some Assistant Surgeons to the next higher grade, and to the opening of a new Dispensary in Fyzabad. In Bombay there was a saving of 1,3 under Grants to Hospitals and Dispensaries and of 6 owing to the Pestonjee Eduljee Allbless Hospital not having been ready for occupation as early as was expected. Compared with the previous year there was larger expenditure in 1890-91 in the European General Hospital and in Mofussil Hospitals and Dispensaries. Under Lunatic Asylum the Budget in Bombay was framed too high and there was a saving also on account of the absence on leave of the Superintendent of the Kolaba Lunatic Asylum. The Grants for Medical Purposes in India were provided in the Revised Estimate under Hospitals and Dispensaries. In Burma the actuals of 1890-91 include two years' contribution to the Countess of Dufferin's Fund. The charges in Assam are connected with the Kala-azar and Beri-beri investigation, which was closed in 1890-91. The savings in Bombay under Other Charges resulted from the absence of the Chemical Examiner on two years' furlough.

The Upper Burma Charges for Government Hospitals and Dispensaries were over-estimated in the Budget.

135. Under Political Agents in India the Budget was too high, and the excess over the previous year was partly due to the sumptuary allowance sanctioned for the Agent to the Governor General in Beluchistan. The actuals in Assam include charges for the administration of the Northern Lushai Hills, for which no provision was made in the Budget, while those in the Punjab include the charges of the Gilgit Agency and of the Political Agent with the Afghan refugees in Rawalpindi, which, in the Budget, were shown under the heads "Other Charges" and "Refugees and State Prisoners," respectively. The increase in Madras was caused by privilege leave allowances, and the decrease in Bombay was due to the transfer of the charges of the district of Thar and Parkar to Land Revenue and Law and Justice; there was an excess in the Aden Agency due to privilege leave absences and a rise in the pay of two subordinate appointments, but this was counterbalanced by arrear recoveries on account of the Kathiawar Agency adjusted by deduction from the charges. The increase in India under Charges on the North-Western Frontier was due chiefly to expenditure incurred in connection with the Zhob Levy Corps, for which a special grant was sanctioned during the year. Under Political Subsidies there was an arrear payment in India of 55,0 on account of the subsidy of the Ameer of Afghanistan for 1889-90, but 35,0 of the subsidy for 1890-91 was not paid during the year. In the Punjab provision for Political Subsidies was made in the Budget under Other Charges. The charges for Entertainment of Envoys and Chiefs and for Durbar Presents in India vary considerably from year to year. Under Refugees and State Prisoners there were in 1889-90 special payments in the Punjab of about 9,0 on account of arrear allowances sanctioned by Government for the Afghan refugees, while the transfer of certain charges to the head "Political Agents" mentioned above reduced the expenditure below the Budget figure. In North-Western Provinces and Oudh a portion of the allowances to the Afghan refugees was paid in arrears in 1891-92. The excess in the Upper Burma Charges was due to the expenditure connected with the expedition for exploring the Chinese Frontier and the Kaington Chiengmai Mission, for which there was no provision in the Budget, and also to excess expenditure in connection with the Anglo-Siamese Boundary Commission.

136. In England 7,0 was provided in the Budget for the Mission to the Court of Persia as it was intended to reduce to this amount the payment made to the Imperial Government on that account, but it was subsequently agreed that the payment should be continued at the old rate of £10,000 during 1890-91, pending the consideration of the general question of Consular and Political Agencies in Persia. For Her Majesty's Establishments in China an annual payment of £12,500 has been agreed upon for ten years from 1st April 1890 in lieu of £15,000 paid before.

137. The charges under this head fluctuate more or less from year to year. The large excess over 1889-90 was due to the expenditure incurred for the census. Compared with the Budget there was an excess under Survey of India, which was more than counterbalanced by savings on the estimate of the census and other charges.

138. The excess under Survey of India was due to additional surveys having been undertaken during the year in Burma with the special sanction of the Government of India and to the recoveries effected from Wards' estates on account of surveys executed for them, which are adjusted by deduction from the charges under this head, having fallen short of the amount due by about 10,0. The special charges connected with the compilation of the Dictionary of Economic Products of India augmented the expenditure under Botanical Surveys. Under Geological Survey and Museum there was an extra charge of 7 on account of the personal allowance and special gratuity paid to the Director of the Geological Surveys. The charges for telegrams of the Meteorological Department were under-estimated. The actuals under Archæological Department include 7 for special charges connected with the publication by Dr. Burgess in England of the reports of the Archæological researches in India. The decrease in Burma was due to the appointments of the Government Archæologist and his assistant having been vacant for eleven months of the year. Under Museums there was a special contribution of 2,0 to the Jubilee Institute in the Punjab in 1889-90; and the Bombay actuals for 1890-91 included 8 for the Government contribution for the Victoria and Albert Museum, which has hitherto been adjusted by deduction from the amount due from the Bombay Municipality for its share of the cost of the Presidency Police. The full sanctioned establishment for the Tin mining operations in the Mergui district not having been entertained, the charges under other Scientific Departments fell short of the Budget; while in 1889 90 the cost of this establishment was lower still, as it was employed for a part of the year only. In India the Budget under Experimental cultivation was framed too high. The Central Provinces Budget provided 3 for Agricultural experiments, but less than that was actually spent The decrease in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh was due chiefly to low expenditure on well experiments and workshops, while the increase in Bombay was the result of a change in classification by which certain charges hitherto taken under Botanical and other public gardens have been transferred to experimental cultivation. The saving under Cinchona Plantations in Bengal occurred in Laboratory and Manufacturing charges and purchase of materials. The expenditure connected with the Hurdwar fair enhanced the charges under Public Exhibitions and Fairs in the North-Western Provinces, and the Revised in Bengal provided for a grant for the purchase of selected specimens of Bengal art-ware which was not drawn. Under Botanical and other Public Gardens there were increased charges for garden improvements in Bengal; while the savings in the Punjab were caused by the transfer of expenditure incurred by District Boards on arboriculture to the head Civil Works. Under Other Agricultural Charges, the Budget in Madras included a special grant of 5,0 for agricultural services, but it was not utilised. The Burma Budget also provided for some special charges, which were not incurred. The variations under Other Statistical and the Upper Burma Charges are chiefly connected with the charges for the census, which could not be accurately estimated.

The decrease in the charges in England was due to the demands for stores having been smaller than was anticipated.

139. The most important feature of this group is the large reduction in the receipts under the head Gain by Exchange, which amounted to 78,2 only against 386,8 in the previous year and 443,5 assumed in the Budget. This gain arises mainly in connection with the capital transactions of the subsidised railways and rises and falls with the amount of the transactions and with the difference between the average rate of exchange of the year and the fixed rate at which the transactions are adjusted with their companies under their contracts. In 1890-91 the capital transactions of the companies were comparatively small owing to the completion of the railways, and the difference between the average rate of the year and the contract rates was also small owing to the rise in the rate of exchange. The net gain was thus very small. The other points which require notice are, that the receipts under Stationery and Printing were higher compared with both the actuals of the previous year and the Budget, owing to adjustments on account of work done for the Census, while under Miscellaneous there was a falling off compared with the previous year, chiefly because in that year there were special receipts in Burma of 10,0 on account of a fine levied on a Karenni Chief, and in Bombay of 40,7 on account of the transfer of some lands to the Southern Mahratta Railway, and the repayment by the Bombay Port Trust of a portion of its non-interest-bearing debt. In 1890-91 also there were similar special receipts in Bombay, but they were very much smaller.

140. As explained in previous reports, the Subscriptions to the Military, Military Orphan and Medical Retiring Funds and the Civil Funds are declining with the retirement and death of old subscribers, the Funds being closed to new members. There were special receipts in Bombay of 5 on account of the Bombay Civil Fund and of 6 on account of the Bengal Civil Fund, which account for the increase under that head. Under Contributions for Pensions and Gratuities the excess in India was due to larger recoveries from Berar, and that in Bengal to the recovery of arrear contributions from employés of District Boards, whose services have been declared to qualify for pension. The recovery of 1,5 on account of the contributions of pensionable officers and staff, taken over from the Tirhoot State Railway by the Bengal and North-Western Railway, explains the excess in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, while the excess in the Punjab arose partly from a redistribution of the expenditure connected with the Sirhind Canal, and partly from the realisations from new contributors. The increase in Bombay was caused by the adjustments made in connection with the contributions of old Local Boards' employés, who had hitherto been contributing to the old Local Fund Pension Funds. Under "Other items" the excess in the North-Western Provinces was chiefly due to the adjustment of an erroneous debit under "297 Superannuations."

141. The largest variations occur under Other Press Receipts. In India the Budget was placed too high, while in Bengal no provision was made for the large recoveries on account of Census forms supplied for Bengal itself and other Provinces. The excess in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh arose from the recovery of the cost of printing work executed for the Census, while that in the Punjab is attributed to the Lahore Central Jail Press having undertaken the printing of all Judicial registers. In Burma the cost of forms supplied to Municipalities and Local Funds was formerly shown under this head, but in 1890-91 it was shown under Receipts from Sale of Stationery, a part of the increase under which is also due to the printing work done for the Census. In the Punjab there was a larger demand for stationery by the North-Western Railway owing to the Superintendent of Stationery not having been able to supply in full the indent of the previous year. In Madras sufficient provision was not made for the large supplies to the East Coast Railway. The only noticeable point connected with the Sale of Gazettes and publications is that the subscriptions to the Indian Law Reports realised in Bombay have been taken to this head as in other Provinces, although provision was made for them under Law and Justice.

142. The total gain by exchange fell short of the actuals of the previous year and the Budget estimate by 308,6 and 365,3 respectively. The falling off occurred mainly in connection with the capital transactions of the Bengal-Nagpur and the Indian Midland Railways. These transactions were somewhat smaller than both the actuals of the previous year and the Budget estimate, and the rise in the rate of exchange having considerably reduced the difference between the contract rates for these railways and the average rate of the year, the net gain was considerably smaller. The same causes also reduced the gain from the transactions of the Guaranteed Railways. On the other hand there was a net gain on the advances made in England to the East Indian Railway instead of a loss as in the previous year and as expected in the Budget. The Company is debited with the equivalent of these advances at the average rate of exchange obtained for Secretary of State's bills during the previous half year, and as this average rate for the half year ending with 31st December 1889 and 30th June 1890, at which the transactions of nine months of the year 1890-91 were adjusted, was considerably below the average rate for the year, there was a net gain on these transactions which would have been much larger if the requirements of the Company in England had not been considerably reduced. The higher rate of exchange also reduced the net loss on the miscellaneous remittance transactions.

143. The Gain by Exchange on Local Transactions was over-estimated in the Budget, sufficient allowance not having been made for the fall in the rate for Hali sicca rupees in Hyderabad, Deccan. The variations under Premium on Bills do not call for any special remarks save that the decrease in Bengal is attributed to the restrictions placed on the issue of Remittance Transfer Receipts early in 1890. The head Unclaimed Deposits is liable to considerable fluctuations, and the estimates, as usual, proved low in all the provinces except Bengal, where there was an exceptional falling off in the deposits lapsing to Government. The receipts on account of the survey of tea and arable lands and partition fees credited under Miscellaneous Fees, Fines, etc., also fell off during the year in that province. The Fees for Government Audits realised in India in 1889-90 included some arrears, while the receipts in Bengal in 1890-91 fell short of the estimates and the actuals of the previous year owing to a change of practice by which such fees are now levied annually instead of half-yearly as before. In Bombay a special item of 2 was recovered for the examination of the accounts of the States in Kathiawar under temporary management, which was not provided for in the Budget. Under Contributions the difference in Burma is due to the appointment of a whole-time President of the Rangoon Municipality and the consequent cessation of the contribution paid by the Municipality towards the salary of the Deputy Commissioner, Rangoon Town. The construction of new markets in Burma brought in larger Rents, while in Madras sufficient allowance was not made in the Budget for the receipts from new markets opened in some districts in the previous year, and the extension of the fee system in some others. In Burma a fine of 20,0 was levied on the Kareni Chief Salapew, half of which was realised in 1889-90 and credited under the head Extraordinary Items and the other half was provided for in the Budget, but its realisation was postponed by the Government of India. The receipt under the head in Bengal represents the sale-proceeds of Government Promissory Notes held on behalf of some Nizamut Pensioners for whom cash pensions have been sanctioned in lieu of the interest on the Promissory Notes. In Madras it represents the expenditure incurred in previous years from revenue on earthwork on the Villupuram-Guntakal State Railway, now charged to its capital account by credit under this head. The principal items making up the receipts in Bombay are the capitalised value of assessment of some lands taken up for the Southern Mahratta Railway, and a special refund of 5,0 by the Bombay Trust in part liquidation of its loan not bearing interest. This item was not provided for in the Budget, and a much larger amount was realised on account of it in the previous year. The Other items include in Bombay the revenue of Berbera and Bulhar and of Zaila, in which there was a considerable increase during the year owing to the new Zariba receipts and the more settled condition of the Somali Coast and the interior of the country. The receipts on account of rents from new markets enhanced the receipts in Upper Burma.

144. In England the fines and penalties incurred by contractors in providing stores were larger than anticipated.

145. The expenditure in 1890-91 was less than that of the previous year and the Budget Estimate by 135,8 and 266,9 respectively, the rise in the rate of exchange having contributed 237,4 and 239,8 towards these improvements. There was also a large reduction in the payments of furlough and absentee allowances in England, a number of officers having elected to draw their leave allowances in India owing to the market rate of exchange having for a part of the year been more favourable than the official rate. On the other hand, there were increases under superannuation allowances and pensions, due partly to the normal growth of the retired list, which was partially allowed for in the Budget, and partly to the pensions of the uncovenanted service having been paid at the minimum rate of exchange of 1*s.* 9*d.* under the new orders. Under Stationery and Printing also there was a large increase over the previous year due to the heavy requirements of the Census Department and the growth of public business.

146. The payments on account of Territorial and Political Pensions are decreasing year by year owing to lapses on the deaths of pensioners and the grant of commutations in some provinces. The payments are also largely affected by the irregularity on the part of the pensioners in drawing their pensions, and, as far as individual provinces are concerned, by removal of pensioners from one province to another. In Bengal the Budget was framed too low, and in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh the Maharaja of Benares did not draw 7,5 out of his stipend for 1889-90 in that year, and drew 5,0 of the arrears in 1890-91. The actuals of 1889-90 in Bombay included a large amount on account of the arrears of the pension of one of the daughters of the late Nawab of Surat revived with retrospective effect in that year. The only remarks called for under Charitable Allowances are that a special payment of 1,0 was made in India in connection with the marriage of one of the daughters of the ex-King of Oudh, and one of 9 in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh as a present to Raja Ranbir Singh of Dehra Dun, out of 1,5 sanctioned by the Government of India and provided in the Revised Estimate.

147. The India charges do not call for any remarks. The decrease in the expenditure in England was due to a large number of officers having elected to draw their leave allowances in India in consequence of the market rate of exchange having been for part of the year higher than the official rate. The corresponding payments in India appear under the Departments concerned.

29.—Superannuation Allowances and Pensions—continued.

148. The charges for Superannuation and Retired Allowances continued to show a steady increase, owing generally, as explained in last year's report, to the admissions to the retired list being greater than the lapses. The figures for the last five years were as follows:—

|---|---|
| 1886-87 | 618,1 |
| 1887-88 | 646,9 |
| 1888-89 | 688,6 |
| 1889-90 | 721,8 |
| 1890-91 | 764,2 |

The Compassionate Allowances in Bombay exceeded those of the previous year, owing to the compensations payable to dismissed Mamlatdars in connection with the Crawford case. The Pensions of the Military Funds are gradually decreasing, owing to the closure of the fund to new entrants. The fluctuations under the Civil Fund Pensions are the net result of transfers to England, lapses and new pensions. The Other Charges in Bombay include some special refunds.

149. In England the pensions of the uncovenanted service exceeded the Budget Estimate by 24,4, mainly in consequence of the payments having been made at the minimum rate of exchange of 1*s*. 9*d*. under the new orders. The Civil Service Annuities also exceeded the Budget, but these excesses were partly counterbalanced by savings in other charges.

150. The saving in the grant for Stationery Office at the Presidency occurred chiefly in Bengal, where the Budget appears to have been framed too high. The charges for the Purchase of Stationery increased largely in Bengal, but did not come up to the Budget Estimate, while in Bombay the saving on the Budget was counterbalanced by an increase in England, being due to the Deccan Mills having failed to carry out their contract for certain supplies of paper, which had accordingly to be obtained from England. The large increase compared with the previous year under this head and under Government Presses and Stationery supplied from Central Stores, was due partly to the heavy requirements of the Census Department and partly to the growth of public business. The Budget Estimates under the last two heads in some of the provinces, notably in Bengal, did not make sufficient allowance for these. The large increase under Other Charges in the Punjab was connected with the work undertaken by the Lahore Central Jail Press for the Judicial Department and was counterbalanced by enlarged receipts.

151. The increase in the charges for stores in England has been explained above. The Other Charges represent the cost of stationery, printing and book-binding for the India Office which was less than had been anticipated.

152. Many of the items included under this head are of a fluctuating character and are not therefore susceptible of an accurate forecast. The following special points only require to be noticed. Smaller remittances of specie to and from Calcutta account for the decrease under Remittance Charges both in India and Bengal during the year. The Bengal Budget under Charitable Donations provided 1,7 for the purchase of a new site for the Leper Asylum and 3,0 as donation to the Calcutta Female Nurses' Institution. The first was not required during the year and the latter was only partially utilised. The expenditure on Petty Establishments in 1889-90 was specially high in Madras owing to a large outlay incurred in cleaning wells and tanks in the Ganjam District in connection with the famine and to increased expenditure on markets, choultries and bungalows. The charges for Special Commissions of Enquiry represent mainly in India the charges for the Native Passenger Ships Commission, the Leprosy Commission and the Factory Commission, in Bengal, for the Police and Ghatwali Commissions and in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, for the Police Commission. Under Rents, Rates and Taxes the Bombay Budget provided 10,0 for the amount payable to the Bombay Municipality, pending a settlement of the question as to what is the rateable value of the Government buildings and lands in the city, but as the question was not settled during the year a sum of 5,0 was paid as before. The Upper Burma Charges of 1889-90 included some payments on account of the claims against the late Burmese Government. Under Other Items the Budget Estimate provided reserves of 10,0 in India, 5,0 in the Punjab, and 20,0 in Madras, and neither of the last two were required for expenditure chargeable to this head. In India there was a special expenditure of 15,0 in connection with the visit of His Imperial Highness the Cesarewitch. The Bengal Budget provided 2,5 for subscriptions to periodicals, but the actual charges were adjusted as contingent expenditure of the offices to which they were supplied. The high expenditure of the previous year was due chiefly to the purchase of Koonki elephants in Julpiguri and the capture of wild elephants in the Dooars.

153. In England the saving on the Budget Estimate was in the payment for stores lost in transit to India. The increase over the actuals of the previous year occurred in the allowances of candidates for the Civil Service of India.

154. The total Famine Insurance Grant was retained at the same amount as in 1889-90, namely, 600,0, exclusive of the net charge on the revenues on account of the Protective Railways constructed through the Agency of Companies, namely, the Indian Midland and Bengal-Nagpur Railways. In 1890-91 this charge amounted to 482,4, against 462,0 in the previous year.

155. The following statement shows how the Grant of 600,0 was applied.

| 44,1 | Madras | 5 | 1,2 | 2,5 |
| 68,3 | TOTAL | 10,5 | 8,0 | 5,6 |

156. The expenditure in 1889-90 was on account of the Famine in Behar and Ganjam. The Budget Estimate in Bengal was framed in the anticipation that a portion of the expenditure would be incurred in 1890-91. But as the greater portion of the expenditure actually incurred was on account of Public Works undertaken for the relief of distress, it has been charged as Public Works Expenditure, although in previous years similar expenditure was erroneously classified under this head. The expenditure in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh was on account of the relief operations in Kumaun and Azamgarh. Of the 2,5 spent in Madras 1,1 was on account of irrecoverable advances written off, and the remainder was due partly to special public works and partly to the relief of distress.

| 71,5 | TOTAL | 65,0 | 75,6 | 74,4 |

157. The increase in the outlay in 1890-91 over that of the previous year and the Budget Estimate was due to the more vigorous prosecution of works in connection with the Rushikulya Project in Madras. This increase, however, was to some extent counterbalanced by short outlay on the Betwa and the Swat River Canals which were approaching completion.

159. The construction of the Mayavaram-Mutupet Railway was commenced during the year, no provision having been made in the Budget for it, and a refund was obtained from the Rohilkhand Railway Company of the value of stores belonging to the Lucknow-Sitapur-Seramau Railway made over to the Company, and of the cost of five miles of railway beyond Gola Gokarannath constructed by the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh. These account mainly for the differences between the actuals of the year as compared with those of the previous year and the Budget Estimate. The decrease on the Lucknow-Sitapur-Seramau Railway, as compared with the Revised Estimate, was due to the cost of 20 goods wagons, constructed by the Rohilkhand-Kumaon Railway, not having been adjusted during the year as expected. The lapse on the amount provided in the Revised Estimate for the Mayavaram-Mutupet Railway is ascribed to delay in acquiring land, scarcity of labour, and difficulty in obtaining material.

160. The following is a general statement of the Revenue Account:—

| 1890-91. | State Railways. | Guaranteed Railways. | Subsidized Companies. | Miscellaneous. | TOTAL. |

161. These figures show that the State Railways did better than last year by 596,5, of which about 391,0 was due to a smaller charge for exchange on the interest and annuity payments in England, the rate of exchange having been more favourable than in the previous year, and 167,6 to an increase in the net earnings of the East Indian Railway, owing to a decrease in working expenses. A part of the improvement was also due to an increase in the open mileage The loss under Guaranteed Railways was less than in the previous year by 553,6. This was due partly to reduced charges for exchange on interest paid in England, owing to the more favourable rate of exchange, and partly to an increase in the traffic on the Railways, chiefly on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway.

162. The net loss to Government on the Revenue Account of Railways during the last few years as shown above has been considerably affected by the fluctuations in the rates of Exchange. If the rate had not varied from that of 1886-87 the net loss would have been as shown below:—

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1890-91 . . . | —552,5 | —262,0 | —4,8 | —149,2 | —968,5 |
| 1889-90 . . . | —746,0 | —529,6 | —20,1 | —149,1 | —1,444,8 |
| 1888-89 . . . | —991,1 | —682,1 | +14,7 | —70,6 | —1,729,1 |
| 1887-88 . . . | —1,002,0 | —811,4 | —18,8 | —51,8 | —1,884,0 |
| 1886-87 . . . | —375,1 | —675,6 | —43,6 | —94,4 | —1,188,7 |

The opening of the frontier lines and the commencement of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway increased the net loss considerably in 1887-88, but since then the loss would have steadily decreased year by year, if the rate of exchange had remained constant.

| 4,474,0 | TOTAL | 4,480,3 | 4,370,3 | 4,428,5 |

165. The earnings fell short of the Budget and the Actuals of the previous year by 51,8 and 45,5 respectively, owing mainly to a decline in goods traffic, which arose partly from a poor harvest in Oudh and Behar, and partly from a slackness in the export traffic which prevailed during the greater portion of the year, on account of the violent fluctuations in the rate of exchange. The improvement in the coaching receipts flowed from an unusually large Mela traffic towards the end of the year, which was to a very large extent provided for in the Revised, but a revival in the wheat and seeds traffic, which occurred towards the close of the year, caused a considerable excess over the Revised Estimate of goods receipts. A large increase in the earnings of the Asansol-Goalpara Section of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway held in suspense pending adjustment at the end of the calendar half-year, accounts for the increase in the receipts under Miscellaneous and Suspense.

Eastern Bengal Railway.

166. The increase in the earnings, compared with the Actuals of the previous year and the Budget Estimate, was due to the Ardhodoya Jog bathing festival, to the opening of the Behar Section up to the Kosi river, and of through communication with the Tirhoot State Railway, to improvement in grain, salt, sugar and kerosine-oil traffic, and to carriage of railway materials for renewals and for the Kaita Extension.

| 1,938,2 | TOTAL | 1,925,0 | 1,830,0 | 1,851,1 |

167. A heavy decline in the grain traffic, due to failure of crops, fluctuations in exchange and competition, accounts for the diminished earnings of this line.

| 2,905,4 | TOTAL | 2,700,0 | 2,700,0 | 2,730,8 |

169. The earnings of the year fell short of the actuals of the previous year, chiefly owing to the year 1889-90 having been an exceptionally favourable one, and partly to breaks in the line and to failure of crops, owing to heavy floods in August 1890. The decrease would doubtless have been larger, but for the Kumbh Mela at Hurdwar, which caused a brisk traffic towards the close of the year. The Budget Estimate was framed higher than even the actuals of 1889-90 and accordingly proved too high.

170. The principal items making up the excess of 381,5 over the actuals of the previous year are as follows:—

|---|---|
| Bengal-Nagpur | + 101.2 |
| Wardha Coal | + 8,7 |
| Umaria Colliery | + 7,6 |
| Indian Midland | + 17,1 |
| Southern Mahratta | + 50,0 |
| Mysore | + 21,6 |
| South Indian | + 147,1 |
| Toungoo-Mandalay | + 31,9 |

The increase in the earnings of the Bengal-Nagpur, Indian Midland, Southern Mahratta, and Mysore Railways was principally due to the increased mileage open during 1890-91. The increase in the case of the Wardha Coal Railway was caused by large sales of coal to private consumers, and in the case of the Umaria Colliery by a greater output of coal. The South Indian Railway was taken over by the State from the Company with effect from the 31st December 1890, and the transactions of the line appear under State Railways for the first time in the accounts for 1890-91. The improvement on the Toungoo-Mandalay Railway was due to development of traffic, carriage of material for the Mu Valley Railway, and military traffic in connection with expeditions.

171. The large falling-off compared with the Budget Estimate occurred almost wholly on the Indian Midland Railway, the estimate for which proved too sanguine, as the favourable results expected on the opening of the entire line were not realised. The traffic on the Southern Mahratta Railway also did not come up to expectations, and the Nandyal-Cumbum portion of the Bellary-Kistna Section was not opened as early as was anticipated. On the other hand, there were improvements of 13,3 and 19,9 on the Toungoo-Mandalay and Wardha Coal Railways, the increases being due to development of traffic and larger sale of coal, as mentioned above.

172. The Railways comprised in this group are detailed on page 81. The increase over the actuals of the previous year and over the Budget was mainly owing to the transactions of the Bengal and North-Western Railway having been included in the accounts of Government from the 1st July 1890, the date from which the line is being worked with the Tirhoot State Railway as one undertaking. There was also an increase on the Lucknow-Bareilly system, owing to the inclusion of the transactions of the Lucknow-Sitapur-Seramau and Bareilly-Pilibhit Railways for fifteen months. Prior to 1st January 1891 the transactions of these lines were dealt with by the calendar year, but from that date the lines were transferred to the Rohilkhand-Kumaon Railway Company, and the receipts of the combined system from the 1st January 1890 to the 31st March 1891 are shown in the accounts for 1890-91. The receipts of the Burma Railway also showed an increase over the actuals of the previous year, due to a specially large export traffic, to carriage of materials for the Mu Valley Railway, and to military traffic in connection with expeditions. The decrease, compared with the Revised Estimate, occurred mainly on the Tirhoot and Bengal and North-Western Railways, due to the failure of the crops in the Chupra District, and to an increase in outstanding earnings.

173. The actual excess of the earnings of 1890-91 over those of the preceding year was much larger than 218,5 shown above, as the South Indian Railway having been taken by the State with effect from the 31st December 1890, the actuals of 1890-91 included the transactions of the Railway for nine months only, while the transactions of a full year were included in the actuals of 1889-90. The improvement occurred chiefly on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway, being derived principally from a heavy goods traffic and an increase in the third class passenger traffic. The Madras and Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railways also showed a satisfactory improvement over both the actuals of the previous year and the Budget, that on the former line being due partly to a development of traffic generally and partly to a credit of 20,6 for the value of certain materials previously overcharged, and that on the latter to fluctuations in suspense.

174. The decrease, as compared with the actuals of the preceding year, is made up as shown below—

|---|---|
| Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway . . . . . . . . . | — 21,9 |
| Great Indian Peninsula . . . . . . . . . . . . . | + 42,4 |
| Madras . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . | — 38,6 |
| South Indian . . . . . . . . . . . . . . | — 96,1 |

The decrease on the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway is accounted for chiefly by a large credit for bridge material found in excess in stock, smaller outlay on repairs, etc., a more favourable rate of exchange, and smaller payments to the Great Indian Peninsula Railway for toll on Carnac Bandar traffic owing to a falling-off in the traffic. The increase on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway was due partly to the larger traffic worked during the year and partly to heavy renewals of sleepers, to smaller credits for old materials returned, and to larger ballasting operations. The decrease on the Madras Railway resulted from smaller expenditure on the maintenance of the line, and in the Carriage and Wagon Department; the reduction on the South Indian Railway was due, as explained above to the actuals for 1890-91 representing the transactions of the line for nine months only.

175. The details of the decrease of 68,3, compared with the Budget Estimate, are as follows:—

| South Indian . . . . . . . . . . . . . | — 13,8 |

The reduction on the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway was due to the causes explained in the preceding paragraph, the estimate having been based on the transactions of the previous year. The saving on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway is attributed partly to the Maintenance charges having been over-estimated, and partly to a favourable rate of exchange The decrease on the Madras Railway is ascribed principally to the credits that were afforded on account of rails, etc., and to the value of eight new engines not having been charged off in the year owing to their late arrival from England. The decrease on the South Indian Railway is attributed to smaller outlay in all departments, except the Locomotive.

The credits under India represent the amounts recoverable from the Mysore Durbar on account of the net charge for interest paid to the Southern Mahratta Railway Company in connection with the Mysore Railway. The receipts and working expenses and interest charges of the Mysore Railway are recorded in the accounts under their respective Railway heads, and only the net charge for interest (i.e., interest on Capital expended, minus net receipts), which is recoverable from the Mysore Durbar, is credited to this head. The settlement with the Mysore Durbar is effected outside the Railway accounts. The credit under England represents the Government share of surplus profits of the Rohilkhand-Kumaon Railway for the year 1889 (£735) taken in reductions of the Company's debt for advances of Interest.

178. The decrease, compared with the actuals of 1889-90 and the Budget Estimate, occurred mainly in interest and annuity charges due to the higher rate of exchange, and in the working expenses, chiefly of the East Indian, Rajputana-Malwa and North-Western Railways. The decrease, compared with the Revised Estimate, occurred mainly in working expenses, being due chiefly to the payment in 1891-92 instead of in 1890-91 to the Bengal and North-Western Railway Company of their share of net earnings for the half-year ended 31st December 1890.

179. The particulars of these charges by individual Railways are given on page 81. The decrease, as compared with the actuals of the previous year, was due entirely to reduced working expenses on the East Indian, Rajputana-Malwa and North-Western Railways, but for which the actuals would have exceeded those of the previous year by reason of the increased open mileage and the inclusion for the first time of the transactions of the South Indian and the Bengal and North-Western Railways. The lapse on the Budget Estimate occurred chiefly on the East Indian, Rajputana-Malwa, North-Western and Indian Midland Railways, and the saving on the Revised Estimate is noticeable chiefly on the Rajputana-Malwa, Bengal-Nagpur, South Indian and Bengal and North-Western and Tirhoot Railways. Explanations of the variations will be found in the following paragraphs.

180. The short outlay in comparison with the actuals of the previous year and the Budget was chiefly due to the improvement in the rate of exchange, smaller renewals of steel rails and the discontinuance of the substitution of iron for wooden sleepers before they had been worn out, retrenchments in establishment and printing, smaller expenditure on furniture and fittings, and a decrease in payments for the hire of vehicles and mileage and demurrage in consequence of the decrease in traffic. The increase again stsurplus profits and contribution to the Provident Fund was due to the payment of the contribution to the Provident Fund for 1890 in March 1891. No corresponding payment was made in 1889-90.

181. The increase over the actuals of the previous year was due to renewals of permanent-way, to heavy repairs and renewals of carriage and wagon stock, to increased traffic charges in connection with the Hindu festival Ardhodoya Joga, and to the opening of the Budge-Budge Section and the remaining portion of the Assam-Behar State Railway. The excess over the Budget Estimate was due to increased expenses consequent on the improvement in traffic. The excess over the Revised Estimate was due to heavy traffic on account of the bathing festival referred to, and to expenditure on repairs on the Assam-Behar Section, not contemplated when the estimate was prepared.

182. The decrease in expenditure, as compared with the previous year and the Budget Estimate, was due to extensive renewals of wheels and axles in the previous year, to the estimate for fuel having been based on a greater train mileage than was subsequently found necessary, and to the suspension, owing to heavy traffic towards the close of the year, of re-laying operations and ordinary repairs, for which also the Revised Estimate made no allowance.

183. The decrease compared with the previous year was mainly due to smaller charges for renewal of permanent-way, the more favourable rate of exchange having reduced the cost of material obtained from England; to reduction in locomotive expenses, fuel and water, in consequence of the smaller traffic, and in repairs and renewals of engines and vehicles; to larger outstandings at the close of the year under Suspense and Demands Payable; and to reductions in establishment charges. Compared with the Budget Estimate, the actuals showed a decrease of 80,5, chiefly under Maintenance, Locomotive and General Charges. Under Maintenance the decrease was in the cost of renewals of permanent-way due to the more favourable rate of exchange, and under Locomotive to savings in General Superintendence, running staff expenses, repairs and renewals, carriage of materials and to an increase in the credit obtained for working the Rajpura-Bhatinda Railway. Under General Charges the principal savings were under the heads Audit and Accounts, Medical, Printing and Stationery, and Telegraph. The actuals exceeded the Revised Estimate owing to large expenditure in the closing month of the year on flood repairs on the Pishin Section and on the carriage of stores for protection of bridges. There was an increase in the Locomotive Department also in consequence of the increase in traffic.

184 The adjustment of old claims of the East Indian Railway for joint station expenses, and payments for mileage of foreign vehicles caused an excess over the actuals of the previous year, but a part of this excess was counterbalanced by reductions under Maintenance, Locomotive and Traffic due to smaller expenditure on renewals, to reduced consumption of fuel and to smaller traffic. The actuals were less than the Budget Estimate, which was based on the anticipation of a larger traffic than was actually obtained.

185. The Railways comprised in this group are detailed in the table on page 81. The actual expenditure exceeded that of the previous year by 188,5, the principal variations being as follows :—

|---|---|
| Bengal-Nagpur | + 87,7 |
| Wardha Coal | + 7,3 |
| Indian Midland | + 20,0 |
| Southern Mahratta | + 8,4 |
| Mysore | + 6,1 |
| South Indian | + 70,6 |
| Tounghoo-Mandalay | —12,4 |

The increase on the Bengal-Nagpur, Indian Midland, Southern Mahratta, and Mysore Railways was due to a development of traffic and to the extra mileage worked. The increase on the Wardha Coal Railway was due to larger expenditure in connection with the increased output of coal and to extra repairs and renewals of machinery. The South Indian Railway was taken over by the State from the Company, with effect from the 31st December 1890, and the transactions of the line appeared under State Railways for the first time in the accounts for 1890-91.

186. The principal differences making up the deficiency of 88,3 compared with the Budget Estimate, occurred on the following lines :—

|---|---|
| Bengal-Nagpur | + 14,9 |
| Sindia | − 14,5 |
| Wardha Coal | + 9,7 |
| Umaria Colliery | − 4,3 |
| Indian Midland | − 25,9 |
| Southern Mahratta | − 16,7 |
| South Indian | − 11,9 |
| Villupuram-Guntakul | — 8,7 |
| " Nellore Branch | — 7,8 |
| Tounghoo-Mandalay | − 21,7 |

The Bengal-Nagpur Railway Budget was an under-estimate, there having been no sufficient data to make a reliable forecast. The Budget Estimate of the Sindia Railway provided a sum of 14,5 on account of the outstanding claims of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway for running powers over the broad gauge line between the junction of the East Indian Railway, Agra East Bank, and the Agra Cantonment Stations, but the question of payment has not yet been settled. The expenses of the Wardha Coal Railway rose with the larger quantity of coal raised, while those of the Umaria Colliery fell off with the smaller output of coal. The decrease on the Indian Midland Railway was due to the traffic work having been below what was anticipated, to smaller expenditure on renewals on the Sindia Section, and to reduced cost of Indian Management. The decrease on the Southern Mahratta Railway is attributed to the delay in opening the Nandyal-Cumbum Section, and to savings under running expenses and fuel owing to the reduced train-mileage run. On the South Indian Railway system it was due to the renewals of Permanent Way not having been as extensive as was anticipated, to delay in the opening of the Tiruvannamalai-Tirupati Section, and to the exclusion from the accounts of the charge for Government supervision. On the Tounghoo-Mandalay it was due to economical working.

187. Compared with the Revised Estimate, the important differences were a decrease of 15,1 on the Bengal-Nagpur Railway, due chiefly to a credit on account of Engineering Establishment charges, which were transferred under the orders of the Government of India to debit of Capital, and a decrease of 24,4 on the South Indian Railway, due to the causes mentioned in the preceding para.

188. The Railways comprised in this group are detailed on page 81. The increase over the actuals of the previous year was mainly owing to the inclusion of the transactions of the Bengal and North Western Railway from the 1st July 1890, as from that date the line has been worked with the Tirhoot Railway as one undertaking. Small increases also occurred on the Burma and the Lucknow-Bareilly Railways, due, respectively, to increased traffic worked, and to transactions of the Lucknow-Sitapur-Seramau and Bareilly-Pilibhit Railways of fifteen months, namely, from 1st January 1890, to the 31st March 1891, having been included in the accounts for 1890-91, against those of twelve months included in the accounts of the previous year, as explained under Receipts. The above causes also explain generally the increase as compared with the Budget Estimate. The decrease, compared with the Revised Estimate, was for the most part due to the non-payment to the Bengal and North Western Railway Company of their share of net earnings for the half-year ended 31st December 1890, and to a larger increase in the balance of Demands Payable than was provided for in the estimate.

190. Interest on the capital outlay on the East Indian Railway was hitherto charged at 4½ per cent., but from 1890-91 it has been taken at 4 per cent. only, that being the rate in force for all other Railways. On the other hand interest at that rate has been charged on the exchange on the debentures of the Railway discharged since 1st January 1880, the former practice having been to charge interest only on the sterling amount of the debentures.

Interest.

194. The important differences between the actuals and those of the previous year are—(1) an increase of 7,9 against the Indian Midland Railway, due to increased interest charges paid on the additional Capital raised by the Company in 1889-90, and (2) a decrease of 9,2 against the Bengal Central Railway, owing to the discharge of £500,000 debentures in July 1889, the money having been advanced to the Company for this purpose by the Secretary of State.

Exchange.

195. The decrease, compared with the Budget and the actuals of the previous year, was due mainly to a rise in the rate of exchange.

Interest.

196. The expenditure under this head represents the interest chargeable against the Companies on the advances made to them by the Secretary of State from funds raised under the provisions of the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway Purchase Act. The increase over the actuals of the previous year was due to further advances having been made to the Companies by the Secretary of State.

Exchange.

197. The increase on account of larger charges for interest has to some extent been minimised by the rise in the rate of exchange which was not foreseen in the Budget.

Surplus Profits.

198. The increase in the actuals over those of the preceding year occurred on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway owing to the net earnings of the first half of 1890 having been more than those of the corresponding period of 1889. The Budget Estimate was placed too high. The South Indian Railway Company did not withdraw during the year their share of the profits the payment of which was provided for in the Revised Estimate.

Land and Supervision.

199. The increase over the actuals of 1889-90, and the Budget occurred mainly in Bombay and the Central Provinces, being due in the former case to a large outlay having been incurred in connection with the extension of the Poona Railway Station in acquiring a piece of land at the site of the new Byculla Station and in diverting the main pipe of the Vehar Water-works, provision for which in the Budget proved insufficient; in the latter case it was due to the appointment of a Deputy Consulting Engineer at Nagpur, to the formation of the office of the Government Examiner of Accounts, Bengal-Nagpur Railway, and to additional charges for compensation for land.

202. The variations under this head occur mainly in connection with land for the Bengal and North-Western and Delhi-Umballa-Kalka Railways. In the case of the Bengal and North-Western Railway the decrease, as compared with the actuals of the previous year, was due to the land acquisition in the Bankipur District having been closed at the end of 1889-90; while the saving on the Budget Estimate accrued from some land having been only temporarily taken up on a yearly rental, instead of being permanently acquired, and from the land acquisition operations on the Bahramghat Branch having been commenced towards the close of the year. The lapse on the Revised Estimate is due to some land cases in the Chupra District not having been finally settled during the year.

40.—Subsidised Companies—Land, Subsidy and Interest—continued.

In the case of the Delhi-Umballa-Kalka Railway the decrease, as compared with the actuals of the previous year, was due to the greater portion of the land acquired for the Railway having been paid for in 1889-90. The lapse on the Budget and Revised Estimates is stated to be due to the debits from the Civil Department having been less than was anticipated.

40.—Subsidised Companies—Advances of Interest.

204. The total outlay in the two years is practically the same, and no useful comparison can be made between th outlay of the two years by individual projects, as new surveys are being started every year. The following are th principal surveys under execution during 1890-91 :—From Imperial Funds :—The Jubbulpore Nagpur Survey, San bulpore Road Survey, Meiktila Branch Survey, Kashmir Railway Survey, Zhob Valley Survey, and the Bolan Hig Level Line Survey. From Provincial Funds :—The Lucknow-Rai Bareili-Jaunpur Survey and surveys in Madr and Bombay. The increase over the Budget Estimate was due to new surveys, not contemplated when the estima was framed, having been undertaken during the year.

206. The net result on the whole shows an improvement of 92,1. The net receipts from major works improved by 119,7 as compared with 1889-90, notwithstanding an enhanced charge for interest and by 103,8 as compared with the Budget. The largest improvement occurred in the net receipts from the Western Jumna, Sirhind and Ganges Canals, and there was also an improvement in Land Revenue due to Irrigation in Madras and the North-Western Provinces.

207. The net result under minor works was worse than in the previous year by 27,6, but was better than the Budget by 31,1 ; the receipts improved slightly, but there was increased outlay chiefly in Madras and Bengal as compared with the previous year counterbalanced to some extent by smaller outlay in Beluchistan, owing to the completion of the works there, while the increased provision in the Budget, chiefly in Bombay, was not utilised.

208. The actual collections of 1890-91 exceeded those of the previous year by 181,5 and the Budget Estimate by 137,6. The increase was due chiefly to further development of irrigation from the Western Jumna, Sirhind and the Bari Doab Canals, to an improvement in the Water-rate Collections from the Ganges, Lower Ganges and the Eastern Jumna Canals, and to larger receipts from Land Revenue due to Irrigation, which resulted from an expansion of irrigation in the Godavari and Kristna deltas and from the re-settlement of certain districts in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh.

DIRECT RECEIPTS—IMPERIAL WORKS.

210. The Gross Revenue in 1890-91 was better than that of the previous year by 87,9, and the Budget and Revised Estimates by 69,5 and 19,7 respectively. The increase occurs almost entirely in the Punjab; and was due chiefly to a further development of irrigation on the Western Jumna and the Sirhind Canals, and partly to an increase of irrigation from the Bari Doab Canal. The greater portion of the increase due to these causes was foreseen when the Revised Estimate was prepared, but through an error no account was taken in it of the receipts of the Western Jumna Canal from owners' rates in the Hisar District. The increase in the realizations in Madras was due partly to an increase in the water-rates on the Karnul Canal and partly to an unforeseen development of navigation in the Godavari and Kristna deltas.

DIRECT RECEIPTS—PROVINCIAL WORKS.

211 The Gross Revenue in 1890-91 exceeded that of the previous year by 64,2, and the Budget Estimate by 41,3. The increase was the net result of an improvement in the water-rate collections from the Ganges, Lower Ganges and the Eastern Jumna Canals in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, and of a falling off of the revenue in Bengal, which is attributed chiefly to a smaller area having been irrigated from the Sone Canals, owing to seasonable and abundant rainfall. The decrease, as compared with the Revised Estimate, was due chiefly to an over-estimate of the receipts from the Ganges and the Lower Ganges Canals.

212. The increase in the actuals of 1890 91 over those of the previous year and the Budget Estimate, occurred chiefly in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and Madras, due in the former to increased revenue from the Ganges and the Eastern Jumna Canals owing to the resettlement of certain districts, and in the latter chiefly to an expansion of irrigation in the Godavari and Kistna Deltas. These improvements were foreseen and provided for to a large extent in the Revised Estimate, but the provision was exceeded in Madras, partly owing to a credit of 2,7 on account of the value of water supplied by the Karnul Canal to the Government tanks in the Karnul District from 1884-85 to 1889-90, and partly owing to the irrigation share of the sale-proceeds of certain tank beds, amounting to 1,5, having been treated as indirect revenue under the orders of the Government of India. The decrease in Bombay, compared with both the Budget Estimate and the actuals of the previous year, occurred chiefly on the Eastern Nara works and is attributed to a large area of land having been left fallow owing to over-cultivation in the previous year and to the working of the Dimwah Canal not having been satisfactory owing to the velocity being insufficient to check the growth of weeds.

213. The variations under this head are comparatively small and are the net result of a number of small increases and decreases. The increase of 5,7 in Bengal over the actual realizations of the previous year occurred chiefly on the Calcutta and Eastern Canals, and was due to improved traffic in rice, firewood, jute, and building materials.

| 2,652,7 | EXPENDITURE . . . . . | 2,739,4 | 2,762,8 | 2,742,1 |

214. The expenditure of 1890-91 exceeded that of the previous year by 89,4, owing (1) to extensive repairs having been found necessary on Major Irrigation Works in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and Madras; (2) to an increase under Interest on Debt caused by the additional capital outlay, and (3) to larger grants having been assigned from provincial funds for the remodelling of the Hidgellee Tidal Canal in Bengal and for Minor Irrigation Works in Madras. In the Revised Estimate the requirements of several of the works classed as "Minor Works and Navigation" were over-estimated.

215. The particulars of these charges are given in the table in para. 209, and the more important differences are explained here.

Imperial Works.

216. The increase occurred chiefly in Madras owing to the outlay incurred in making certain minor improvements to the Karnul Canal and in executing some special repairs to the anicuts connected with it, and also to the transfer from Capital to Revenue during the year of the value of the old lock at Vijeshweram in the Godavari Western Division. The increase of 6,6 in the Punjab over the actuals of the previous year was due to certain special repairs having been found necessary to keep the extensive projects up to a proper standard of efficiency. The increase in Bombay over the Budget and Revised Estimates was due to the transfer from Capital to Revenue of the outlay incurred in widening the Begari Canal, it having been decided after the close of the year that the outlay was a proper charge to Revenue.

Provincial Works.

217. The increase in the expenditure of the year occurred in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and was due to the outlay on repairing the head works of the Ganges Canal which were considerably damaged by heavy floods. The establishment charges were also higher, the share charged to Capital having been reduced by a decrease in the expenditure on works. The decrease of 6 8 in Bengal, as compared with the Budget Estimate, was due to the amount contributed by the Buildings and Roads Branch on account of works executed by the Irrigation establishment having been larger than was anticipated.

Imperial Works.

219. The expenditure in 1890-91 fell short of that of the previous year by 12,2. The deficiency is principally made up of a decrease of 27,6 under India, due to the completion of the irrigation works in Baluchistan, and of increases of 9,0 and 5,5 respectively in Upper Burma and the Punjab. The increase in Upper Burma was due to the extension of irrigation operations in the province and that in the Punjab to extensive repairs on the Indus Inundation Canals. The short outlay in 1890-91, as compared with the Budget and Revised Estimates, was the result of several small lapses.

Provincial and Local Works.

220. Of the excess of 50,0 over the actuals of the previous year, 10,3 occurred in Bengal and 31,3 in Madras. The increase in Bengal was due to larger capital outlay on the remodelling of the Hidgellee Tidal Canal the Budget grant for which was not, however, fully utilized. The increase in Madras was due to larger funds having been made available for expenditure in 1890-91. The decrease, as compared with the Revised Estimate, was due to the requirements of several works in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and Madras having been over-estimated.

221. The revenue is better than the Budget and Revised Estimates by 59,9 and 11,6 respectively, owing mainly to exceptional receipts on account of sales of buildings and tools and plant in Bengal, and to the receipts from tolls on roads and ferries having been under-estimated in other Provinces.

222. The increase of 6,1 over the Budget Estimate was due to an improvement in the rents derived from Military buildings under the control of the Director-General of Military Works, and to a special credit of 2,0 on account of the sale-proceeds of certain buildings at Sitabuldi which were disposed of in consequence of the reduction of the Native Infantry Garrison at that station. A portion of the increase under India is met by decreases under Madras and Bombay, being due to the transfer of the control of the greater portion of the Military Works Department in those provinces to the Director General.

223. The decrease of 37,5, as compared with the Actuals of the previous year, was chiefly due to a special credit of 34,1 in 1889-90 on account of the Imperial share of the sale-proceeds of the Burrakur Iron Works. The receipts from the sale of Imperial buildings in the Punjab were also higher in 1889-90. The increase of 1,1 over the Budget Estimate was the net result mainly of an unforeseen credit of 2,0 in Burma on account of the sale-proceeds of an Imperial building, and of an over-estimate by 1,2 of the Revenue in the Punjab. The Revised Estimate for Lower Burma provided for a receipt of 9,8 on account of the value of the Rangoon Lock Hospital and site transferred to the Burma State Railway. It was subsequently decided to transfer the land free of charge, and this reduced the receipt to 2,0.

224. The receipts by Departmental Officers exceeded those of the previous year by 30,1 and the Budget Estimate by 40,6. The bulk of the increase occurred in Bengal, being mainly due to a special receipt of 31,7 on account of the sale of the Custom House premises at Calcutta to the East Indian Railway. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh also there was an improvement due to larger receipts from the Roorkee Workshops and sales of buildings. The improvement of 8,8, as compared with the Revised Estimate, was mainly due to these receipts and the receipts from tolls on roads in Bombay having been under-estimated. In the receipts by Civil Officers there was a decrease of 7,5 compared with the previous year, which was principally due to a falling off in the receipts from ferry tolls in Bengal, North-Western Provinces and Punjab. In Madras the Actuals exceeded those of the previous year by 2,3, owing chiefly to the recovery of arrears of contributions from Municipalities and private parties towards the construction of roads and bridges. The variations between the Estimates and Actuals of the receipts by Civil Officers are unimportant.

225. The difference of 17,0 between the receipts by Civil Officers of the two years was principally due to special adjustments in the Bengal Accounts of 1889-90 on account of ferry tolls erroneously credited to this head in the previous year, and to large sales of lands and houses in the Punjab. The increase of 9,9, as compared with the Budget Estimate of receipts by Civil Officers, was mainly due to the receipts from tolls and ferries having been under-estimated in Bombay, Madras, and the Punjab, and to special receipts in the North-Wes ern Provinces on account of sale-proceeds of buildings. On the other hand, there was a decrease of 5,7 in Bengal due to the re-adjustment of ferry tolls erroneously appropriated by District Boards.

226. The expenditure exceeded that of the previous year by 318,7, owing chiefly to larger grants having been assigned by the Local Governments for expenditure on Provincial roads and buildings. The actuals agreed closely with the Budget Estimate, but the Revised Estimate of expenditure on Provincial and Local Civil Works was placed too high.

227. The comparison of the actual expenditure of 1890-91 with the budget and with the actuals of the previous year by individual provinces is vitiated by the transfer of Military Works in the Central Provinces, Burma, Madras and Bombay to the control of the Director General in consequence of the extension of the Military Works Department.

The total expenditure in 1890-91 exceeded the budget and the actuals of the previous year by 60,0 and 82,2 respectively, mainly owing to the adjustment under this head of 48,9 of the total cost of the Quetta Water Works, to the transfer to this head of the maintenance charges of the North-West Frontier and Dehra Ghazi Khan-Pishin Roads and to larger outlay on buildings for the accommodation of troops.

228. The decrease of 31,9, compared with the actuals of the previous year, is the net result mainly of decreases of 40,7 and 24.5 in the Punjab and India and increases of 31,3 and 7,3 in Bengal and Bombay. The approaching completion of the North-West Frontier roads accounts for the decrease in the Punjab. In India the decrease was due to the transfer to the Military and Civil Departments and State Railways of their share of the cost of the Quetta Water-works (53,8), partly counterbalanced by increased outlay on Civil Works in the Zhob Valley, extensive repairs to buildings in Quetta damaged by the abnormal winter rainfall, and famine relief works in Ajmere and Merwara. In Bengal the increase was mainly due to 43,0, having been spent in 1890-91 on the construction of the Imperial Secretariat Buildings, Calcutta, and that in Bombay to larger outlay on Postal, Mint and Paper Currency buildings and on works on the Somali coast.

229. The lapse on the Budget occurred chiefly in India, being the net result of the increases and decreases mentioned above and savings due to the details in connection with the construction of the Church at Quetta not having been settled and to the construction of a Church at Rawulpindi having been abandoned. In the Punjab and Bombay there were increases of 7,9 and 5,8 over the Budget, due to outlay on works not foreseen when the Budget Estimate was framed, but for which additional grants were sanctioned during the course of the year.

230. The actuals for 1890-91 exceeded those of the previous year by 242,7, the increase being distributed over all the provinces, except the Central Provinces and the Punjab. In Burma larger outlay was incurred in pushing on the new public offices at Rangoon and the Central Jail at Insein. In Assam the increase was chiefly due to larger outlay having become necessary on certain roads transferred from Local to Provincial Funds and on buildings for the accommodation of the Secretariat Offices at Head Quarters. In Bengal large expenditure was incurred on the Port and Shipping Offices at Calcutta, the Railway line at Akra, the Telegraph Office at Budge-Budge, and the Salt Golas at Sulkea. The excess in the North-Western Provinces was due to increased outlay on Communications and Civil Buildings. In Madras the increase is attributed to a more extensive programme of works, and that in Bombay to heavy outlay on the Jails at Bombay and Ahmedabad, and other new civil works, and to an increased charge for establishment, due to the transfer of the Military Works from the control of the Local Government.

231. The actuals have worked fairly close to the Budget as on a grant on 2,221,9 there was a lapse of only 33,6. The only variations which require explanation are those in Bengal, Madras, and Bombay. In Bengal the expenditure exceeded the Budget by 58,6 owing to additional grants having been sanctioned for a number of urgent works not provided for in the Budget Estimate. In Madras the Budget Estimate had been placed too high, and there was a decrease of 61,8. The decrease in Bombay was chiefly due to the transfer of two lakhs to the head 43—Minor Works and Navigation, Provincial, to provide for outlay on the Gokak Canal, 1st Section, and storage works.

232. The actuals exceeded those of the previous year by 63,7, of which 30,1 occurred under Departmental Officers and 33,6 under Civil Officers. Under the former there was an increase in all the provinces except Assam. The largest increase occurred in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh (45,6) and was due to the execution of new works for which a special grant of 80,0 was made by the Local Government. The short outlay in Assam (40,2) was mainly due to the transfer of certain roads to Provincial. Under Civil Officers the principal variations have occurred in Madras +17,6, Punjab +9,4 and Bengal +3,3. In Madras it is explained to be due to abnormal expenditure in 1890-91, and in the Punjab to the transfer to this head from 26—Scientific and Other Minor Departments of charges connected with the conservation of trees along roads under charge of District Boards. The increase in Bengal was chiefly due to larger outlay on roads.

233. Compared with the Budget Estimate the actuals showed a saving of 12,2 in the expenditure by Departmental Officers and an increase 53,1 in that by Civil Officers. The lapse under Departmental Officers occurred mainly in Assam, the estimate of expenditure on Communications and Village Sanitation having been placed too high. The increase under Civil Officers occurred in Madras, Bengal, and the Punjab. In Madras the Budget was too low, the outlay on Civil Buildings and Communications having been under-estimated by local boards. The Bengal Budget Estimate was based on actuals of the previous year in the absence of estimates from Divisional Commissioners, and it proved insufficient. The increase in the Punjab has been caused by the transfer, after the Budget was framed, of charges in connection with the planting and conservation of trees along roads in charge of District Officers as mentioned above. In Bombay the expenditure fell short of the Budget by 30,1 as a number of urgent works was taken in hand only at the close of the year.

234. The Revised was generally framed too high, except in the case of expenditure by Civil Officers in Madras, where some urgent works were taken in hand after the Revised Estimate had been prepared.

237. The receipts in India fell short of the Budget and Revised Estimates and of the actuals of 1889-90 by 196,1 by 70,1 and by 149,5, respectively. The decrease occurred chiefly under Commissariat Receipts, owing to smaller consumption of malt liquor by British troops and to the British corps in Madras and Bombay having been permitted to make their own arrangements for the supply of this liquor instead of obtaining it on payment from the Commissariat Department as before.

238. The Indian Army Expenditure for 1890-91 includes 350,3 on account of extra charges incurred for Upper Burma and 409,7 for the Chin-Lushai Expedition and other special undertakings, details of which will be found below. Excluding these special items, the expenditure in India during the year compares as follows with that of the previous year and the Budget Estimate:—

L.—ARMY SERVICES—continued.

1890-91, the most important of which are increases of 89,9 in the pay of the Native Army, 84,3 under Ordnance, owing to large purchases of local stores, 41,9 under Clothing, owing to manufacture of clothing in advance for following years and 53,1 in the Military Pensions to Natives, owing to a change in the system of payment under which in some districts the pensions were paid monthly and quarterly instead of half-yearly as before. The saving in the charges for Upper Burma in 1890-91 occurred almost wholly under Commissariat Supplies.

240. Compared with the Budget, there was a net excess of 110,0 in the special charges as shown above, while in the ordinary expenditure there was a saving of 126,8. It occurred principally in the Commissariat charges, owing to the smaller supplies of malt liquor and in the pay of the European Army which was below the expected strength.

241. The fluctuations in the charges in England are principally connected with the supply of magazine rifles and the payment of arrear claims on account of deferred pay of British Forces serving in India.

242. It has been explained in previous reports that the Army Receipts are more or less of a fluctuating character, and are not susceptible of an accurate forecast. The receipts under Regimental Pay, etc., showed a falling off compared with both the Budget and the Actuals of 1889-90, owing mainly to a change in the method of adjusting recoveries on account of disallowances appertaining to previous years. Formerly these recoveries were shown as miscellaneous receipts under the minor head concerned, but from 1890-91 they have been adjusted through the head Advances Recoverable, the corresponding charges in the previous year being also taken to that head. A part of the falling off compared with the Budget was lso due to the receipts on account of hutting money having been over-estimated in the Budget.

The Commissariat receipts, which furnish more than half of the total Army Receipts, were also over-estimated in the Budget. The figures for the principal sub-heads are given below :—

| 1889-90. Accounts. | | 1890-91. Budget. | 1890-91. Revised. | 1890-91. Accounts. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 381,9 | Sale of malt liquor | 427,6 | 355,0 | 312,1 |
| 59,0 | Sale of provisions and stores | 73,5 | 61,5 | 57,7 |
| 19,2 | Sale of rum | 22,2 | 18,3 | 17,2 |
| 13,2 | Khedda receipts | 14,0 | 14,0 | 12,4 |
| 5,3 | Sale of transport cattle | 9,3 | 6,3 | 4,1 |
| 52,6 | Other heads | 47,6 | 36,7 | 31,8 |
| 531,2 | TOTAL | 594,2 | 491,8 | 435,3 |

There were smaller sales of provisions and stores generally, and a smaller consumption of malt liquor and rum by British troops; and further the Bombay and Madras corps were permitted to make their own arrangements for the supply of malt liquor instead of obtaining it from the Commissariat Department on payment as before; the reduction in the receipts is counterbalanced by a reduction in the charges under the corresponding sub-head of the Commissariat grant. The change explained above in the method of adjusting recoveries of disallowances appertaining to previous years, and smaller miscellaneous transport receipts for the hire of cattle, account for the bulk of the decrease under other heads.

The falling off in the Remount and Veterinary receipts was almost entirely due to smaller sales of chargers to officers; the budget estimated for a large improvement on account of these sales, but there was really a large falling off. Smaller issues of clothing to soldiers on payment, owing generally to corps being on field service, to stoppage of the sale of clothing to private individuals, and to a reduction in the compensation rates at which garments are sold to British troops, mainly account for the decrease in the Clothing receipts. The Budget Estimate of Ordnance receipts was exceeded, owing to large recoveries on account of Snider rifles, etc., supplied to the Kolhapur Infantry, of arms, accoutrements, etc., supplied to the Imperial British East Africa Company, and of stores supplied to the Imperial service troops, and generally to more sales of unserviceable stores in arsenals and factories. The increase would have been much greater if an unusually large quantity of Europe stores had not been returned by other departments in Madras, the value of which exceeded that of the stores issued to other departments in that presidency during the year; 10,0 was provided in the Budget for these receipts, but the actuals amounted to —4. Smaller recoveries of table money from officers proceeding in chartered vessels, and a reduction in the rate of stoppages from non-commissioned officers and men rationed on Her Majesty's Indian troop-ships, diminished the Sea Transport receipts of the year. The Miscellaneous receipts are irregular. The Budget did not provide for the special receipts in 1890-91 connected with the Chin-Lushai, Zhob and Miranzai Expeditions, while the refunds of large unexpended balances in the hands of officers commanding outposts in Burma, and larger receipts in connection with expeditions, swelled the receipts of 1889-90. The Budget under Military Pensions to Europeans was high, as no allowance was made in it for the change made in 1889-90, as explained in last year's report, in regard to the adjustment of the recoveries on account of leave and pensionary allowances of military officers of the Hyderabad Contingent, which before that year were shown under this head, the change having been introduced after the Budget was framed. Recoveries on account of Widows' pensions are rising year by year owing to new admissions to the Military Service Family Pension Fund; the Budget for 1890-91 was taken at much too low a figure.

of the Secretary, Defence Committee, and his establishment, and to the pay and allowances of rank of certain Station Staff Officers having been debited to this head, as they held no regimental appointments. A part of the increase was, however, counterbalanced by savings in hill sanitaria establishments, and in the Musketry Inspection Staff, and to smaller grants to Cantonment Funds, some of those previously receiving Government aid having become self-supporting Under Administrative Staff the savings arose from the revision of the Military Accounts office establishments and further reductions of certain Circle Pension Offices, payment of native pensioners in certain districts having been transferred to the Civil and Postal Departments. The removal of the Bengal Western Circle Account Offices to Rawalpindi occasioned a heavy expenditure under this head, otherwise the reduction, as compared with the charges of the previous year, would have been much larger.

244. As regards Regimental Pay, etc., the figures relating to the European and Native Armies are as follows:—

| TOTAL | 7,227,6 | 7,266,3 | 7,190,3 | 7,212,7 |

245. The details of the principal sub-heads of the European Army are given below:—

| 3,564,6 | | 3,528,0 | 3,477,8 | 3,459,8 |

The principal savings arose from the cavalry and infantry having been below the expected strength, from the abolition of the European Artillery Veteran Company in Madras, and from there being fewer invalid and veteran officers. The estimates for unemployed general officers, and officers of the Staff Corps and General Lists, and for Colonel's allowances were placed too high. The savings were partly counterbalanced by increased charges under Artillery, due chiefly to the reorganisation of the District Commands and staff of the Royal Artillery in India, and to the number of officers on leave in Europe not having been so large as was anticipated. There was also some increase on account of the adjustment under this head of the pay and allowances of Royal Engineer officers attached to the Military Works Department, but not borne on its establishment. A considerable portion of the saving, compared with the previous year, resulted from the rate of exchange for the payment of British troops having been 1*s.* 5*d.* during the year against 1*s.* 4½*d.* in the previous year.

The estimates under Artillery, Annual Grant-in-aid of half-mounting and Hutting Money, proved to be excessive, while the provision made under Sappers and Miners for the reorganisation of the personnel of the Sub-Marine Mining was not utilised. These savings were more than counterbalanced by the increased expenditure due to the strength of the Native cavalry not having been so short as was anticipated, to the formation of Afridi companies in certain Bengal regiments, to the grants of kit money to recruits enlisted for the Burma battalions of Madras Infantry, to advances paid to regiments proceeding to Manipur, and to payments of arrears of the previous year.

247. The details of the Commissariat Charges are as follows :—

| | Accounts. 1889-90. | Budget. 1890-91. | Revised. 1890-91. | Accounts. 1890-91. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Establishment . . . . . . . . . | 480,4 | 507,1 | 491,4 | 479,1 |
| Supplies . . . . . . . . . | 1,528,3 | 1,588,2 | 1,497,5 | 1,466,2 |
| Services . . . . . . . . . | 783,3 | 852,4 | 826,9 | 799,0 |

| | 3,109,7 | 3,269,7 | 3,119,2 | 3,068,5 |

The saving, compared with the previous year, occurred wholly in the charges for malt liquor, owing to reduced consumption and the introduction of the regimental system of supply mentioned under Receipts. Compared with the Budget, there was a total saving under the head of 201,2, the details of which are given below :—

| Establishment . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . | 28,0 |
| Supplies . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . | 122,0 |
| Services . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . | 53,4 |
| Transport Branch . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . | —2,2 |

The saving under "Establishment" is the result of diminished expenditure for regimental transport and Kheddah establishments, absences on furlough, temporary vacancies in executive establishments and reduced ambulance, transport and other subordinate establishments, especially in Burma The major portion of the saving on the Estimate for "Supplies" is connected with the reduced supply of malt liquor (104,5) as explained under Receipts The withdrawal of the Bengal native regiments from Burma and a fall of prices in parts of Bengal and in Bombay diminished the charges for provisions for natives, while favorable prices for grain and forage in Bombay, and grass cultivation in Bengal, caused a large saving (14,6) in the compensation for dearness of forage; purchases of rum also were not made to the estimated extent; and savings occurred under Reserve Stock, owing to the cost of canvas cloth for mattresses having been debited to Barrack establishments and supplies instead of here as before, notwithstanding that a large arrear charge had to be met, under the same head, on account of tinned provisions obtained from the Colonies in the previous year. On the other hand, the payment of higher contract rates for certain articles of food for British soldiers caused a considerable increase in the charges for provisions for Europeans.

Under "Services" there were large savings in the expenditure on account of hire of transport and sea and inland water charges, owing to Government carriage having been more fully utilized; the estimates for Regimental equipments and Camp contingencies, and Miscellaneous charges were framed too high; a large saving also accrued in the feed of animals at the Hissar Cattle Farm and in the Khedda charges consequent on the reduced number of elephants maintained These savings were partly counterbalanced by increased expenditure under "Railway charges," (6,3), owing to a large number of troops having been moved in Bengal by rail instead of by route march, to the despatch of large quantities of ammunition and gunpowder from the Fort William Arsenal and Ishapur Factory to other arsenals in Bengal and to Madras and Bombay, and to the removal of timber from Allahabad to Fatehgurh; charges in connection with grass cultivation were under-estimated, and higher rates had to be paid for grain and fodder at certain stations.

In the "Transport Branch" the depôt and regimental charges exceeded the Budget, owing mainly to large purchases of elephants in Burma for the Wunthoo Expedition, but the ambulance transport charges were smaller owing to less expenditure on tongas, doolies, equipment and clothing, and to no animals having been purchased.

248. The saving under Remount and Veterinary Establishments arose from fewer purchases of remounts ponies for mounted infantry, ordnance mules and young stock, and from the estimate for feed of young stock in Bombay having been placed too high. On the other hand, a large expenditure was incurred for re-roofing the stables at Ahmednagar, and there was also an excess in the road expenses of remounts. The Clothing charges exceeded the Budget, mainly on account of the manufacture during the year of a portion of the clothing for the next year; the excess would have been larger but for an over-estimate in the Budget on account of compensation in lieu of clothing. Under Barrack Establishments the excess was due to larger issues of barrack bedding in consequence of the arrival of larger drafts from England and of the transfer to this head of certain charges for barrack bedding formerly taken under Commissariat charges, to larger supplies of barrack furniture from jails, to increased expenditure for lighting, a large stock of kerosine oil having been laid in at Fort Lahore, and to an increase in the miscellaneous charges in Bengal. The charges for the Administration of Martial Law were considerably over-estimated. The saving under Medical Establishments occurred principally under the head of District Establishments, and was due partly to one of the Deputy Surgeon-Generalships in Madras having been vacant, but the Budget, especially in Madras, does not appear to have made sufficient allowance for the usual savings on account of short strength under this head; the expenditure was slightly less than that of the previous year, while the Budget provided for an increase of about a lakh and a half. The provision of 1,5 for the special concessions intended to be given to the Army Hospital Native Corps was also not utilised, and there were vacancies in that corps as well as in the establishment of nursing sisters. A part of these savings was counterbalanced by a large increase (17,1) in the supplies of medical stores, etc., necessitated by a larger number of patients; but on the other hand the deduction for stores supplied to other Departments was larger than estimated. In the Ordnance Department the Budget made increased provision for the purchase of local supplies of stores and for an establishment of civilian mechanics. The actual purchases, however, were less than anticipated, and more favorable contract rates were obtained. The saving resulting from these causes was, however, counterbalanced by smaller supplies to other departments, which are adjusted by deduction from the charges. The savings under Ecclesiastical charges are attributable to the lower rate of pay drawn by an Assistant Chaplain of the Church of Scotland, to the adjustment of the allowance of the Roman Catholic Bishop in Madras as a civil charge from 1st April 1890, to the abolition of the appointment of a Roman Catholic Chaplain at Myingyan, and to smaller travelling and contingent expenses. Heavy charges for the supply of coal to Her Majesty's Indian troopships, partly counterbalanced by smaller expenditure for the provision of officers and soldiers with passages in private vessels, account for the increased expenditure under Sea Transport charges.

249. The head Miscellaneous Services may be analysed as follows :—

| | 1889-90. Accounts. | 1890-91. Budget. | 1890-91. Accounts. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Total Expenditure | 603,6 | 356,4 | 525,3 |
| Deduct—Special charges as given in para. | 429,2 | 200,0 | 409,7 |
| TOTAL ORDINARY EXPENDITURE | 174,4 | 156,4 | 115,6 |

The special items do not call for any further remarks. The savings under Ordinary Expenditure have occurred mainly from the charges for decorations and medals having been adjusted under non-effective charges—rewards, and from smaller charges for printing and forms and purchase and rent of lands and buildings. The head Mobilization was specially opened in the accounts of 1889-90, and was abolished at the end of it. The Budget grant for Volunteer Corps included 3,0 for a Railway Service Corps and grants-in-aid for constructing rifle ranges, but this provision was not utilised. The Budget Estimate under Volunteer Reserve Force was also framed too high. These savings were, however, partly counterbalanced by increased capitation grants, which also account for the increase over the actuals of the previous year.

250. As regards the Unadjusted Expenditure a sum of 70,7 out of the actual issues from the Treasury to the Military Department in 1890-91 was not brought to account in the Military books under the appropriate service heads; but as similar outstandings at the end of 1889-90, aggregating 49,0, were adjusted by the Military Department in the following year, the balance of 21,7 represents the difference charged here to exhibit the full outlay affecting the surplus of the year.

251. Under the group "Non-effective Charges" in India the payments for Rewards for Military Services were swelled by the adjustment under the head of the charges for decorations and medals as mentioned above, while new admissions to the pension establishment and larger payments on account of the capitalised value of officers' pensions enhanced the charges for Pensions to Europeans. There was a large increase in the pensions to Natives also, owing to a change in the system of paying Native Military Pensioners, whereby some are now paid monthly and others quarterly instead of half-yearly as before.

252. In England the increase under Home Charges of British Forces is explained by the payment of a sum of 70,0 on account of arrears of Deferred Pay for the years 1888-89 and 1889-90, which had not been provided for in the Budget. The actuals of the previous year included the payment of larger arrears. The charges for Furlough Allowances show a saving compared with both the Budget and the Actuals of 1889-90, owing to a large number of officers having elected to draw their furlough allowances in India, in consequence of the market rate of exchange being higher than the official rate. Under Stores the actual payments on account of magazine rifles were much less than the amount provided on this account in the Budget. Under "Non-Effective Charges" the growth of the pension charges shown under Retired Pay, etc., has not been as great as in recent years, and the Miscellaneous Pensions are diminishing by degrees.

253. The details of the extra charges for Upper Burma during the year, which amounted to 350,3 against 435,8 in 1889-90, are given below—

254. The decrease of 197,7 on the total expenditure, compared with the actuals of the previous year, was due partly to the rise in the rate of exchange, partly to the delay in supplying guns and other stores from England, and partly to the progress of some projects having been retarded owing to the revision of details. The same causes account for the lapse on the Budget Estimate. The short outlay, as compared with the Revised Estimate, was partly due to the Khyber Pass having been closed for political reasons, which retarded the progress of works in and beyond the Pass, and partly to a payment to the Bombay Port Trust for land having been held in abeyance pending the settlement of the case by arbitration.

255. The short outlay in comparison with the Budget was due to the prosecution of work on certain projects having been delayed, pending either elaboration of schemes or settlement of necessary details prior to commencement of work. In Burma it was found impossible to utilise the grant provided in the Budget for accommodation for a garrison of Royal Artillery at Rangoon. The lapse on the Revised Estimate is small and was mainly due to the blocking of the Khyber Pass having retarded the progress of work, and to the payment for land to the Bombay Port Trust having been deferred pending settlement of the claim by arbitration.

256. In England there was some delay in supplying the guns and other stores.

257. The above figures represent the surplus or deficit of each Provincial Government in respect of the revenues and charges assigned to it, including Incorporated Local Funds. The differences between the Estimates and Accounts under the various revenue and expenditure heads have been explained in detail in the foregoing pages, and the share of these pertaining to the Provincial and Local sections of the accounts for the several groups is given below separately for each province. These details show that the Provincial and Local shares of the Revenues were, on the whole, better than the Budget by 462,2 and 165,6, respectively, and the expenditure more by 47,5 and 21,2, consequently the Provincial and Local balances were better than expected by 462,2—47,5 or 414,7 and 165,6—21,2 or 144,4, respectively. The Budget anticipated that there would be deficits in the Provincial and Local Accounts to the extent of 720,1 and 37,6, respectively, and as there were improvements of 414,7 and 144,4 over the Budget as just shown, the Provincial balances were diminished during the year by 720,1-414,7 or by 305,4, while the Local balances increased by 144,4—37,6 or by 106,8, the net decrease in the Provincial and Local balances taken together being 305,4—106,8 or 198,6. The largest improvement occurred in Bombay, amounting to 214,6. Next come in order Burma, Madras and the Punjab, where the improvements amounted to 154,5, 128,3 and 81,6. The result in Bengal was worse than expected by 122,9, due chiefly to the charges incurred for the newly formed South Lushai Hills District, and to larger expenditure on both Provincial and Local Civil Works.

Section N.—EXPENDITURE NOT CHARGED TO REVENUE.

| 1889-90. Accounts. | | 1890-91. Budget. | Revised. | Accounts. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 3,173,4 | EXPENDITURE . . . . . | 8,445,0 | 8,182,0 | 8,058,2 |

258. These figures comprise the expenditure under the following heads:—

| 1889-90 Accounts. | | 1890-91. Budget. | Revised. | Accounts. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2,794,5 | 48 State Railways . . . . | 3,200,0 | 2,985,0 | 2,881,8 |
| 378,9 | 49 Irrigation Works . . . | 550,0 | 504,4 | 483,8 |
| ... | 50 Redemption of Liabilities . . | 4,695,0 | 4,692,6 | 4,692,6 |

259. The capital outlay in 1890-91 on Railways and Irrigation Works exceeded that of the previous year by 192,2, due to the commencement of construction operations on the Godra Rutlam and East Coast Railways and to the vigorous prosecution of works on the Chenab Canal, the Sirsa Branch of the West Jumna Canal in the Punjab and the Peryar project in Madras. The increase would have been larger but for a write-back from Imperial to signatory states in consequence of the redistribution of the expenditure on the Sirhind Canal in the Punjab between the Imperial Government and native states. The large lapse on the Budget Grant for Capital Expenditure on Railways was due partly to the rise in the rate of Exchange having reduced the charges for Exchange on the Sterling expenditure, partly to the progress of construction on the Mu Valley Railway and the Mianwali Mari Branch of the North Western Railway not having been as rapid as was expected, and partly to the Reserve not having been fully utilised. The lapse on the grant under Irrigation was chiefly due to the postponement of the Cawnpore branch extension of the Lower Ganges Canal and to the requirements of the Orissa Canals having been over-estimated. The charge under Redemption of Liabilities was on account of the purchase of the South Indian Railway.

48.—State Railways—continued.

260. The cost of the Dildarnagar-Ghazipur State Railway was incorporated in 1889-90 in the Capital Account of the East Indian Railway, and several important Capital Works were practically completed in that year. The actuals of 1890-91 accordingly fall short of those of the previous year, while they are less than the Budget and Revised Estimates, owing to short expenditure in England and large issues of stores to Revenue Account. The outlay on the Eastern Bengal Railway fell short of that of the previous year, owing chiefly to the fact that during 1889-90 a large expenditure was incurred on the Budge-Budge Extension, and payment was made to the Port Commissioners for their tramway from Tolly's Nullah to the Akra Junction. The outlay on the Assam-Behar Section was also less owing to construction works having been nearly completed at the close of 1889 90. The sum allotted in the Budget Estimate, however, proved to be insufficient to meet the cost of works found necessary during the year. The lapse on the Revised Estimate was due to payments for land for the Budge-Budge and Raita Extensions not having been made to the extent anticipated, and to short outlay by the Marine Department on a third despatch steamer.

261. The increase in the expenditure on the North Western Railway, compared with the previous year, was due principally to heavier outlay on alteration of gradients between Jhelum and Rawalpindi, on training works to Chenab Bridge at Wazirabad, and on re-grading of the line and additional works in connection with flood damages on the Pishin section; to a payment to the Karachi Tramway Company in connection with the Kiamari Extension Tramway crossing and heavier expenditure on automatic brakes, and to an increase in the balance of stores at the close of 1890-91, due to the receipt of material for 250 covered goods wagons and automatic brake gear. The excesses were, however, partially, counterbalanced by smaller outlay on troop traffic works and by large credits for permanent way obtained from the dismantlement of sidings in connection with the Sukkur Ferryslips and for sale of ferry, winding engines, etc. The increase over the Budget was mainly due to the expenditure on additional flood works on the Pishin section having been larger than anticipated and to the increase in the stores balance just mentioned. The excess over the Revised was due to certain claims against the Chaman extension not having been adjusted during the year and to the value of stores received from England having been in excess of estimate. The Chenab Bridge was practically completed last year. The excess over the Budget was due to a credit on account of stores transferred to the Mianwali Mari Branch Railway having been adjusted in 1889-90 instead of in 1890-91 as was anticipated.

262. As regards the next few lines which were under construction no useful comparison can be made between the expenditure of the two years. The following special points regarding the differences between the Budget Estimates and the actuals need only be noticed. The construction of the Godra Rutlam Railway had not been decided upon when the Budget Estimate was framed. The progress of construction work on the Mu Valley Railway andthe Mianwali Mari Branch of the North Western Railway was not as rapid as was expected. The Chaman extension was completed during the year, but the expenditure on the main tunnel was heavier than expected. As regards the Frontier Railway reserve material the stock was reduced during, 1889-90, owing to withdrawals of material for the Chaman extension. In 1890-91 a larger quantity of material than expected was returned by the Chaman extension on completion of works and a quantity of stores was received from England to complete the stock for which no provision was made in the Budget. The construction of the East Coast Railway was commenced during the year. The lapse on the revised was due to the purchase of sleepers and other stores having been postponed and to a delay in the arrival of material from England.

263. The actuals of 1889-90 under Other Railways included 131,6 on account of the value of the old metre-gauge permanent way material, rolling stock, etc., of the late Nagpur-Chhattisgarh State Railway, which were repurchased by the State from the Bengal Nagpur Railway Company and a credit of 70,6 on account of the cost of the Dildarnagar-Ghazipur Railway transferred to the Capital Account of the East Indian Railway as stated above. There was also an expenditure of 110,6 on the Burma and Toungho Mandalay Railways, the construction work on the latter not having been completed. Excluding these special items, the expenditure in 1889-90 amounted to 59,7 only. In 1890-91 the expenditure has been reduced by special credits on account of the sale of a part of the old Nagpur-Chattisgarh Railway material referred to above and the sale of rolling stock of the Wardha Coal Railway to the Great Indian Peninsula Railway Company, neither of which was allowed for in the Budget; the estimates for some of the Railways were also placed too high.

264. The increase in the outlay during 1890-91 over that of the previous year was due to the vigorous prosecution of works in connection with the Chenab Canal and the Periyar project. The outlay on the Sirsa Branch of the Western Jumna Canal, the works on which were only commenced in 1889-90, also exceeded that of the previous year by 32,9. This increase was nearly counterbalanced by a decrease of 32,7 on the Sirhind Canal, owing to a write-back from Imperial to Contributions of the extra share of the cost of the canal debitable to signatory states in consequence of a redistribution of the expenditure between the Imperial Government and the Native states.

265. The short outlay of 66,2 and 20,6, respectively, as compared with the Budget and Revised Estimates, was chiefly due to the postponement of the Cawnpore Branch extension of the Lower Ganges Canal and to an over-estimate of the requirements of the Orissa Canals. The expenditure on the Periyar project also fell short of the Revised Estimate by 4,2, owing to the non-payment of compensation for lands taken up for works, neglect of contractors, and the cost of drilling machinery from Ceylon not having been advised for adjustment in the accounts for 1890-91.

268. The falling off under Treasury Notes and Service Funds was due to the net receipts on account of the Bengal Uncovenanted Service Family Pension Fund having been over-estimated in the Budget.

269. The details of Savings Bank Deposits are as follows:—

| | Budget. | Revised. | Accounts. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Presidency Savings Banks | —27,3 | —25,0 | —10,3 |
| Post Office Savings Banks | +221,7 | +443,8 | +477,0 |

| Special accounts | +5,2 | +10,6 | +23,3 |
| TOTAL | +259,6 | +493,8 | +553,6 |

270. Under Post Office Savings Banks the Budget was framed in the expectation that the cash deposits and withdrawals would be equal owing to the reduction in the maximum limits for deposits, and that the transactions of the year would result in a net credit of the amount due on account of interest; but the deposits are again increasing. The deposits of State Railway Provident Institutions were under-estimated. The fluctuations under Regimental Savings Banks are dependent to a great extent on the transfers of British Regiments between India and England. The net credit under Special Accounts includes 3,1 on account of the Post Office Life Insurance and Guarantee Funds, which were shown in the Budget under Civil Deposits. There was also an increase in the balances of the General Family Pension and Hindu Family Annuity Funds, as no portion of their balances was invested owing to the high price of Government Promissory notes during the year.

271. The net debit under Provincial balances has been explained in para. 257. The credit under Appropriation for Reduction of Debt is the balance of the Famine Insurance grant not required for expenditure on Famine relief or construction of Protective Works and accordingly charged to Reduction of Debt and then retransferred to credit of Government under this head in relief of borrowing. The transactions of the Excluded Local Funds turned out to be as expected in the estimates. The Political and Railway Funds comprise the Bahu Bagum's Fund and the several Guaranteed Railway Funds. The balance of the Bahu Bagum's fund is being gradually reduced as the pensions payable from the Fund are considerably larger than the interest annually accruing on the balance of the fund, which will be exhausted in 1892-93, and the pensions will then have to be paid by Government and treated as expenditure. Under Railway Funds there was a net credit, owing to a part of the amount deposited on account of surplus profits of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway not having been withdrawn during the year for distribution among the shareholders. The character and magnitude of the transactions recorded as Judicial and Departmental deposits render them unsusceptible of an accurate forecast.

272. The net figures entered against the head Advances may be divided as follows:—

| | Budget. | Revised. | Accounts. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Coinage Accounts . . . . . . . . | —193,3 | —164,6 | —110,4 |
| Other Advances . . . . . . . . | +244,8 | +216,3 | +104,9 |
| | + 51,5 | + 51,7 | — 5,5 |

The net debit under coinage accounts represents chiefly the amount by which the cash balances were reduced during the year owing to the new coins manufactured in the mints having been less than the Mint certificates paid during the year. The actuals under advances include the recovery of a temporary loan of 150,0 granted to a Presidency Bank in the previous year. Under Suspense Accounts there was a credit of 55,0 on account of a Bill of Exchange purchased in the previous year, but this was neutralised by debits on account of increases in the balances in the hands of departmental officers and a special debit of 18,3 in Assam on account of the Agency and Treasury Cash balance looted by the Manipuris in March 1891.

273. The gross receipts and payments working up to the net figures under Exchange on Remittance Accounts are as follows:—

It was anticipated that the net charge brought to account as Expenditure in India, on account of Exchange on sterling transactions, and remittances between India and England, would considerably exceed the Exchange on the Secretary of State's Bills drawn during the year chiefly by reason of a reduction in the Cash Balances of the Home treasury. The actuals show that the balances were considerably enlarged by enhanced drawings by the Secretary of State, and the net charge for Exchange exceeded the Exchange on the drawings of the Secretary of State by a comparatively small amount.

275. The large receipts under Miscellaneous are chiefly on account of the Exchange on the increase in the balance of the Secretary of State's bills which remained unpaid at the end of the year.

277. The payment under Loans to Native States represents a loan granted to the Cambay State in Bombay. Under Loans to Presidency Corporations and Port Trusts the Budget provided for an advance of 553,2 to the Calcutta Port Trust on account of the Kidderpore dock, but only 438,6 was actually required during the year. An advance of 10,0 was made to the Bombay Port Trust for the Victoria Docks, for which no provision was made in the Budget. As regards the recoveries, the repayments by the Bomaby Municipality fell short of the Budget by 12,6.

278. The following are the particulars of the Provincial and Local Loans Account:—

| 1890-91. Budget. Amount advanced. | Amount repaid. | | 1890-91. Accounts. Amount advanced. | Amount repaid. |

| 590,7 | 220,7 | TOTAL AS ABOVE | 511,0 | 235,3 |

279 The estimates of the Loans to Municipalities were generally framed too high, except in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, where the Budget was considerably exceeded. The principal advances made during the year are—

|---|---|
| Nagpur Municipality | 10,0 |
| Dacca " | 9,5 |
| Agra " | 32,6 |
| Allahabad " | 82,4 |
| Dera Ghazi Khan " | 17,7 |
| Ahmedabad " | 37,0 |
| | 189,2 |

280. The 50,2 entered against Port Funds included a loan of 43,9 to the Kurrachee Port Trust and of 6,3 to the Chittagong Port Fund.

281. The 12,2 entered against District Committees was granted to the District Boards of Patna, Dinajpur, and Jalpaiguri in Bengal, and Ahmedabad in Bombay. The Advances to Cultivators were also generally over-estimated, except in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and Madras, where large advances had to be made on account of the scarcity prevailing during the year. The Advances under special Laws represent chiefly the Drainage and Embankment advances in Bengal, which were very much over-estimated in the Budget.

282. As explained in former reports, these are all net sums. The Indian figures represent the difference between the advances taken by the Railway Companies and the credits given to them chiefly on account of stores used on revenue account. The English figures represent the difference between the capital deposited by the Companies with the Secretary of State, and the withdrawals for expenditure on stores, establishment charges, etc. These figures are necessarily liable to great fluctuations.

283. The improvement in the transactions of the Guaranteed Companies in India was due to the withdrawals having been smaller and the credits to capital on account of stores transferred to revenue, except in the case of the Madras Railway, larger than expected. As regards the subsidised Railways, the requirements of all Companies, except the Rohilkhand-Kumaon, appear to have been over-estimated.

284. In England the Budget was framed in the expectation that debentures of the Guaranteed Railways for 1,804,3 would be replaced by fresh capital, but 906,2 of these debentures were renewed. Out of the other receipts expected in the Budget 1,439,7 was postponed till the next year, while 300,0 was received from the Great Indian Peninsula Railway in March 1890 instead of in 1890-91 as expected. A sum of 5,7 was, however, received from the several Railway Companies on account of transfer fees and miscellaneous refunds, for which no allowance had been made in the Budget. The payments on account of stores, etc., were, as usual, over-estimated and fell short of the Budget by 881,0.

285. The figures entered in this group are the net result of very large transactions, but there is nothing special to record in respect of them, except that the money order transactions continued to show an extraordinarily rapid growth, as will be clear from the following figures :—

| | | Issued. | Paid. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1886-87 | Money order transactions | 10,538,9 | 10,519,1 |
| 1887-88 | | 11,665,7 | 11,660,7 |

Section U.—SECRETARY OF STATE'S BILLS.

| | 1890-91. Budget. | Revised. | Accounts |

| Payments | 14,921,9 | 14,961,6 | 14,471,7 |

286. The following are the amounts of bills and transfers drawn during the year by the Secretary of State:—

| | £ | Rx. | Rate in Pence. |
|---|---|---|---|
| April 1890 | 2,904,0 | 3,996,2 | 17·44 |
| May " | 1,448,0 | 1,951,3 | 17·81 |
| June " | 970,3 | 1,276,5 | 18·24 |
| July " | 950,8 | 1,216,5 | 18·75 |
| August " | 995,3 | 1,198,0 | 19·93 |
| September " | 814,9 | 958,3 | 20·40 |
| October " | 852,1 | 1,078,3 | 18·96 |
| November " | 835,2 | 1,121,0 | 17·88 |
| December " | 1,136,9 | 1,486,3 | 18·35 |
| January 1891 | 1,444,6 | 1,886,5 | 18·37 |
| February " | 1,533,3 | 2,107,6 | 17·46 |
| March " | 2,083,6 | 2,910,4 | 17·18 |
| | 15,969,0 | 21,186,9 | 18·08 |

287. There being a good demand the Secretary of State increased his drawings considerably with a view to reduce the amount to be sold in the next year.

288. The payment account of the year is as follows:—

| | £ | Rx. |
|---|---|---|
| Bills of 1889-90 outstanding on 1st April 1890 | 50,7 | 71,3 |
| Bills drawn in 1890-91 as entered above | 15,969,0 | 21,186,9 |
| Total bills for payment | 16,019,7 | 21,258,2 |
| Bills paid in 1890-91 | 14,471,7 | 19,094,6 |
| Bills outstanding on 1st April 1891 | 1,548,0 | 2,163,6 |

Towards the end of the year the demand for telegraphic transfers fell off and the drawings were principally by bills. The amount outstanding at the end of the year was consequently very large.

Section V.—CASH BALANCE.

| | 1890-91. Budget. | Revised. | Accounts. |
|---|---|---|---|
| BALANCE ON 1ST APRIL 1890— | | | |

| Increase (+) or decrease (-) of balance on 31st March 1891 | −3,854,2 | +177,9 | +1,559,6 |

289. The above difference is distributed between India and England in the following proportions:—

| | 1890-91. Budget. | Revised. | Accounts. |
|---|---|---|---|
| India | −1,502,8 | +2,048,3 | +3,127,4 |
| England | −2,351,4 | −1,870,4 | −1,567,8 |
| TOTAL | −3,854,2 | +177,9 | +1,559,6 |

290. Taking India and England together the net transactions of the year were better than expected by the unusually large sum of 5,413,8. The variations which brought about this result are as follows:—

| | Better. | Worse. |
|---|---|---|
| Improvement in Imperial Surplus | 3,417,8 | |
| " " Provincial Deficit | 559,1 | |
| Decrease in Capital Expenditure | 386,8 | |

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weather Review of India for the week ending at 8 a.m. on Saturday, February 27th, 1892

During the earlier portion of the week under review the general characteristics of the weather were the same as those during the previous week, i.e., fairly uniform pressures generally with slight depressions passing from west to east across Northern and Central India. On the 23rd, however, an interruption occurred. The barometer rose briskly over Sind and a high pressure area appeared, which subsequently spread over the whole of North-Western and Central India. This anti-cyclonic distribution held during the 23rd and 24th, but on the 25th a well-defined depression was shown in the north-west of the Punjab, whence it travelled slowly south-eastward to the North-Western Provinces. This depression was succeeded by a rapid barometric rise and anti-cyclonic conditions re-appeared over North-Western India.

The chart of the 21st showed an irregular distribution of pressure. Readings were high in the north-west of the Punjab and in Guzerat and low over the western desert and over Bengal and Behar. The pressure differences were, however, generally small. The wind directions exhibited no important features. Light or moderate showers of rain were reported from Assam, from Colombo, and from Murree. On the 22nd the general distribution of pressure was practically unaltered and continued rather irregular. The depression over the western desert continued and the low pressure area over Bengal had intensified somewhat, while readings were relatively high over the north of the Punjab, over Guzerat and over Tenasserim. The winds were little changed. Showers of rain were reported from a large part of the Punjab, from Bikanir, from Assam and from Burdwan. The amounts received were generally less than one-tenth of an inch. The chart of the 23rd showed that a large high pressure area had appeared over North-Western India, and that the depression over the western desert had broken up. Over Bengal, on the contrary, the low pressure area had again intensified, and in consequence gradients were moderately steep between North-Western and North-Eastern India. The winds were very generally north-east over the western half of India and feebly cyclonic over North-Eastern India. Showers, generally of less than one-tenth of an inch, were reported from Murree, Jeypore, Agra, Bhamo and Colombo. The chart of the 24th showed that the barometer had risen over Bengal and fallen over the Indus Valley, so that though the main features of the pressure distribution were unaltered the barometric difference was less. The winds remained fairly generally notherly over the western half of India and feebly cyclonic over North-Eastern India. Light showers of rain were reported from Srinagar, Murree, Sialkote, Lahore, and Bhamo, and 1¼ inches from Silchar. On the morning of the 25th the chart showed a well-defined depression over the North-West Himalayas and the plains at their foot, while readings were high over the central parts of the country. In Bengal the barometer had risen briskly to rapidly, and the previously existing low pressure area had disappeared. The winds were cyclonic over the Punjab and neighbouring districts and were rather variable elsewhere. The force was high at Murree. A snow-storm was reported from Murree and light rain showers from Chittagong, Sibsagar, Rawalpindi and Colombo. By the morning of the 26th the depression which on the 25th lay near Rawalpindi had reached the west of the North-Western Provinces and the barometer had fallen briskly over the North-West and Central Provinces. In the rear of the depression the barometer had risen rapidly and a large high pressure area had been formed over the Punjab and Sind. Northerly winds prevailed over a large part of North-Western India and variable breezes elsewhere. Slight snow had continued to fall at Murree, where the wind remained very strong, and light rain was reported from Wellington and Cochin. By the 27th the low pressure had reached Bengal where the barometer had fallen quickly, while the barometer had continued to rise quickly over North-Western India. In consequence the barometric difference between North-Western and North-Eastern India had increased and the anti-cyclonic conditions over North-Western India had considerably intensified. The winds showed a strong outset from the high pressure area and a fairly strong indraught towards the low pressure area. The weather was fine and the only rainfall was a light shower at Simla, Colombo, Wellington, Berhampore and Darbhanga.

Temperature.—The warm weather which was general throughout India during the preceding week continued during the first three days of the present week, but on the 24th, due in part to the rainfall and in part to cool northerly winds, the mean temperature fell below the normal in most provinces.

The following table shows the variations of the mean temperature from the normal on each day of the week for the principal provinces of India:—

| PROVINCE. | 21st. | 22nd. | 23rd. | 24th. | 25th | 26th. | 27th. | Mean variation of week. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Burma . . . . | —1·8 | —0 8 | —0·3 | +0 2 | +0·5 | —0 8 | —2·1 | —0·7 |
| Bengal and Assam . . | +3·4 | +3 3 | +2·8 | +2 2 | —2 3 | 3 1 | -0·1 | +0·8 |
| North-Western Provinces and Oudh . . . . | +3·1 | +1·9 | +0·9 | —1·8 | —4·7 | —2·8 | —2·9 | —0·9 |
| Punjab . . . . | +2·3 | +2·3 | —1·1 | —2·3 | —0·9 | —7 0 | - 8 1 | —2 1 |
| Bombay . . . . | +0·8 | —0·4 | —0·6 | —1 5 | —1·2 | —0·1 | —1·3 | —0 6 |
| Berar and Central Provinces | +4·2 | +1·9 | +0·9 | —2·7 | —4·2 | —2·7 | —2·2 | —0·7 |
| Guzerat and Central India . | +2·5 | +0·9 | —0·4 | —3·4 | —5·7 | —2 9 | —4·6 | —1·9 |
| Sind and Rajputana . . | +3·5 | +4 0 | +0·5 | —3·2 | —2·2 | —2 1 | —6 7 | —0·9 |
| Madras . . . . | —0 6 | —0·7 | +0·7 | +1·6 | +2·0 | +2 0 | +2·4 | +1·1 |
| MEAN FOR WHOLE INDIA . | +1·9 | +1·4 | +0·4 | —1 2 | —2·1 | —2·2 | —2 8 | —0·7 |

From the above figures it will be seen that on the mean of the week there was for the whole of India an average diurnal deficiency of 0°·7.

For the first three days the normal average was exceeded by steadily decreasing amounts and for the last four days the normal average was not reached by steadily increasing amounts.

The provincial variations are almost everywhere small, but in all provinces, except Bengal and Madras, the mean temperature is in defect of the average. It is interesting to notice that, while the general temperature of India was higher than usual, the mean temperature over Burma and Madras was lower, and that, when the general temperature of India fell below the normal, the means for Burma and Madras rose above the normal.

Rainfall.—In the earlier paragraphs the daily distribution of rainfall has been described. The fall occurred principally as light scattered showers, which fell mainly in North-West, North-East and Southern India, the more central parts of the country escaping. The concluding table of the summary shows that of the fifty-two rainfall divisions, nineteen received some rain during the week, but in no less than seventeen of these divisions the average fall for the division did not exceed one-tenth of an inch. East Bengal received an average for the district for the week of ¼th inch of rain; Cachar 1⅛th inch, and Madras (South) $\frac{1}{10}$th of an inch. In the other districts the average fall was insignificant. The regions where rain fell included the Assam divisions, East, Deltaic and Central Bengal divisions, Chota Nagpur, North Oudh, all the Punjab divisions, Malabar, Madras (South-Central and South), the East Coast (South), Sind and Rajputana (East), except in East Bengal and Cachar even where rain was reported the fall was deficient.

The concluding columns of the table which show the actual and average rainfall from January 3rd to date exhibit no important change as compared with last week. In the Assam Valley, in the east, centre and west of the North-Western Provinces, in the south of the Punjab, in Madras (South-Central), in the central division of the Central Provinces, in Central India and in Rajputana (East), the actual rainfall for the period mentioned above has been in excess of the average, but in all other divisions it has been short, though in Chota Nagpur and the Central Punjab the deficiency is unimportant. Over a large part of Burma and of the centre, west and head of the Peninsula there has been no rain.

PART I.

IMPERIAL REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE.

Preliminary.

Part I of the Financial Statement of 1892-93 deals with Imperial Revenue and Expenditure only.

The object of dealing with Imperial Revenue and Expenditure in a separate section of the Statement is to render it possible to present in brief compass an intelligible outline of the financial position of the Government of India.

Those who wish for further information regarding Imperial, Provincial, or Local Finance will find it in Part II.

2. The financial transactions of the Government of India will, as usual, be considered under the following heads:—

(1) The accounts of the financial year 1890-91, which have been finally closed;

(2) The Revised Estimate of the financial year 1891-92, which ends on 31st instant;

(3) The Budget Estimate of the coming year—1892-93.

Section I.—Accounts of 1890-91.

3. The Budget Estimate of 1890-91 showed a surplus of Rx. 270,400.

The Revised Estimate of the same year, issued in March last, showed a surplus of Rx. 2,787,100, and it was said at the time that the Final Accounts would show a further improvement.

This expectation has been realised, and the Accounts of 1890-91 have closed with the very substantial surplus of Rx. 3,688,171.

Foremost among the causes which have contributed to the great surplus of 1890-91 must be placed the rise in Exchange which took place during the year. The average rate of the year was 1*s*. 6·089*d*. as against a Budget Estimate of 1*s*. 4·55*d*., and fully one-half of the total surplus was due to this cause alone.

The total Imperial Revenue received in India proved to be almost the same as in the Budget Estimate, for, though there was a fairly satisfactory growth of general Revenue during the year, it was largely counterbalanced by some falling off in Opium Revenue and by other reductions of income which I need not specify in detail.

In Expenditure incurred in India the Accounts show an improvement over the Budget of Rx. 808,356, due mainly to reduction of Expenditure in the Railway Account (Rx. 481,850), short Expenditure on Special Defences (Rx. 173,402), and a poor opium crop (Rx. 123,620).

In England there was an improvement in Revenue of £146,509, due to special causes, and a reduction in Expenditure of £350,925, of which £141,230 was under Special Defences, and £179,975 was under Army, and was due to short supply of magazine rifles. In both cases, therefore, the saving was a mere postponement of a charge which must be incurred sooner or later.

4. I have dwelt upon the facts stated in the preceding paragraphs in order to make it clear that the large surplus of 1890-91 did not indicate what may be called the permanent financial position of the Government of India at the close of that year, and I think it necessary to do so because it has been urged in some quarters that, with so large a surplus, the Government of India should have reduced taxation or undertaken other fiscal reforms of an important nature.

The surplus of 1890-91 was not a surplus which could be expected to recur in future years. The rise in Exchange, which gave half that surplus, has been lost, and a further fall has taken place which adds at least Rx. 700,000 more to the expenditure of the Government of India. The special receipts of 1890-91 affected only the income of that year, and the temporary saving arising from a poor opium crop and from short expenditure on Special Defences, and on the purchase of magazine rifles, did not indicate any improvement in the financial position.

Section II.—Revised Estimate of 1891-92.

5. From what I have just said it will be understood that no important remission of taxation or other great fiscal reform involving a serious sacrifice of Revenue was possible in the Financial Statement of 1891-92. Exchange was taken for 1891-92 at 1*s.* 5¼*d.* the rupee, and the Government of India were able to show a small surplus of Rx. 115,600 in the Budget Estimate, after setting aside an additional sum of Rx. 448,000 in order to raise the Famine Grant to the full amount of Rx. 1,500,000.

The Revised Estimate for 1891-92 now shows a deficit of Rx. 80,000 as against the surplus of Rx. 115,600 shown in the Budget Estimate; and though no doubt the Final Accounts will show an improvement, and it is more than probable that we shall yet secure equilibrium, it is clear that if any considerable remission of taxation had been made last year, the Government of India would now have had to face a serious deficit. In comparison with the total Revenue and total Expenditure, the difference between a surplus of Rx. 115,600 and a deficit of Rx. 80,000 is of little importance, as in both cases practical equilibrium between Revenue and Expenditure is secured. But although the Revised Estimate gives almost the same net result as the Budget Estimate, the year 1891-92 is remarkable, even in Indian finance, for the wide departures from the figures of the Budget Estimate that have occurred under particular heads.

6. In explaining how an estimated surplus of Rx. 115,600 has been converted into a deficit of Rx. 80,000, it will be convenient to take net figures for Opium and under the Railway Revenue Account, and for Army; that is, in the case of Opium, Expenditure will be deducted from Revenue and only net Revenue shown, and in the case of Army I shall deduct Receipts from Expenditure and show only net Expenditure. Other Heads of Revenue and Expenditure will be taken gross.

In dealing with each head of the Accounts I shall also, as far as possible, exclude variations due to Exchange, and I shall show Exchange as a separate item of the Account.

7. Among the favourable influences of the year, the foremost place must be assigned to the increase of Railway Traffic and consequently of net Revenue from Railways. In the Budget it was estimated that under the Imperial portion of the Railway Revenue Account there would be a net receipt of Rx 6,071,600 in India, and a net Expenditure of £5,689,800 in England. The corresponding figures of the Revised Estimate are Rx. 7,394,000 and £5,652,000, showing improvements of Rx. 1,322,400 and £37,800 respectively. These figures exclude the effect of the fall in Exchange, which, as I have said, will be dealt with separately. If the effect of the fall in Exchange on the Railway Revenue Account be taken into account, the total improvement is reduced to Rx. 1,122,400.

The increase of Revenue from Railways is largely due to increased exports of wheat and seeds. The following figures show the increase in the export of these articles that took place in the first ten months of the present year as compared with past years:—

| | Wheat. Cwt. | Seeds. Cwt. |
|---|---|---|
| 1889-90 (10 months) | 12,876,000 | 13,869,000 |
| 1890-91 ( „ ) | 12,926,000 | 11,940,000 |
| 1891-92 ( „ ) | 27,135,000 | 16,303,000 |

8. The net Revenue from Opium has increased by Rx. 821,500 minus £300; this is not an unmixed gain, even from the financial point of view, as Rx. 388,800 of the increase is due to another short crop.

9. For some years we have been in the habit of expecting a steady increase of receipts every year under certain Principal Heads of Revenue, but, unfortunately, in the current year the important head of Land Revenue shows a falling off, due to scarcity in certain Provinces; the Revenue under Salt, Stamps, and Excise has, however, shown the usual rate of growth.

The falling off in the Imperial share of Land Revenue comes to Rx. 657,000, though the total falling off (Imperial, Provincial, and Local) is only Rx. 518,800. This somewhat singular result is due to the fact that adjustments between the Government of India and the various Local Governments are made through the medium of the Land Revenue Head. In the current year the Government of India have made certain payments to Bengal which were not provided for in the Budget, and which have had the effect of transferring Rx. 162,300 of Land Revenue from Imperial to Provincial. Similar payments, but of much smaller amounts, have also been made to other Provinces.

| | Increase. Rx. |
|---|---|
| Salt | 282,100 |
| Stamps | 21,100 |
| Excise | 104,700 |
| TOTAL | Rx. 407,900 |

The increase of Revenue in England, excluding Army, Opium, and the Railway Revenue Account, in respect of which I take net figures, is £33,900, and the increase of Revenue in India, excluding the heads in respect to which net figures are taken, and also Land Revenue, Salt, Stamps, Excise, which are dealt with separately, is Rx. 188,200. The head which chiefly contributes to this result being Telegraph, under which there is an increase of Rx. 137,800 in Indian receipts.

11. The total increase of Revenue in England and India may then be calculated as follows:—

| | Rx. | | £ |
|---|---|---|---|
| Railways (net) | 1,322,400 | plus | 37,800 |
| Opium (net) | 821,500 | minus | 300 |
| Salt | 282,100 | | |
| Stamps | 21,100 | | |
| Excise | 104,700 | | |
| Other Heads, excluding Army and Land Revenue | 188,200 | plus | 33,900 |
| TOTAL | Rx. 2,740,000 | plus | £71,400 |

Against this increase must be set a falling off of Rx. 657,000 under Land Revenue. Deducting this amount from the figures just stated, the resulting improvement is Rx. 2,083,000, plus £71,400.

12. Of the unfavourable influences affecting the Indian finances during the current year, the chief was increased Expenditure under Army.

In the Budget the net Expenditure in India under Army was taken at Rx. 13,815,500 and in England at £4,625,500. These figures have been increased in the Revised Estimate by Rx. 1,095,500 and £123,100 respectively.

13. The increase of Military Expenditure in India was chiefly due to Frontier Expeditions and to the sanction of certain measures considered necessary for the efficiency of the Army.

The Budget Estimate of 1891-92 provided Rx. 155,000 for Expeditions. During the year further Expenditure on Expeditions was sanctioned to the amount of Rx. 720,000:—

| | Rx. |
|---|---|
| Chin-Lushai Expedition | 50,000 |
| Manipur operations | 300,000 |
| Wuntho Expedition | 50,000 |
| Hazara " | 60,000 |
| Meranzai " | 140,000 |
| Cold weather operations in Burma | 120,000 |
| TOTAL | Rx. 720,000 |

It is characteristic of the uncertainties of Indian Finance that in last Financial Statement I should have called attention to what I then considered the high scale of Expenditure on Frontier Expeditions of Rx. 374,400 in 1888-89, of Rx. 421,000 in 1889-90, and of Rx. 352,600 in the Revised Estimate of 1890-91, and expressed a hope that Expenditure of this nature was about to fall off.

A grant of Rx. 80,000 was also sanctioned during the year for additional transport mules, and Rx. 52,100 for additional remounts and ordnance mules, while the Revised Estimate for 1891-92 provides Rx. 213,400 under Army for Expenditure in India on preparations to facilitate mobilization.

14. The excess in the Home Expenditure under Army is due to the payment of £211,000 not provided for in the Budget, being arrears and increase of effective charges on account of British Forces serving in India, reduced by savings under other heads.

15. Putting on one side the Expenditure under Opium, the Railway Account, and Army, in respect to which we have found it more convenient to deal with net figures, the increase of gross Expenditure shown in the Revised Estimate amounts to Rx. 222,200 in India and £127,000 in England. With regard to the increase of Expenditure in India, I need only explain that it is the net result of a number of increases and decreases which individually are not of very great magnitude.

The chief increases are Rx. 51,700 under Political, Rx. 138,000 under Famine Relief and Insurance, Rx. 48,200 under Irrigation, Rx. 80,900 under Military Works, and Rx. 65,900 under Civil Works. And the chief decreases are Rx. 74,900 under Police, and Rx. 60,600 under Special Defences. These items of increase and decrease are explained in Part II, which, it should be recollected, deals with Provincial and Local Revenue and Expenditure as well as with Imperial Revenue and Expenditure.

In England the chief increase in Expenditure has been £232,000 under Interest, and the chief decrease £175,500 under Special Defences. The increase is due to the Secretary of State having issued India Stock at a discount, which has thrown a charge of £255,000 on the Revenue of the year. The decrease under Special Defences is, as usual, a mere postponement of Expenditure.

16. Bringing together the whole of the items of Revenue and Expenditure with which I have just dealt, and still continuing to exclude Exchange, we get the following result:—

| | | Rx. | | £ |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Improvement shown in paragraph 11 . | | 2,083,000 | plus | 71,400 |
| Deduct— | | | | |
| Increased Expenditure under Army . | Rx. 1,095,500 plus £123,100 | | | |
| Increased Expenditure, excluding Expenditure under Opium, Railways, and Army . . | Rx. 222,200 plus £127,000 | | | |
| | | 1,317,700 | plus | 250,100 |
| | Balance . . | Rx. 765,300 | minus | £ 178,700 |

The sum of Rx. 765,300 in rupees very considerably exceeds £178,700 in sterling, and we thus see that, notwithstanding the great increase of Military Expenditure and the falling off in Land Revenue, the Revised Estimate gives a result which shows a satisfactory improvement over the Budget Estimate if Exchange be excluded.

17. There now remains Exchange to be dealt with.

The increase of net Expenditure on this account is Rx. 782,200, partly due to increased Sterling Expenditure, but mainly to the average value of the rupee having proved to be 1*s*. 4·713*d*. instead of 1*s*. 5¼*d*., the rate taken in the Budget Estimate.

Deducting from the increased Expenditure under Exchange, the figures at the end of the preceding paragraph, we find the Revised Estimate to be worse than the Budget by Rx. 178,700* plus Rx. 16,900 (782,200 minus 765,300), or Rx. 195,600. As the Budget Estimate showed a surplus of Rx. 115,600, a deterioration of this magnitude brings out a deficit of Rx. 80,000, being Rx. 195,600 minus Rx. 115,600.

18. The whole case may then be stated briefly and with sufficient accuracy in the following manner:—

The Railway Revenue Account and Opium, Salt, Stamps, Excise, and other Heads of minor importance, have given an improvement in 1891-92 over the Budget Estimate of not much less than three crores of rupees.

Of this improvement 1¼ crores have been balanced by increased Military Expenditure; the fall in Exchange and reduction in Land Revenue account for nearly 1½ crores more, and increased Expenditure under Heads of minor importance in England and India, is sufficient to do rather more than swallow up the remainder of the improvement, thus converting a surplus of Rx. 115,600 into a deficit of Rx. 80,000.

Section III.—Budget Estimate of 1892-93.

19. In the Financial Statement for 1891-92, I made the following remarks:—

"So far as can be judged, our financial position during the next two years depends on two factors—Military Expenditure and Exchange. It is of great importance to the

* On making the adjustment for Exchange, the sterling symbol (£) is changed to Rx.

Indian finances that Exchange should not fall materially below the present rate for a year or two, that is, until we have experienced some relief from the heavy Military charges which we are now bearing. If Exchange falls materially within the next year or two, we may find ourselves in a difficult position, though I believe the difficulties would prove to be only temporary."

Since this passage was written Exchange has fallen heavily, and in the Budget Estimate for the coming year a rate of 1*s.* 4*d.* the rupee has been taken as against 1*s.* 5¼*d.* in the Budget Estimate of the current year. It would be a tedious process to calculate the exact loss due to this heavy fall, but for present purposes it will be sufficient to take it, in round figures, at Rx. 1,708,000. The sterling expenditure of the coming year is almost the same as the estimated sterling expenditure of 1891-92, and yet the net charge of the columns headed " Exchange " has increased by no less than Rx. 1,708,000.

On the other hand, there has been no reduction in total Military Expenditure as the following figures will show:—

| | Budget, 1891-92. | | Budget, 1892-93. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Rx. | £ | Rx. | £ |
| Military Works (net) . . | 1,075,400 | 8,200 | 1,084,100 | 38,400 |
| Army (net) . . . . | 13,815,500 | 4,625,500 | 14,325,000 | 4,556,300 |
| Special Defences . . . | 360,000 | 350,000 | 270,900 | 229,100 |

20. The difficulty which I foresaw twelve months ago has, therefore, come upon us, and the problem of the Budget of 1892-93 has been the overcoming of that difficulty. If we have not succeeded in dealing with it in a wholly satisfactory manner, we have at least done better than could have been hoped this time last year, and the Budget Estimate of 1892-93 shows a surplus of Rx. 146,600.

21. In explaining how this result has been obtained, I shall take as starting point the Budget Estimate of 1891-92, and a comparison of the figures of that Estimate with the figures of the Estimate for 1892-93 will show how the loss of Rx. 1,708,000, due to the fall in Exchange from 1*s.* 5¼*d.* to 1*s.* 4*d.*, has been covered and equilibrium between Revenue and Expenditure secured.

22. In the first place I may say at once that in the comparatively small item of sterling receipts in England there is not much difference between the Budget of 1891-92 and the Budget of 1892-93, there being merely a reduction from £212,600 to £200,800, or by £11,800; as there is an increase of £2,100 in receipts under Army, the decrease, excluding Army, is £13,900.

23. Under Principal Heads of Revenue (excluding Opium) there is an increase of Revenue amounting to no less than Rx. 1,091,600. This large increase is due partly to substantial increases under Salt, Excise, and Forests, but above all to an increase of Rx. 673,800 under Land Revenue. The latter figure requires special explanation.

The current Provincial Contracts terminate on 31st March 1892. They have lately been revised and continued for another period of five years, and the revision has been made in such manner as to give the Government of India additional Revenue to the amount of Rx. 466,300 yearly, and, I regret to say, as a necessary consequence, to contract the resources of the Local Governments by an equal amount. It is no doubt satisfactory that Local Governments should have been in a position to make a contribution to the resources of the Empire at a period of pressure, and thus, possibly, avoid the necessity of imposing further taxation. But it would have been still more satisfactory if the Government of India had been in a position to allow them to retain the whole or the greater portion of this amount for expenditure on the improvement of the internal administration of the several Provinces of India. This adjustment in favour of the Government of India increases the Imperial share of the Land Revenue by Rx. 466,300. The amount so withdrawn may seem large, but as the total increase of Provincial Revenue during the last five years has been Rx. 2,042,700, it follows that the Government of India have now withdrawn only 23 per cent. of the increase of the last five years, leaving the remaining 77 per cent. for expenditure by Local Governments.

The Imperial share of Land Revenue in the coming year has also been increased by ordinary growth of Revenue and by postponements of Revenue collections from the current year in consequence of drought and scarcity. As has already been stated, the total increase of the Imperial share of Land Revenue due to all causes is Rx. 673,800.

24. Net Opium Revenue for 1892-93 is taken at Rx. 81,200 above the Budget Estimate for 1891-92; although the price of the drug has risen and the expenditure is expected to be somewhat less than the average, the short crops of recent years have told on the Opium Reserve, and the quantity to be sold has already been reduced by a Notification in the Gazette of India dated 26th June 1891.

25. The Receipts from Interest in India, less the corresponding Expenditure, have increased by Rx. 238,100; this very satisfactory result is due to our not having borrowed in recent years, and to the investment of another crore of the Paper Currency Reserve.

In England the charge for Interest is reduced by £11,500.

26. The net Receipts in India from the Railway Revenue Account are estimated to increase by Rx. 606,700, while the increase of sterling expenditure in England under the same head is £51,800.

27. Excluding the Principal Heads of Revenue, Interest, and the Railway Revenue Account, with which we have already dealt, and also the Revenue under the Heads of Military Works and Army, with which I shall deal hereafter, there is an increase of Revenue in India, under various Heads, of Rx. 375,700.

Excluding Expenditure under Interest, Opium, and the Railway Revenue Account, and Military Expenditure of all kinds (Military Works, Army, and Special Defences), there is an increase of Expenditure in India which amounts to Rx. 235,100, and in England of £95,700.

28. Net Military Expenditure of all kinds in India has increased by Rx. 429,100, of which Rx. 205,000 is due to the calculation of the pay of the British soldier serving in India at a lower rate of Exchange. In England the net Expenditure under Military Works has increased by £30,200 and decreased under Special Defences by £120,900, and under Army by £69,200, giving a net decrease of £159,900 in Military Expenditure of all kinds.

29. Bringing together the different items with which we have just dealt, we get the following result:—

| GAIN. | Rx. | | £ |
|---|---|---|---|
| Revision of Provincial Contracts . | 466,300 | | |
| Ordinary increase under Principal Heads of Revenue, excluding Opium . | 625,300 | | |
| Increase in net Opium Revenue . | 81,200 | minus | 100 |
| Increase under the Railway Revenue Account . . . . . . | 606,700 | minus | 51,800 |
| Improvement under Interest in India, net . . . . . . . | 238,100 | | |
| Reduction of Interest charge in England . . . . . . | ... | | 11,500 |
| Increase of Revenue under various Heads in India . . . . . | 375,700 | | |
| Reduction of net Military Expenditure in England (Military Works, Army, and Special Defences). . . . | ... | | 159,900 |
| TOTAL . Rx. | 2,393,300 | plus | £119,500 |

| Loss. | Rx. | | £ |
|---|---|---|---|
| Increase of net Military Expenditure in India . . . . . . | 429,100 | | |
| Reduction in sterling Receipts in England (excluding Military Receipts) . | ... | | 13,900 |
| Increase of Expenditure under various Heads . . . . . . . | 235,100 | plus | 95,700 |
| TOTAL . Rx | 664,200 | plus | £109,600 |

Deducting the loss from the gain, we get a net gain of Rx. 1,729,100 plus £9,900.

30. On the other side must be put the net loss by Exchange, which, as I have said, amounts to Rx. 1,708,000 It follows that the Budget Estimate of 1892-93 is better than that of 1891-92 by Rx. 21,100 (1,729,100—1,708,000) plus Rx. 9,900,* or Rx. 31,000 in all. As the surplus of the Budget Estimate of 1891-92 was Rx. 115,600, and as the Budget Estimate of the coming year is, on the whole, better by Rx. 31,000, the estimated surplus of 1892-93 is Rx. 146,600, being Rx. 115,600 plus Rx. 31,000.

31. The manner in which the very heavy charge of Rx. 1,708,000, which falls on the finances next year in connection with Exchange, has been met, may now be stated in a few words.

The additional charge of Rx. 1,708,000 on account of Exchange has been met almost entirely by contributions from Local Governments (Rx. 466,300), by increase of Revenue under Principal Heads (Rx. 625,300), and by growth of Railway Revenue (Rx. 606,700 minus £51,800); there has also been a substantial improvement under Interest in India owing to our having been able to avoid borrowing for some time, and to increase of the Paper Currency Investment by one crore of rupees.

Net Military Expenditure of all kinds is somewhat heavier, and net Opium Revenue is slightly better, for 1892-93 than for 1891-92, while the growth of Revenue under various Heads, not of the first importance, almost exactly balances the growth of other Expenditure in England and India.

Section IV.—Prospects of the Immediate Future.

32. In the Financial Statements of the last three years I have dwelt at some length on the general financial position of Government as it presented itself to me at the time, and have endeavoured to indicate the prospects of the immediate future.

Thus, in the Financial Statement for 1889-90, after a series of years of deficit, I ventured to predict that our financial difficulties were, for the time, at an end.

This forecast was amply justified, as the Accounts of the year 1889-90 gave a surplus of Rx. 2,612,000, though the sum of Rx. 460,255 had been set aside with a view to begin the restoration of the Famine Grant to its full amount of Rx. 1,500,000.

In the Financial Statement for the succeeding year, 1890-91, I looked forward to still further improvement, but expressed the opinion that 1890-91 was not likely to prove so prosperous, from a financial point of view, as 1889-90.

In point of fact, the Accounts of 1890-91 now show a larger surplus (Rx. 3,688,100) than that obtained in the preceding year; but the greater portion of this surplus was due to what has proved to be a speculative rise in Exchange and to other accidental causes, and all that can be said of 1890-91 is that it was a year of, on the whole, satisfactory financial progress.

* The sterling symbol (£) is altered to Rx. when the adjustment for Exchange is made.

33. As the result of two years' financial prosperity, the Government of India were able to restore the Famine Grant to its full amount of Rx. 1,500,000 in the Budget of 1891-92; but I pointed out, that while there were encouraging features in the position, there was also some danger of financial difficulties arising from a fall in Exchange taking place before Military Expenditure of a special character was reduced.

The difficulties to which I drew attention have actually come upon us, and we have had, besides, in the current year, a considerable loss of Land Revenue owing to drought and scarcity.

We should have had to face a heavy deficit in 1891-92 but for a remarkable increase in Railway Revenue, and considerable improvement under Opium. As it is, the Revised Estimate of 1891-92 shows a deficit of Rx. 80,000; but I have little doubt that improvement will yet take place, and that the Accounts of 1891-92 will close with a moderate surplus.

34. Although the three forecasts which I have ventured to make of the progress of Indian Revenue and Expenditure have, considering the nature of the subject, proved fairly accurate, I must admit that the result which I anticipated was sometimes not attained in the way I expected. For example, I had expected that the expenditure on Special Defences would, by this time, have come to an end, and this hope would have been fulfilled if the works could have been constructed and the armament provided as rapidly as the money was forthcoming. Unfortunately this has not proved to be the case, and the Estimates of the coming year are burdened with a charge of Rx. 614,500 on account of Special Defences, and a similar charge must be borne for another year or two. I could give other instances in which I have been disappointed, but what I have said is sufficient to show the necessity for caution in forecasts regarding Indian Revenue and Expenditure.

35. The circumstances of to-day are such as to make special caution necessary.

Exchange has fallen heavily and rapidly, and though now steady it is impossible to conjecture whether the next move will be upwards or downwards.

Railway receipts have largely increased in the current year, and for 1892-93 we have calculated on retaining a portion of this improvement; but no one can at present say whether Railway traffic is likely to be heavy or the reverse in 1892-93.

The price of Opium, after falling very low, has risen suddenly and rapidly, but it is impossible to say how long this rise will be maintained.

Above all, certain portions of the country are suffering from drought and scarcity, and already the collections on account of Land Revenue have shown some falling off. The extension of Railways in recent years has greatly reduced the risks from famine, and if the periodical rains, which are due about June next in the affected tracts of Madras, Bombay, and Upper Burma, in Rajputana and Behar, are received in due season, and are not insufficient, we shall in all probability have nothing worse than severe scarcity to meet. On the other hand, if the rains are delayed or are insufficient in the tracts in question, scarcity may deepen into famine, and the loss of Revenue and increase of Expenditure that must follow such a calamity cannot be calculated. Meteorological conditions, I understand, are not unfavourable at present for the occurrence of a timely monsoon.

36. Under the circumstances just stated, I refrain from making a forecast of probable financial progress during the coming year, and must content myself with saying that, putting aside the possibility of the occurrence of famine, there is, to the best of my judgment, no ground at this moment for any special anxiety regarding 1892-93. The Currency question, however, appears to be approaching the acute stage, and it is impossible to foresee what may happen in this connection within the next few years.

PART II.

IMPERIAL, PROVINCIAL, AND LOCAL REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE.

Section I.—Accounts of 1890-91.

37. The Revised Estimate for the year 1890-91, published in March last, showed a surplus of Rx. 2,787,100. In August the Under-Secretary of State for India announced in Parliament that the surplus would be nearly Rx. 900,000 in excess of that sum. The Accounts of the year show a surplus of Rx. 3,688,171.

38. Explanations of the variations under the several heads will be found in the Appropriation Report, published in the Gazette of India of the 12th March. The following statement gives a general comparison of the Revised Estimates with the Accounts of the year:—

| | Revised Estimate. | Accounts. | Accounts, Better. | Accounts, Worse. |

| REVENUE. | | | | |
| India . . . . . . . Rx. | 84,799,300 | 85,221,551 | 422,251 | ... |

| TOTAL . Rx. | 82,526,400 | 82,053,478 | 472,922 | ... |
| Surplus . Rx. | 2,787,100 | 3,688,171 | 901,071 | ... |

1890-91, General Results.

39 The improvement in the Revenue and Expenditure in India was thus Rx. 728,865, of which Rx. 114,173 occurred in the Provincial and Local sections of the Accounts, and Rx. 614,692 in the Imperial section. The addition to the latter sum of the improvement of Rx. 286,379 in the Revenue and Expenditure in England, including Exchange, makes up the increase in the surplus of the year to the sum of Rx. 901,071, shown above.

Revenue in India.

40. Increased receipts under the Principal Heads of Revenue, Rx. 243,734, and from Railways, Rx. 228,298, account for the improvement of Rx. 422,251 shown in the Revenue in India. The more important increases under the Principal Heads occurred under Land Revenue, Rx. 130,609, and Salt, Rx. 70,168, while of the chief Principal Heads the only one under which the Actuals were less than the Revised Estimate was Stamps. The only important decrease in the Accounts, compared with the Revised Estimate, was one of Rx. 70,092 in Military Receipts.

The decrease of Rx. 306,614 in the Expenditure in India, as compared with the Revised Estimate, occurred mainly under the groups Direct Demands on the Revenue, Rx. 83,985 ; Railways, Rx. 101,039 ; and Buildings and Roads, Rx. 82,161.

41. The saving of Rx. 280,481, including Exchange, in the Expenditure in England, occurs mainly under the groups Miscellaneous Civil charges, Rx. 48,855 ; Army, Rx. 190,560 ; and Special Defence Works, Rx. 20,561. Expenditure in England.

42. The Capital Outlay on Railways and Irrigation Works, not charged to Revenue, was less than assumed in the Revised Estimate by Rx. 123,768. Expenditure not charged to Revenue.

Section II.—Revised Estimates of 1891-92.

43. The following statement gives a general comparison of the Budget and Revised Estimates of 1891-92 :—

| | | Budget. | Revised. | Revised, Better. | Revised, Worse. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| REVENUE. | | | | | |
| India | Rx. | 85,729,500 | 88,210,400 | 2,489,900 | ... |
| England | £ | 212,000 | 255,200 | 42,000 | ... |
| Exchange | Rx. | 83,200 | 111,300 | 28,100 | ... |
| TOTAL | Rx. | 86,025,300 | 88,585,900 | 2,560,600 | ... |
| EXPENDITURE. | | | | | |
| India— | | | | | |
| Imperial, Provincial, and Local | Rx. | 64,516,000 | 65,873,700 | ... | 1,357,700 |
| Adjustment of Provincial and Local Surplus or Deficit | Rx. | − 828,400 | —461,500 | ... | 366,900 |
| England | £ | 15,972,100 | 16,193,400 | ... | 221,300 |
| Exchange | Rx. | 6,250,000 | 7,060,300 | ... | 810,300 |
| TOTAL | Rx. | 85,909,700 | 88,665,900 | ... | 2,756,200 |
| Surplus or Deficit | Rx. | +115,600 | —80,000 | ... | 195,600 |

44. The small surplus of the Budget Estimate has become in the Revised Estimate a small deficit. The salient features of the year may be stated as, on the one hand, a large increase of net Railway Revenue, and improvements in most other heads of Revenue; and, on the other hand, a large increase of Military Expenditure, a fall in the rate of Exchange, and some falling off in Land Revenue. The increase of Revenue is greater than that of Expenditure, apart from Exchange; if the rate of Exchange had not fallen below the rate assumed in the Budget Estimate, there would have been an improvement, instead of a deterioration, in the general result. 1891-92, General Results.

45. The Revenue in India is now expected to be Rx. 2,489,900 more than was anticipated last March. 1891-92, Revenue in India.

46. The larger part of this occurs under Railways, the receipts from which show an improvement of no less than Rx. 1,781,100. The revival of Railway traffic which began towards the close of last financial year continued and developed to an unexpected extent in the present year. There are now some signs of the improvement coming to an end ; but in all probability the high figure taken in the Revised Estimate for Railway Revenue will be realised. Almost all the important lines of Railway have contributed to this satisfactory result. 1891-92, Increases of Revenue in India.

Most of the other heads of Revenue also show increases, the more important being the following :—

| | Rx. |
|---|---|
| Opium | 432,700 |
| Salt | 277,200 |
| Stamps | 78,700 |
| Excise | 143,100 |
| Telegraph | 137,900 |
| Irrigation, Major Works | 147,900 |

The larger part of the increase under Opium occurs in Bengal, where the receipts exceed the Estimate by Rx. 324,200: this is due to the average price realised at the sales of Bengal Opium having been R1,058 a chest, against a price of R1,000 a chest assumed in the Budget Estimate. There is also an increase of Rx. 110,000 in Bombay, due to the number of chests of Malwa Opium exported being higher than assumed in the Budget Estimate.

The rest of the increases may be ascribed to the general progress of the country.

1891-92, Decreases of Revenue in India.

47. Against those increases must be set the falling off in Land Revenue and Provincial Rates, due to the scarcity in Madras. The collections of Land Revenue, including that due to Irrigation, are now expected to be less than the Budget Estimate by Rx. 585,500, and those of Provincial Rates, by Rx. 54,400, the reductions in Madras being Rx. 603,000 and Rx. 65,300.

The only other important decrease in Revenue is one of Rx. 85,000 under Mint. It is due to the coinage being much below the average.

1891-92, Revenue in England.

48. The increase of the Revenue in England is not great; more than half of it occurs under Interest, the Secretary of State having been able to realise higher rates of interest than he anticipated on his temporary investments of cash balance.

1891-92, Expenditure in India. Increases under Army and Railways.

49. For the large increase of Expenditure in India shown in the statement in paragraph 43, amounting to Rx. 1,357,700, the two heads Army and Railways are responsible.

The increase in Railway Expenditure is a necessary accompaniment of the increase in the Railway Revenue. It amounts to Rx. 489,000 on State Railways—Working Expenses, and to Rx. 151,500 on Guaranteed Railways—Surplus Profits, Land and Supervision.

The increase in the Expenditure on the Army amounts to Rx. 1,059,500. The causes of this increase are (a) the cost of expeditions not contemplated when the Budget Estimate was framed amounting to Rx. 725,300; (b) the sanction given to an expenditure of Rx. 213,400 on measures designed to facilitate mobilisation; and (c) the sanction given to an expenditure of Rx. 132,100 for the purchase of additional mules and remounts.

1891-92, Expenditure in India. Other variations.

50. The sum of the increase in the Expenditure on Railways and of the increase in the Expenditure under Army being in excess of the increase of the total Expenditure in India, it follows that under the remaining heads of Expenditure there must have been, on the whole, a decrease. The following are the more important increases and decreases of expenditure under these heads:—

| DECREASES. | Rx. | INCREASES. | Rx. |
| Land Revenue . . . | 54,200 | Political . . . . | 50,700 |
| Opium . . . . . | 388,800 | Reduction of Debt . . . | 802,800 |
| Police . . . . . | 133,100 | Irrigation, Minor Works . . | 58,400 |
| Miscellaneous . . . . | 109,400 | Military Works . . . | 80,900 |
| Construction of Protective Railways . . . . . | 680,100 | | |
| Special Defence Works . . | 60,600 | | |

1891-92, Decreases of Expenditure in India.

51. The larger part of the decrease under Land Revenue occurs in Bombay, Rx. 35,900, and is due partly to too high a margin having been allowed in the Estimate of Expenditure, and partly to provision having been made for a scheme of reorganisation of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture, which was not fully brought into operation in the year. There are also decreases in the Central Provinces Rx. 9,400, Assam Rx. 8,200, and India General Rx. 4,200 (all of these three decreases occurring mostly in Settlement charges):

while there are increases in Bengal Rx. 4,200 (due to increased expenditure on Survey and Settlements) and in Lower Burma Rx. 4,100 (due to higher charges for the collection of the Revenue, which is expected to exceed the Budget Estimate).

The decrease under Opium is caused by the produce of the season's crop having been much less than was assumed in the Budget Estimate. The Estimates are framed at a time when the produce of the crop cannot be gauged with accuracy.

The decrease under Police is due to provision having been made in Bombay for large Expenditure on a scheme for the reorganisation of the Police which has not yet been brought into operation, and to the Expenditure in both Upper and Lower Burma having been largely over-estimated. These decreases are partially counterbalanced by increased Police charges in the South Lushai country.

The decrease under Miscellaneous occurs in Madras. About half of it is nominal, being due to the transfer of Local Sanitation charges from this head to Medical; while the remainder is due to the Madras Government having provided in the Budget Estimate a large sum under this head as a "reserve."

The decrease under Protective Railways and Special Defence Works is due merely to the rate of Expenditure having been slower than was anticipated.

52. The increase under Political is due mainly to the Amir of Afghanistan having drawn a portion of his subsidy for last year in arrears. If the Amir again allows his subsidy to fall into arrears, the increase under Political will almost entirely disappear in the actuals for the year.

The amount entered for Reduction of Debt is the sum required to make up the Famine Insurance Grant of the year to Rx. 1,500,000. It is composed of the sum of Rx. 680,100, the amount shown above as the decrease under Construction of Protective Railways, and of Rx. 166,900 being the amount by which the net loss on the Bengal-Nagpur and the Indian Midland Railways is now expected to be less than assumed in the Budget; diminished by the increases under the two other heads included in the grant, namely, Rx. 30,400 under Famine Relief and Rx. 13,800 under Construction of Protective Irrigation Works.

The increase under Irrigation is caused by the opening of Famine Relief Works in Ajmere, Upper Burma, and Madras.

The increase under Military Works is accounted for by the sanction given during the year to expenditure of Rx. 30,000 for the restoration of buildings at Quetta damaged by rain; and of Rx. 61,600 for works designed to facilitate mobilisation in time of war. Smaller expenditure on other works diminishes to some extent the above excess.

1891-92, Provincial and Local Adjustments.

53. The sum of Rx. 366,900 entered opposite "Adjustment of Provincial and Local Surplus and Deficit" represents the amount by which the reduction of their accumulated balances by Local Governments has been less than they proposed when the Budget Estimates were framed.

1891-92, Expenditure in England.

54. The more important variations accounting for the increase of £221,300 in the Expenditure in England are the following:—

| Increases. | £ | Decrease. | £ |
|---|---|---|---|
| Interest . . . | 232,100 | Special Defence Works . | 175,500 |
| Army . . . | 130,800 | | |

The excess in the Interest payments is caused by the payment of discount on the issue and sales of India Stock, for which no provision was made in the Budget Estimate. The public loan of £2,600,000 was issued at an average rate of £94-10-2½d. per cent., and the discount, including that paid on payments towards the loan in anticipation of due date, amounted to £153 478. The subsequent sales of stock to the amount of £2,000,000 were effected at a price of £95 per cent., and a further charge for discount of £101,522 was incurred. This total increase of £255,000 was partially counterbalanced by a saving in the interest charge in consequence of the loan having been issued later than was intended.

The report of Lord Northbrook's Commission on the claims of the War Office on account of British Forces serving in India necessitates the payment this year of £211,000 in excess of the amount provided in the Budget Estimate; this payment accounts for the increase of expenditure under Army and covers arrear charges for the four years 1887-88, 1888-89, 1889-90, and 1890-91, and the full payment likely to be due under the award of the Commission for the current year. The payments already made for the years 1887-88, 1888-89, and 1889-90 are respectively £655,000, £665,000, and £720,000, or in all £2,040,000. The amount due under the award of the Commission for those three years is £2,156,000. To close the account to March 1890, an arrear payment of £116,000 is therefore required. Owing to the increase in the payments on account of deferred pay, it is anticipated that the amounts due for each of the years 1890-91 and 1891-92 will be £760,000 against £700,000 paid in 1890-91, and £725,000 provided in the Budget Estimate of 1891-92, necessitating a further payment of £95,000 for these two years. The addition to the Budget Estimate for payments to the War Office is therefore £211,000 in all. On the other hand, it is anticipated that the payments for the Troop Service will be less by £29,300 owing chiefly to the new machinery for the Euphrates not having been supplied, and that the payments for stores will be less by £62,000: these reductions are mere postponements of expenditure, not real savings.

The decrease under Special Defence Works is due to Stores required for these works not being provided as rapidly as was anticipated.

55. The net charge for Exchange on the Revenue and Expenditure in England is Rx. 6,949,000 against the Budget Estimate of Rx. 6,166,800, being worse by Rx. 782,200. This may be said to be due to the fall in the rate of exchange from 1*s*. 5·25*d*. to 1*s*. 4·713*d*. the rupee, a small portion only being on account of the variations in the amount of Sterling Revenue and Expenditure.

Section III.—Budget Estimate of 1892-93.

56. The following statement compares the Budget Estimate for 1891-92 with that for 1892-93:—

| | | 1891-92. | 1892-93. | 1892-93 better than 1891-92. | 1892-93 worse than 1891-92. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| REVENUE. | | | | | |
| India | Rx. | 85,729,500 | 88,066,700 | 2,337,200 | ... |
| England | £ | 212,600 | 200,800 | ... | 11,800 |
| Exchange | Rx. | 83,200 | 100,400 | 17,200 | ... |
| TOTAL | Rx. | 86,025,300 | 88,367,900 | 2,342,600 | ... |
| EXPENDITURE. | | | | | |
| India— | | | | | |
| Imperial, Provincial, and Local | Rx. | 64,516,000 | 65,457,400 | ... | 941,400 |
| Adjustment of Provincial and Local Surplus or Deficit | Rx. | —828,400 | —1,161,700 | 333,300 | ... |
| England | £ | 15,972,100 | 15,950,400 | 21,700 | .. |
| Exchange | Rx. | 6,250,000 | 7,975,200 | ... | 1,725,200 |
| TOTAL | Rx. | 85,909,700 | 88,221,300 | ... | 2,311,600 |
| SURPLUS | Rx. | 115,600 | 146,600 | 31,000 | ... |

1892-93, General Results.

57. A surplus of Rx. 146,600 means practical equilibrium between Revenue and Expenditure. A considerable development of Revenue is expected, which is, however, absorbed partly by increases in expenditure, but chiefly by the fall in the rate of Exchange from 1*s.* 5¼*d.* to 1*s.* 4*d.*

1892-93, Revenue in India.

58. The Revenue in India in 1892-93 is expected to exceed the Budget Estimate for 1891-92 by Rx. 2,337,200. The more important increases are the following:—

| | Rx. |
|---|---|
| Land Revenue, including that due to Irrigation | 224,400 |
| Salt | 201,200 |
| Stamps | 81,400 |
| Excise | 148,700 |
| Provincial Rates | 92,200 |
| Forests | 56,100 |
| Interest | 108,800 |
| Post Office | 74,500 |
| Telegraph | 129,300 |

1892-93, Increases in Revenue in India.

59. The increases under Land Revenue and Provincial Rates are partly due to new settlements, but to a larger extent merely represent the portion of the heavy remissions in Madras this year, which, it is hoped, will be recovered next year on the assumption that the season will be normal.

Of the increase under Interest, Rx. 38,000 is due to the increase of the Currency investment by one crore; Rx. 40,600 is on account of interest on overdrawn capital of Railway Companies—a charge of the same amount occurs in the Railway Revenue Account; and the remainder is obtained from the growth of interest on loans to Municipalities, other Local Bodies, and Cultivators.

The estimated increase under Railway Revenue, which amounts to over 40 per cent. of the total increase in Revenue, is justified by the good results of the current year; the Railway Revenue is taken at a considerably lower figure than in the Revised Estimate for the present year.

The increase under XXIV—Exchange is due chiefly to the fall in the rate of Exchange, which has the effect of increasing the apparent receipts under this head.

The other increases may be ascribed to the general progress of the country.

1892-93, Decrease in Revenue in India.

60. The only important decrease is one of Rx. 68,300 under Army: it is due mainly to the discontinuance of the employment of State agency in Madras and Bombay for the supply of Malt liquor to soldiers, and should involve a corresponding decrease in the charges.

1892-93, Revenue in England.

61. The falling-off of £11,800 in the Revenue in England is accounted for by decreases under Interest, the Secretary of State anticipating that the loans from his cash balance will be less than this year, and under Telegraph, due to a change in the method of bringing to account the transactions with Telegraph Companies.

The increase in the receipts from Exchange on Sterling Revenue is due to the fall in the rate of exchange.

62. The following are the more important of the increases and decreases which result in the increase in the Expenditure in India of Rx. 941,400, shown in the statement in paragraph 56:—

| INCREASES. | Rx. | DECREASES. | Rx. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Land Revenue . . . | 143,500 | Interest . . . . | 166,900 |
| Forest . . . . | 65,200 | Scientific and other Minor Departments . . . | 161,600 |
| Post Office . . . | 83,900 | Miscellaneous . . . | 114,900 |
| Education . . . . | 69,900 | Miscellaneous Railway Expenditure . . . | 68,800 |
| Medical . . . . | 96,000 | Civil Works . . . | 238,800 |
| Famine Relief . . . | 127,000 | Special Defence Works . | 89,100 |
| 37. - Construction of Railways | 91,000 | | |
| State Railways, Working Expenses . . . . | 224,600 | | |
| Ditto ditto Interest . | 137,300 | | |

1892-93. Increases of Expenditure in India

63. The increase under Land Revenue is distributed over all the Provinces except Assam. The more important increases are, in Bengal, Rx. 50,600—Rx. 42,900 being for larger expenditure on Survey and Settlements, some of it in Behar, and Rx. 9,000 for improved sanitation on Government estates: in Madras Rx. 38,300—most of this is due to the gradual introduction of a scheme for the revision of village establishments under which the Village officers are paid by fixed salaries, and recoveries effected by means of a Local Cess: in Burma Rx. 28,200—being increased expenditure on Survey and Settlement: in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, Rx. 11,700—mostly in charges for District administration; and in Bombay Rx. 10,700—for arrears of allowances to Village officers and for the reorganisation of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture.

The increase under Forest is a consequence of the expansion of the operations, and of improvements in the organisation, of the Department. It is accompanied by an increase of Revenue.

Most of the increase shown under Post Office is nominal, being due to the transfer of certain Printing and Stationery charges, amounting to Rx. 64,200, to the head as explained in paragraph 76 in Section IV: the remainder is the normal annual increase due to the expansion of operations.

The increase under Education occurs in all Provinces, the largest increase being in the Local Expenditure in Madras.

Under Medical more than half of the increase shown above is nominal, being due to the transfer to this head from Miscellaneous of Local Sanitation charges in Madras; the remainder is distributed over all the Provinces except Bengal, where there is a small decrease.

In view of the scarcity in Madras, the Madras Government think it necessary to provide for an expenditure of ten lakhs of rupees under Famine Relief. The Bengal Government has also provided two lakhs under the head, and the Bombay Government one lakh.

The increase under the head 37, Construction of Railways, is mainly the result of a special provision of Rx. 118,300 to be expended in carrying out the Railway programme of the Government of India, and of an increase of Rx. 61,900 in the Provincial Expenditure on the Mayaveram-Mutupet Railway in Madras, counterbalanced by a decrease of Rx. 92,000 in that on the Hyderabad Umarkot Railway in Bombay.

The increase under State Railways, Working Expenses, is required in consequence of the anticipated increase in traffic and Railway Receipts.

The increase in State Railways, Interest, is a transfer from the Interest on Ordinary Debt, and follows, as a matter of course, the increase of the Capital Expenditure on Railways.

The increase under Army is accounted for by an increase of Rx. 205,000 in the pay of the British soldiers due to the fall in the rate of exchange, the soldier's pay varying with that rate: by an increase of Rx. 94,500 due to the occupation of the Chin-Lushai country and of Manipur, the cost of feeding troops in those outlying stations being high; and by an increase of about Rx. 230,000 on various measures designed to improve the efficiency of the Army: these increases are partially counterbalanced by a smaller provision for Expeditions.

64. The decrease under Interest represents the transfers from Ordinary to Public Works Debt of Interest on the Capital Expenditure on Railways and Irrigation Works. 1892-93, Decreases of Expenditure in India.

The decrease under Scientific and other Departments is due to the practical completion of Census work this year.

The decrease under Miscellaneous occurs in Madras: nearly half of it is due to the transfer to Medical of Local Sanitation charges, and the remainder to the omission of the "reserve" which was made by the Madras Government last year.

The decrease under Miscellaneous Railway Expenditure occurs because smaller provision is required for Railway Surveys.

Under Civil Works the Expenditure is reduced by Rx. 110,000 in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Budget Estimate of 1891-92 having made special provision, amounting to Rx. 120,000, for water-supply and sanitation projects; and in Madras there is a reduction of Rx. 122,400, as the Local Government is restricting the expenditure in consequence of the strain thrown on its finances by the scarcity. There are also decreases in Bombay, Rx. 63,000; Bengal, Rx. 91,100 (the decreases in Bombay and Bengal are due partly to the revision of the Provincial Contracts rendering it necessary for the Local Governments to reduce for a time the high Public Works Expenditure which accumulated balances had enabled them to incur); the Punjab, Rx. 22,300; and the Central Provinces, Rx. 28,700; while increased expenditure is contemplated in Burma, Rx. 46,000, Assam, Rx. 98,900, and the smaller Provinces under the Government of India, Rx. 53,800, the last being due partly to the necessity of providing relief works in Ajmere.

The grant for Special Defence Works has been fixed at a lower amount than for 1891-92.

65. The increase in the deductions shown in the table in paragraph 56 on account of the "Adjustment of Provincial and Local Surplus or Deficit" represents the amount by which Local Governments propose to increase their Expenditure from accumulated balances Most of this increase may be ascribed to the revision of the Provincial Contracts explained in Section VI, by which a portion of the surpluses of Provincial Revenues are resumed by the Government of India. Notwithstanding the revision, most of the Local Governments are able to continue their expenditure on much the same scale as in the current year.

66. The Expenditure in England in the two years does not differ much. The only variations which need be noticed are those under Army. The expenditure on Military Stores, chiefly Ordnance, is expected to be less next year than this by £115,500; and a saving is anticipated in the Troopship Service of £27,200; while the charges of the War Office for British Forces in India are increased by £35,000, Furlough allowances by £10,000, and the Non-Effective charges by £31,600. 1892-93, Expenditure in England.

1892-93, Exchange. The increase of Rx. 1,725,200 in the Exchange on Expenditure in England is due to the fall in the rate from 1*s.* $5\frac{1}{4}$d. to 1*s.* 4*d.* This heavy loss is the main reason why the prospects of 1892-93 are not considerably better than were those of 1891-92.

Section IV.—Examination of the Estimates under the more important heads of Revenue and Expenditure.

LAND REVENUE.

67. The Estimates for 1891-92 and for 1892-93, and the Actuals for the three preceding years, are shown in the following statement:—

| | Accounts, 1888-89. | Accounts, 1889-90. | Accounts, 1890-91. | Budget Estimate, 1891-92. | Revised Estimate, 1891-92. | Budget Estimate, 1892-93. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Rx. | Rx. | Rx. | Rx. | Rx. | Rx. |
| Revenue, including that due to Irrigation | 23,687,445 | 24,671,165 | 24,754,205 | 25,155,500 | 24,570,000 | 25,379,900 |
| Expenditure | 3,513,957 | 3,624,194 | 3,676,596 | 3,887,400 | 3,833 200 | 4,031,000 |
| Net | 20,173,488 | 21,046,971 | 21,077,609 | 21,268,100 | 20,736,800 | 21,348,900 |

The scarcity in Madras and Upper Burma is the cause of the falling off in the Revenue in 1891-92. It is expected that the scarcity will reduce the collections below the Budget Estimate by Rx. 603,000 in Madras and by Rx. 48,900 in Upper Burma.

In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh also the Revenue is expected to be less than the Budget Estimate by Rx. 77,600. About Rx. 20,000 of this is due to remissions in a few districts necessitated by floods, inroads of wild cattle, and hail-storms: the rest is due to the expectation of the recurrence of arrears; the Budget Estimate for the current year was framed in the anticipation that the arrears from the previous year would be recovered in addition to the Revenue of this year, but the Local Government now expects that the arrears of this year will be heavy, though not so heavy as were those of the preceding year.

In all other Provinces except the Central Provinces and India General the collections will be above the Budget Estimate, the increase in Lower Burma being Rx. 88,400.

The increase of Revenue shown in the Budget Estimate for 1892-93 is partly due to the normal growth of Revenue, notably in the Punjab as the result of Settlement operations, but also to a large extent to the expectation that some portion of the suspensions in the current year will be recovered next year. The scarcity this year will therefore improve the Revenue next year, so far as can be now foreseen. But this is based on the hope that next year will be a normal season. Should there be any failure of the rains in the coming season, the Budget Estimate may not be realised.

The areas in which agricultural conditions give rise to anxiety are four: first, the Deccan districts in Madras and Bombay, part of the States of Mysore and Hyderabad, and some Madras districts to the south and east of these; second, Rajputana and some of the British districts on its borders in the Bombay Presidency; third, Behar; and fourth, some districts in Upper Burma. Whether matters will improve or grow seriously worse cannot be known with any certainty till June next. The Estimates have been framed in the hope that the serious calamity of a famine will not occur. If a famine should occur, not only will the Land Revenue be reduced, but other Revenue also will suffer, and Expenditure must be increased under many heads beyond the amounts provided in the Estimates.

OPIUM.

68. The figures are—

| | Accounts, 1888-89. | Accounts, 1889-90. | Accounts, 1890-91. | Budget Estimate, 1891-92. | Revised Estimate, 1891-92. | Budget Estimate, 1892-93. |

The average price of Bengal Opium in 1891-92 has been R1,058 a chest, whereas in the Budget Estimate a price of R1,000 a chest only was assumed. The Bengal receipts will consequently be higher than the Budget Estimate by Rx. 324,200.

The exports of Malwa Opium through Bombay have been larger than was anticipated, and the receipts in Bombay have improved by Rx. 110,000.

In accordance with Notification No. 2686, dated 26th June 1891, the number of chests of Bengal Opium to be sold in 1892-93 is smaller than in the current year But nevertheless the rise in price justifies the placing of the Budget Estimate somewhat higher than that for this year. For Bombay the Estimate is placed at the same amount as for 1891-92.

The Expenditure in the current year will be lower than the Budget Estimate, the crop of opium having been smaller than expected. The Estimate of Expenditure for 1892-93 is based on the assumption that an average crop will be obtained. The reports regarding the crop indicate that it may be below the average; but it is not considered safe to act on this assumption in framing the Estimates.

SALT.

69. The figures are—

|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|

The Salt Revenue in the current year has increased above the expectations of the Budget Estimate in all Provinces with the exception of Madras. In Madras the quantity of salt consumed has increased as in other Provinces, and the decrease in Revenue is due to the allowance made for the exceptional increase in cash payments in 1890-91, mentioned in paragraph 34 of Part II of the Financial Statement of March last, having proved to be insufficient. The Estimate of Revenue for next year is moderately framed at an amount lower by Rx. 76,000 than the Revised Estimate of this year.

The consumption of salt since 1888-89 has been as under:—

| | Maunds. |
|---|---|
| 1888-89 . . . . . . | 31,395,000 |
| 1889-90 . . . . . . | 33,086,000 |
| 1890-91 . . . . . . | 33,320,000 |
| and in 11 months of 1891-92 . . . . . . | 31,152,000 |

STAMPS.

70. The figures are—

| | Accounts, 1888-89. | Accounts, 1889-90. | Accounts, 1890-91. | Budget Estimate, 1891-92. | Revised Estimate, 1891-92. | Budget Estimate, 1892-93. |

The Stamp Revenue fell off in the closing months of 1890-91, and the Revenue of that year was lower than that of the previous year. But the ground lost is expected to be more than made up in the current year.

EXCISE.

71. The figures are—

| | Accounts, 1888-89. | Accounts, 1889-90. | Accounts, 1890-91. | Budget Estimate, 1891-92. | Revised Estimate, 1891-92. | Budget Estimate, 1892-93. |

The increase in the Excise Revenue is distributed over all the Provinces with the one exception of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh. The increase this year is largest in Bengal.

CUSTOMS.

72. The figures are—

The rice duty realised in 1890-91 was, owing to special conditions, abnormally large, and the reduction this year has been even greater than was assumed in the Budget Estimate. The trade at present is active and, unless the next monsoon rains in India should be deficient, in which case Burma rice will be required to supplement local deficiencies, the Estimates should be fully realised. The import revenue shows a normal increase.

ASSESSED TAXES.

73. The figures are—

The receipts from Income Tax are increasing yearly with the growth in wealth and population.

FOREST.

74. The figures are—

| | Accounts, 1888-89. | Accounts, 1889-90. | Accounts, 1890-91. | Budget Estimate, 1891-92. | Revised Estimate, 1891-92. | Budget Estimate, 1892-93. |

| Expenditure | 792,000 | 780,035 | 784,113 | 905,700 | 879,800 | 970,500 |
| Net | 557,047 | 706,268 | 663,889 | 605,400 | 618,000 | 596,700 |

The financial results of Forest administration are expected to remain much the same as was estimated in March last. There has been a considerable increase of Revenue compared with the previous year, but the Expenditure has also increased. For next year a similar result is expected.

INTEREST.

75. The Interest receipts since 1888-89 are shown below:—

| | | Accounts, 1888-89 | Accounts, 1889-90. | Accounts, 1890-91. | Budget Estimate, 1891-92. | Revised Estimate, 1891-92. | Budget Estimate, 1892-93. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| REVENUE— | | | | | | | |
| India | Rx. | 643,310 | 676,703 | 710,552 | 764,700 | 799,200 | 873,500 |
| England | £ | 135,477 | 135,633 | 166,194 | 30,000 | 58,000 | 25,000 |
| Exchange | Rx. | 63,035 | 60,865 | 54,304 | 11,700 | 25,300 | 12,500 |
| TOTAL | Rx. | 841,822 | 873,201 | 931,050 | 806,400 | 882,500 | 911,000 |

The moderate and steady rate of progress in the receipts in India continues. The increase in the Revised Estimate is accounted for by the receipt of Rx. 39,700, as interest on overdrawn Capital of Railway Companies, the other receipts being slightly reduced owing to the sums placed at the disposal of Local Governments for loans to Municipalities and other bodies not having been fully utilised. Of the increase in the Budget Estimate Rx. 40,600 is for interest on overdrawn Capital, Rx. 38,000 is in consequence of the increase of the Currency investment by one crore in accordance with the Notification in the Finance and Commerce Department No. 4861, dated 3rd December 1891, and the remainder comes from the loans to Municipalities and other bodies.

The Secretary of State obtained higher rates of interest on the temporary investments of his cash balance than he was able to count on in the Budget Estimate. During next year the cash balance available for investment will be smaller than this year.

The Expenditure under Interest (other than that charged to Railways and Irrigation Works) has been as follows since 1881-82:—

| Year. | India. | England. | Exchange. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Rx. | £ | Rx. | Rx. |
| 1881-82 | 1,827,309 | 2,513,126 | 518,461 | 4,858,956 |
| 1882-83 | 1,718,857 | 2,481,978 | 569,349 | 4,770,184 |
| 1883-84 | 1,516,887 | 2,447,333 | 559,241 | 4,523,461 |
| 1884-85 | 1,371,347 | 2,612,657 | 634,855 | 4,618,859 |
| 1885-86 | 1,136,962 | 2,429,243 | 764,656 | 4,330,861 |

| 1887-88 | 662,025 | 3,365,509 | 1,414,220 | 5,441,754 |
| 1888-89 | 811,191 | 2,662,331 | 1,238,737 | 4,712,259 |
| 1889-90 | 760,375 | 2,402,478 | 1,078,110 | 4,240,963 |
| 1890-91 | 801,180 | 2,513,000 | 821,124 | 4,195,304 |
| 1891-92, Budget | 517,600 | 2,407,500 | 942,100 | 3,867,200 |
| 1891-92, Revised | 543,600 | 2,639,500 | 1,150,900 | 4,334,000 |
| 1892-93, Budget | 383,100 | 2,396,000 | 1,198,000 | 3,977,100 |

The decrease in the Expenditure in India is the consequence of the transfers from Ordinary to Public Works Debt.

The increase in the Expenditure in England in the Revised Estimate is on account of discount paid on the loan raised in England and on sales of stock, as explained in para. 54.

In 1890-91 for the first time the Post Office transactions as recorded on the Finance and Revenue Accounts showed a small surplus. A similar small surplus would have appeared on the Revised Estimate for 1891-92 and on the Budget Estimate for 1892-93 had it not been for a recent decision to charge to the Post Office the expenditure on printing and stationery incurred on its account in the Central Press and Stationery Office, as well as the portion incurred directly by Post Office officials, which latter has always been so charged.

The increase in receipts during the current year is chiefly due to the large expansion of traffic from India and other Eastern Countries to Europe, and to the development of press and other private traffic in India. There is also a special increase caused by telegrams relating to Military Expeditions.

The value of silver bullion presented at the Mints for coinage has been as under in the last few years:—

A considerable part of the increase under General Administration occurs in the Exchange on Sterling Expenditure; the remainder is distributed over the Expenditure in England and of the Government of India and most of the Local Governments.

The provision made in the Budget Estimate of this year for Judicial Establishments has proved to be more than was required in Bengal, Madras, and Bombay, and the increase of those establishments in the two former Provinces will not be so great as was anticipated last March. On the other hand, it has been necessary to increase the expenditure in the Central Provinces, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, and the Punjab.

The saving shown in the Revised Estimate of this year under Jails occurs chiefly in Bengal and Burma, the greater part of the saving in Bengal being under Manufactures and being more than counterbalanced by a falling off in the receipts. On the other hand, there has been a large excess in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, where the Jail population is high.

The saving shown in the Revised Estimate under Police has been explained in paragraph 51. The Expenditure in Burma will be smaller also in 1892-93; but that saving is nearly swallowed up by renewed provision in all other Provinces for increasing the efficiency of the Police.

The reduction in the Revised Estimate under Marine occurs in Burma and England. In Burma it has not been possible to complete the construction of a vessel required for the Baragua Flats. In England the subsidy to the Admiralty mentioned in paragraph 29 of Part II of the Financial Statement of March last will not be payable for the whole year, owing to there having been delay by the Admiralty in taking over charge of the Defence vessels, this saving being partly absorbed by increased expenditure on the purchase of stores. In 1892-93 the vessel for Burma will be paid for, the Admiralty subsidy will be payable for the whole year, the expenditure on English stores will be as high as this year, and there will also be an increase in the charges of the Imperial Marine Department in India owing chiefly to the establishment of ferries on the Indus for Military purposes.

The increase in Expenditure on Education and for Medical purposes continues. But Rx. 50,000 of the increase under Medical is nominal in both years, being due to a change in the classification in the accounts of Local Sanitation charges in Madras.

Under Scientific and other Minor Departments there will be a large reduction next year, as but little Census Expenditure will remain to be met. The reduction would have been greater had it not been for the recent sanction to the establishment of a Civil Veterinary Department.

The increase in the Revised Estimate under Territorial and Political Pensions occurs in England, where arrears of the stipend of His Highness Maharaja Dhuleep Sing were paid, the payments to the Maharaja being also increased by reduction in the rate of interest on the advances to him.

The amounts of the payments on account of Furlough Allowances fluctuate with the rate of exchange.

The charges for Pensions are increasing, a part of the increase in this year and next being due to the decision to pay certain pensions at the minimum rate of 1*s.* 9*d.* the rupee.

The amounts shown in the Revised Estimate of 1891-92 and in the Budget Estimate of 1892-93 under Stationery and Printing would have been much larger had it not been for the decision mentioned in para. 76 to charge the Post Office with the cost of all its printing and stationery. This has had the effect of transferring from the head Stationery and Printing to Post Office Rx. 62,300 in the Revised Estimate, and Rx. 64,200 in the Estimate for next year. There is therefore a considerable real increase of Expenditure under this head to be explained. While there has been some increase in the amount of printing done and of stationery used, the main reason of the rise under the head is to be found in the orders issued some years ago to substitute, as far as possible, the use of paper manufactured in India for paper procured from England. In the present year the purchases of paper in India have shown a marked increase, as the stocks of paper in the Calcutta Stationery Office procured from England under the old procedure have hitherto met a large portion of the demands, and those stocks have only now been exhausted. The exhaustion of the stock of English paper was not sufficiently allowed for in framing the Budget Estimate. The stocks of English paper having been exhausted, the local purchases must continue on the higher level in future years. The reduction of the sterling charges in England caused by the substitution of Indian-made for English-made paper took place some years ago when the indents for paper were reduced : the corresponding increase in the charges in India has only now reached its full extent.

The reduction in the Expenditure under Miscellaneous, both in the Revised Estimate of 1891-92 and in the Budget Estimate of 1892-93, as compared with the Budget Estimate of 1891-92, has been explained in paragraphs 51 and 64.

In accordance with the policy announced in the last two Financial Statements, the Famine Grant has been raised to its original amount of Rx.1,500,000 in the present year, and will be maintained at that amount in 1892-93.

The scarcity in Madras and Rajputana has caused the Expenditure on Famine Relief to exceed the Budget Estimate; and the Bombay Government has provided for some expenditure in the latter months of the year, while for next year the Madras Government has provided Rx.100,000, the Bengal Government Rx. 20,000, and the Bombay Government Rx. 10,000.

It may be mentioned here that the provision made in Madras for Famine Relief has the effect of reducing the Madras Provincial balance below the prescribed minimum of Rx. 200,000. As the minimum balances of Local Governments were prescribed in order that there might be a reserve to meet Expenditure caused by famine, the reduction of the Madras balance is in this instance unobjectionable. This increase of Expenditure on direct Famine Relief is but a small portion of the effect produced on the finances by the scarcity. In addition to the loss of Land Revenue mentioned in para. 67, it has been necessary to open Famine Relief works in Madras, Ajmere, and Upper Burma, which will involve considerable expenditure both this year and next; but the expenditure on them is charged to the heads of account proper to the particular works opened.

The excess expenditure shown in the Revised Estimate on Protective Irrigation Works is on account of the more vigorous prosecution of the Rushikulya project in Madras.

The reduction under Protective Railways and the increase under Reduction of Debt shown in the Revised Estimate are in consequence of it having been found impossible to spend the full amount of the grant provided in the Budget Estimate for Capital Expenditure on Railways.

It will be seen that the net loss on the railway account, which was Railways in estimated in the Budget of the current year at Rx. 1,501,700, is in the Revised 1891-92.
Estimate placed at only Rx. 528,800, being an improvement of Rx. 972,900. The increase in the net traffic receipts of State Railways is Rx. 1,019,100, and the increase in the net traffic receipts of Guaranteed Railways Rx. 283,000; on the other hand, the fall in exchange, which increases the equivalent of the sterling payments of interest in England, causes an additional charge of Rx. 238,200, and the surplus profits payable to Companies are increased by Rx. 161,300.

The Miscellaneous Railway Expenditure is now expected to be less than the Budget Estimate by Rx. 39,800.

The gross traffic receipts of State Railways will probably exceed the State Railways, amount entered in the Budget by Rx. 1,508,100, while the excess in working 1891-92.
expenses will be Rx. 489,000.

The principal fluctuations in net receipts are the following:—

| | Revised Estimate more (+) or less (—) than the Budget Estimate. |
|---|---|
| | Rx. |
| East Indian Railway . . . . . . . . | +365,000 |
| North-Western Railway . . . . . . . | +300,000 |
| Rajputana-Malwa Railway . . . . . . . | +197,500 |
| Bengal Nagpur Railway . . . . . . . | +158,000 |
| Indian Midland Railway . . . . . . . | + 22,000 |
| Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway . . . . . . | + 60,000 |
| Southern Mahratta Railway . . . . . . . | + 15,500 |
| Bengal and North-Western and Tirhoot Railways . . . | — 97,500 |
| Eastern Bengal State Railway . . . . . . | —102,500 |

On all the lines showing a considerable increase, the principal cause of the increase is the largely augmented traffic in wheat and seeds carried to Calcutta, Bombay, and Karachi for export to Europe. Scarcity in Rajputana and high prices in Hyderabad and the Southern Mahratta country have caused considerable movement in food-grains. Part of the increase on the East Indian Railway is due to the continued expansion of the coal traffic.

In coaching traffic the chief contributors to the increase are the North-Western and Oudh and Rohilkhand Railways, on account of fairs at Hardwar, and the Bengal-Nagpur, which shows a satisfactory development in the whole of its traffic.

The decrease in net receipts on the Bengal and North-Western and Tirhoot Railways is chiefly due to provision being made for payment to the Company of their share of net earnings for three half-years, as their share for the second half-year of 1890 was not paid in 1890-91, and so became an unexpected charge against 1891-92; there is also a slight falling off in the earnings, due to scarcity in Tirhoot.

The Eastern Bengal State Railway has suffered from the partial failure of the jute crop, but the main cause for the falling off in net receipts is the large renewals which have been carried out, and which were not anticipated when the Budget Estimates were framed.

The gross receipts of the Madras Railway are Rx. 30,000 below the Budget Estimate.

The Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway and the Great Indian Peninsula Railway are now expected to yield, respectively, Rx. 55,000 and Rx. 258,000 more than the net receipts entered in the Budget Estimate. The improvement is all in goods traffic and is due to the causes just mentioned in connection with State Railways.

Railways in 1892-93.

Excluding Exchange, on which account a sum of Rx. 406,300 is provided in excess of that entered in the Revised Estimate, the net result on the Railway account for 1892-93 is Rx. 639,400 worse than the Revised Estimate of the current year. It is not considered safe to estimate for such exceptional traffic as has been secured in 1891-92; and there is a considerable increase in the charge for interest owing to increase of Capital outlay.

State Railways, 1892-93.

In 1892-93 the gross receipts of State Railways are estimated at Rx. 624,200 less than in the Revised Estimate of 1891-92. The most noticeable fluctuations occur on the East Indian Railway (—Rx.280,000); Rajputana-Malwa Railway (—Rx.243,800); Bengal-Nagpur Railway (+ Rx. 32,000); Eastern Bengal State Railway (+Rx. 35,000); Bengal and North-Western and Tirhoot Railways (+Rx. 35,000); North-Western Railway (—Rx. 340,000); South Indian Railway (+Rx. 91,000).

Guaranteed Railways, 1892-93.

The net traffic receipts of the Guaranteed Railways are taken at Rx. 203,000 below the Revised Estimate of 1891-92; this is entirely due to the Estimates for 1892-93 being framed on the basis of a normal year with an allowance for natural expansion, and not on the very high receipts of the current year. Surplus profits, Land and Supervision are expected to diminish by Rx. 150,500.

IRRIGATION.

83. The figures are—

| | Actuals, 1888-89. | Actuals, 1889-90. | Actuals, 1890-91. | Budget, 1891-92. | Revised, 1891-92. | Budget, 1892-93. |

| Net Expenditure . | 722,246 | 661,629 | 569,550 | 722,500 | 713,600 | 702,800 |

The improvement in Revenue during the current year is due to the irrigated area in the North-Western Provinces and Punjab having been larger than was anticipated in the Budget Estimate for 1891-92.

The Budget for the ensuing year shows that the revenue is expected to fall off by Rx, 32,900. The decrease occurs in the North-Western Provinces and

Oudh, where it is not anticipated that the season of 1892-93 will be so favourable for artificial irrigation as those of the previous two years. On the other hand, increases are expected from the growth of irrigation in the Punjab and Madras.

The increase in Expenditure in the current year is mainly due to Famine Relief Works in Upper Burma, Madras, and Rajputana. The Budget provides for a decrease in expenditure owing to the curtailment of outlay on Minor Irrigation Works in Madras and the cessation of Famine Works in Upper Burma.

The slight improvement in revenue in the Revised Estimate of 1891-92 is chiefly due to increased receipts from tolls on ferries and roads maintained from Local Funds.

The increase of Rx. 84,900 in the Military Works expenditure in the Revised is mainly due to special expenditure on the restoration of buildings at Quetta damaged by rain, and to outlay of Rx. 61,600 on measures intended to facilitate the speedy mobilization of the army in time of war. The increase of Imperial expenditure in 1891-92 under Civil Works amounts to Rx. 74,800, and is due to special expenditure on buildings at Quetta and Famine Relief Works in Upper Burma and in Rajputana. There is a decrease of Rx. 83,400 under Provincial.

An increase of Rx. 63,300 occurs under Local for Public Works under the control of Local Boards.

The Budget for the ensuing year provides for a decrease of Rx. 52,400 in the Imperial (Military and Civil Works) expenditure: the special expenditure of 1891-92 will not recur next year.

The figures for the Provincial portion of the Civil Works expenditure are:—

The variations in the figures are explained in paragraphs 49, 54, 60, 63, and 66.

SPECIAL DEFENCE WORKS.

86. The following table shows the Expenditure on "Special Defence Works":—

| | Rx. |
|---|---|
| To end of 1885-86 | 137,811 |
| 1886-87 | 325,626 |
| 1887-88 | 456,017 |
| 1888-89 | 789,595 |
| 1889-90 | 689,481 |
| 1890-91 | 491,837 |
| 1891-92 Budget Estimate | 847,000 |
| 1891-92 Revised " | 550,000 |
| 1892-93, Budget " | 614,500 |

As has usually been the case in the past, the grant for this expenditure will not be fully utilized in the current year; and a smaller grant has been given for 1892-93. The lapse is chiefly on the English grant, and the slower progress in England involves less outlay in India.

The total expenditure on Special Defence Works being estimated at Rx. 5,000,000, if the amounts shown above for 1891-92 and 1892-93 are spent, there will remain Rx. 945,133 to be incurred in 1893-94 and future years.

Section V.—Expenditure not charged to Revenue.

88. The following table gives the figures of the estimates for 1891-92 and 1892-93 for Capital Expenditure on Railways exclusive of sums found by Local Governments out of Provincial resources, the amounts charged to the Famine grant and to the head "37—Construction of Railways" being included for convenience, although charged to Revenue:—

| | India. | England. | Exchange. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Rx. | Rx. | Rx. | Rx. |
| 1891-92, Budget Estimate . . . | 2,266,600 | 1,192 000 | 466,400 | 3,925,000 |
| 1891-92, Revised Estimate . . . | 1,825,200 | 870,000 | 379,300 | 3,074 500 |
| 1892-93, Budget Estimate . . . | 2,542,000 | 1,382,000 | 691,000 | 4,615,000 |

Of the totals shown above the following amounts are taken as charges against the Famine Grant for Protective Railways, namely, in the Budget Estimate of 1891-92, Rx. 975,000; in the Revised Estimate of 1891-92, Rx. 294,900; and in 1892-93, Rx. 1,011,700. In 1892-93 Rx. 118,300 is also charged under 37—Construction of Railways.

The Capital Expenditure on Railways in 1891-92 will be less than the Budget grant by Rx. 850,500 Of this lapse, Rx. 170,400 has been utilised for increased Capital Expenditure on Irrigation Works, and the remainder appears in the reduction in the Revised Estimate of the Expenditure on Protective Railways. The heaviest expenditure has been on the East Coast, the Mu Valley, the Godra-Rutlam, South Indian (including Villupuram-Guntakal), and the Dharmaveram-Hindupur Railway. The Chaman Extension of the Sind-Pishin Railway has been completed during the year, and also the Mianwali-Mari Branch of the North-Western system, while a start was made on the Barsoe-Kishengunge, the Lucknow-Rai Bareli-Jaunpur, the Bengal-Assam, the Bareilly-Rampur-Moradabad, the Mari-Attock, and the Muskhaf-Bolan Railways.

The provision for 1892-93 will, it is hoped, practically complete the Villupuram-Guntakal Section of the South Indian Railway and the Dharmaveram-Hindupur Extension, while large grants have been provided for the Godra-Rutlam, the Bareilly-Rampur-Moradabad, the Mari-Attock, the Lucknow-Rai Bareli-Jaunpur, gradient improvements of the North-Western Railway, the Mu Valley, the Bengal-Assam, and the Jherria Extension of the East Indian Railway.

The following figures show the rate at which Railways have been constructed at the cost, or on the responsibility, of the Government since 1880:—

| Date. | Number of miles open. |

The increase of Rx. 170,400 in the Expenditure of the current year is due to a portion of the lapse on the Railway Capital grant having been utilised to secure the earlier completion of the Chenab Canal Works.

Section VI.—Revision of the Provincial Contracts.

90. It has long been the policy of the Government of India to delegate some of its powers in respect of certain Revenues and Expenditure to Local Governments.

The first step in this direction was taken in 1870, when certain heads of Expenditure were made Provincial, the Local Governments being given, under conditions, the powers possessed by the Government of India in the matter of sanctioning expenditure, and the financial responsibility of Local Governments being enforced by requiring them to keep the total Provincial Expenditure within the amount assigned for all the heads, plus any savings from that amount effected in previous years.

This policy was subsequently extended by making Provincial also some heads of Revenue, the financial responsibility of the Local Governments remaining as before, with the addition that they were allowed to spend any increases of Revenue obtained by them during the period for which the arrangement was made.

Still later, in restriction of the power of spending savings of previous years, Local Governments were required to maintain minimum balances of amounts fixed for each Province, to be drawn against in the event of pressure, such, for example, as the opening of works for the employment of labour in time of scarcity.

The arrangements with Local Governments to give effect to the delegation of powers as above explained are made for fixed periods, at the end of which the arrangements are subject to revision as well in respect of the heads of Revenue and Expenditure made Provincial as in respect of the assignment, including Revenue, made to the Local Government to cover the Provincial Expenditure.

91. The existing arrangements described in general terms in the preceding paragraph, commonly called contracts, come to an end with the close of the current year, having been made for the five years 1887-88 to 1891-92; and it has been necessary to settle the terms of the contracts to be in force during the next five years. The Government of India have been in correspondence with all the Local Governments concerned during the year. The final result of that correspondence is as follows.

92. The new contracts are framed on the same general lines as the preceding ones. The terms of the contract for each Province are contained in two Resolutions. The first of these is reprinted as an Appendix to this statement; it consolidates and re-enacts, with some modifications, the general rules relating to the powers of Local Governments under the scheme of provincial finance. In the second the heads of Revenue and Expenditure which are made provincial are stated, it being declared that Revenue and Expenditure classified in the accounts under those heads, and no other, is Provincial; and the amount of the addition to, or the deduction from, the Provincial Revenue which is required to place the province in equilibrium is stated.

93. The following statement shows the total Provincial Expenditure and Revenue, as estimated for the new contracts, and the amount of the adjusting addition to or deduction from the Revenue of each province:—

| | Central Provinces. | Burma (Lower). | Assam. | Bengal. | North-Western Provinces and Oudh. | Punjab. | Madras. | Bombay. |

94. The Revenue and Expenditure shown in the above statement are estimates of the amounts which may be taken as fairly representing, generally, the normal Revenue and Expenditure of each Province at the existing stage of growth. The actual Revenue and Expenditure will of course vary from year to year. But the amount of the adjustment is fixed for the five years.

95. The amount of the adjustment shown in paragraph 93 is not an index either of the financial position of the province or of the effect on the provincial finances of the revision of the contract. It is merely the amount required to place in equilibrium the Revenue and Expenditure which it has been found expedient to make provincial.

96. The financial effect of the revision of the contracts is the resumption by the Government of India of the following surpluses from Provincial Governments:—

| | Rx. |
|---|---|
| Central Provinces . . . . . . . . . . | 22,700 |
| Lower Burma . . . . . . . . . | 58,900 |
| Bengal . . . . . . . . . . . . | 51,900 |

| Bombay . . . . . . . . . . . . | 131,100 |
| TOTAL . | 466,300 |

97. These surpluses are the share of the increase in Revenue in the past five years which the needs of Imperial Revenues require the Government of India to resume from Local Governments. The statement below shows to what extent the Provincial Revenues have increased in each Province since the estimate for the contracts now coming to an end was framed. The statement also shows the extent to which the Local Governments have used their increased Revenues in the five years, and the closing balance of each year:—

* Actuals of 1886-87.

Note.—In this statement Railway Revenue and Expenditure have been taken net.

98. It will be seen from the foregoing statement that the increase of revenue in the past five years has in every Province been much greater than the amount of the surplus which is now to be resumed. The difference the Local Governments have been allowed to retain to enable them to meet the increase of Expenditure which has occurred in the five years. It would have been desirable, if possible, to allow the Local Governments to retain the whole of the increase, as all of them have many needs on which money could be beneficially spent. But as stated in Part I of this Statement, this could not have been done without imposing additional taxation, and it is a less evil to restrict to some extent the progress of useful Provincial Expenditure than to impose additional taxation. The total increase in Provincial Revenue for all Provinces has been Rx. 2,042,700. The surplus resumed by the Imperial Government is Rx. 466,300, or less than one-fourth. The amount to be resumed has been fixed in every case on a careful consideration of the circumstances of each Province,

Home Treasury.

Council Bills.

The total estimate of the Secretary of State's drawings for the two years 1891-92 and 1892-93 is £33,200,000. It is now expected that Rx. 16,200,000 will be drawn during the current year.

3 per cent. Sterling Loan issued.

As explained in paragraph 68, page 46, of the last Financial Statement, the loan of £2,600,000 proposed in the Budget was required partly for the repayment of a portion of the India 3½ per cent. debentures which fell due on 16th August 1891 and partly for advances to Railway Companies under the Oudh and Rohilkhund Railway Purchase Act. The loan was issued at an average rate of £94-10-2¼*d.* per cent. During the year the Secretary of State decided to issue additional 3 per cent. Stock to the amount of £2,000,000. This was required (a) for the discharge of £911,900 debentures of the Southern Mahratta Railway Company which expired on the 1st October 1891: in the Budget Estimate it was anticipated that additional capital would be received from the Company for this purpose; (b) for the discharge of £1,000,000 Oudh and Rohilkhund Railway debentures which will expire on 1st April 1892, and (c) for the discharge of £600,000 debentures of the Southern Mahratta Railway Company expiring on 1st April 1892.

Capital Receipts from and Issues to Railway Companies.

A sum of £302,143 of the loan of £2,600 000 remained unappropriated, and a total sum of £2,302,143 is therefore available for the discharge of the debentures just described, amounting to £2,511,900. The balance will be met from the loan to be raised in 1892-93. The additional Stock of £2,000,000 was issued at a price of £95 per cent.

100. The details of the estimated transactions of the Railway Companies are as follow:—

| | Budget. | Revised. |

| Madras Railway | 124,000 | 145 600 |
| | 2,974,000 | 3,126,400 |

These transactions are liable to heavy fluctuations on account of changes in the programme of the Companies. As regards the receipts, the Rohilkhund Kumaon Railway, instead of paying £160,000 in England, paid its equivalent in India in exercise of an option given to the Company by the Contract. The receipt of £1,000,000 from the Southern Mahratta Railway Company was intended to replace debentures to be paid off in the year, but £88,100 out of those debentures were renewed and £911,900 paid off with funds raised by the issue of 3 per cent. stock, as above explained. The difference between the Budget and Revised, of £20,500, in the case of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway, represents debentures renewed. The requirements of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway were reduced by £569,000, but, on the other hand, a sum of £12,400 was received from the Madras Railway Company in 1891-92 which it was expected to receive in 1890-91.

The variations in the Estimates of payments for discharge of debentures are due (1) to partial provision towards paying off £600,000, debentures of the Southern Mahratta Railway, and (2) to the renewal instead of discharge, as originally provided for in the Budget, of debentures amounting to £88,100 and £20,500, respectively, of the Southern Mahratta and the Bombay, Baroda Companies.

The large reduction in the net payments on account of Remittances from India occurs chiefly in the advances for purchase of stores, for the Rajputana-Malwa and South Indian Railways and also in the payments on account of Indian Money Orders.

101. The following is the Budget Estimate of the Ways and Means of the Home Treasury for 1892-93:—

| | Budget, 1892-93. |
|---|---|
| Net Receipts. | £ |
| Council Bills | 17,000,000 |

| Deposits and Advances | 4,600 |
| Add—Opening Balance | 3,261,050 |
| TOTAL | 23,853,850 |
| Net outgoings. | |
| Excess of Expenditure over Revenue | 15,749,600 |

| On account of remittances from India | 1,191,800 |
| Add—Closing Balance | 2,176,150 |
| TOTAL | 23,853,850 |

The loan of £1,800,000 is required partly for the discharge of the Southern Mahratta and Oudh and Rohilkhund Railway Debentures and partly for advances to Railway Companies. At present it is estimated that the drawings on India in the year will be £17,000,000. It should be understood that in stating the present intentions of the Secretary of State, no sort of pledge is given that he will adhere to the programme above explained, and that the amounts to be obtained by bills or by loans may be varied from time to time as may seem expedient.

102. The Ways and Means Estimate of India is as follows :—

| TOTAL | 40,987,621 | 44,298,144 | 43,237,244 |

The headings in italics are connected with, and explained by, the corresponding figures of the Secretary of State's account in England. The others refer to purely Indian transactions.

103. No public loan was raised in India in the current year or in 1890-91. Public Loan. The Estimates do not provide for the issue of any loan in India in 1892-93. But the Government of India are unable to say positively that there will or will not be a loan, and full liberty is reserved, as usual, to modify the present Estimates to any extent which may be expedient, and to issue a loan if one is required.

The fact that no loan has been raised for two years, and that it has been considered possible to frame the Estimates for a third year on the assumption that there will be no loan, is due to the following causes :—

(1) The large surpluses of 1889-90 and 1890-91.
(2) The provision made for reduction of debt since 1889-90.
(3) The large increase in the Savings Bank deposits.
(4) The fact that the Secretary of State hopes to receive in 1892-93 considerable Capital Receipts from Railway Companies, only a portion of which will be required for expenditure next year.
(5) The fact that the Secretary of State intends to meet a portion of his expenditure in 1892-93 by drawing on his cash balance.

Savings Banks.

104. The following are the usual details of the transactions of the Savings Banks during the last few years :—

| Year. | Net additions to deposits cash. | Interest. | Total addition. |
|---|---|---|---|
| | Rx. | Rx. | Rx. |
| 1887-88 | 656,330 | 224,000 | 880,300 |
| 1888-89 | 685,200 | 261,800 | 947,000 |
| 1889-90 | —362,900 | 272,200 | —90,700 |
| 1890-91 | 250,700 | 279,700 | 530 400 |
| 1891-92, Budget | 229,500 | 305,100 | 534,600 |
| 1891-92, Revised | 530,000 | 305,400 | 835,400 |
| 1892-93, Budget | 459,400 | 333,800 | 793.200 |

The Post Office Savings Bank deposits now show a steady increase in spite of the reduction of the limits for deposits. The Budget Estimate of these deposits is framed with moderation, and allowance has been made for some falling off next year owing to the expectation of scarcity and dearness of provisions in some Provinces.

Appropriation for Reduction of Debt.

The sum of Rx. 802,800, credited in the Revised Estimate under "Appropriation for Reduction of Debt," represents the amount charged to Revenue to raise the Famine Grant to Rx. 1,500,000. Provision was made in the Budget Estimate of the current year for an expenditure of Rx. 975,000 out of the Famine Grant on construction of Protective Railways, but only a portion of the amount having been spent the above amount has been set free for appropriation for reduction of debt.

Loans to Municipalities, etc.

The net amounts to be advanced to Municipalities, Presidency Corporations and others during 1891-92 and 1892-93 are Rx. 935,300 and 611,500. These include Rx. 471,300 and Rx. 432,700 respectively placed at the disposal of Local Governments under the Provincial Advance and Loan scheme, referred to in paragraph 62 of Part II of the Financial Statement of March 1890. They also include Rx. 410,000 and Rx. 65,600 required by the Calcutta and Bombay Port Trusts for the Kidderpore and Victoria Docks. The approaching completion of the Kidderpore docks is the chief cause of the reduction in the aggregate amount of advances provided for in 1892-93. The following is an account of the advances to the Calcutta and Bombay Port Trusts on account of the docks :—

| | Calcutta. | Bombay. |
|---|---|---|
| | Rx. | Rx. |
| Up to 1890-91 | 2,194,566 | 878,622 |
| Advances in 1891-92 | 390,000 | 20,000 |
| " " 1892-93 | 55,600 | 10,000 |
| TOTAL TO END OF 1892-93 | 2,640,166 | 908,622 |

Capital of Railway Companies.

105. The capital transactions with the Railway Companies in 1891-92 are expected to result in a net receipt in India of Rx. 214,200 instead of a net payment of Rx. 184,200 anticipated in the Budget Estimate. This is due partly to the payment in India instead of in England by the Rohilkhund Kumaon Railway Company of the equivalent of £160,000 referred to in paragraph 100, and partly to smaller capital expenditure in India.

Cash Balance.

106. The current year is now expected to close with a cash balance of Rx. 16,750,044 instead of Rx. 13,570,321, estimated in the last Financial Statement. The year 1892 93 is expected to close with a cash balance of 13,298,844.

Section VIII.—Summary.

107. The principal features in this Statement are—

(a) The Accounts of 1890-91 have closed with a surplus of Rx. 3,688,171.

(b) The Revised Estimates of 1891-92 show a deficit of Rx. 80,000 against the surplus of Rx. 115,600 shown in the Budget Estimate of the year. The increase in Military Expenditure caused mainly by expeditions and measures designed to facilitate mobilisation in time of war, the fall in the rate of exchange from 1*s.* 5¼*d.* to 1*s.* 4·713*d.* the rupee, and the falling off in Land Revenue, are the causes of the deterioration. The loss due to those causes is nearly made good by a remarkable improvement in Railway Revenue, by an increase in net Revenue from Opium, and by improvements under other heads of Revenue.

(c) The Budget Estimates of 1892-93 show a surplus of Rx. 146,600.

(d) For 1892-93 the Rate of Exchange is taken at 1*s.* 4*d.* the rupee, giving an increased charge of Rx. 1,708,000. The Estimate of net Revenue from Opium is taken at Rx. 5,399,800, being slightly higher than the Budget Estimate for 1891-92. It is anticipated that a portion of the improvement in Railway Revenue will be retained next year, and that most of the improvements in other Heads of Revenue which have been secured this year will be maintained. A sum of Rx. 466,300 out of the increase in Provincial Revenues secured by Local Governments in the past five years has been resumed by Imperial Revenues on the revision of the Provincial Contracts.

(e) The Expenditure on Railways and Irrigation Works (not charged against Revenue) is estimated at Rx. 3,500,000 in 1891-92 and at Rx. 4,035,000 in 1892-93; this is in addition to Rx. 294,900 in the former and Rx. 1,130,000 in the latter year charged against the Famine Grant and under Head 37—Construction of Railways.

(f) It is expected that the Secretary of State in 1892-93 will sell Council Bills to the amount of £17,000,000 and raise a loan of £1,800,000. The loan is required for the discharge of certain Railway debentures and for advances to Railway Companies. These announcements are accompanied by the usual reservation of entire liberty to the Secretary of State to vary the amounts to be obtained by bills or raised by loan as he may find occasion.

(g) The Estimates do not provide for the issue of any loan in India in 1892-93. The surpluses of 1889-90 and 1890-91, the sums provided for Reduction of Debt in 1889-90, 1890-91, and in 1891-92, and the increase in the Savings Bank Deposits, are the main reasons why the Government of India consider that it may be possible for a third year to meet the Capital Expenditure not charged to Revenue without borrowing. No pledge, however, is given that the Government will not borrow in India next year.

(h) The financial prospects of 1892-93 are considered to depend largely on the degree of scarcity or famine that may be experienced in the coming year. The currency question is a source of much anxiety as regards the future.

RESOLUTION.—In supersession of the orders read in the preamble and all other existing orders on the subject, His Excellency the Governor General in Council is pleased to lay down, with effect from 1st April 1892, the following rules and conditions regulating the administration by Local Governments of Provincial Revenues and Expenditure.

2. The powers vested in Local Governments by this Resolution are subject to the general supervision and control of the Government of India; and His Excellency the Governor General in Council expressly reserves the right of issuing instructions to Local Governments on general or particular matters affecting the transferred revenues and services, when such interference with the discretion ordinarily vested in them seems to him expedient.

3. Subject to the limitations hereinafter stated, Local Governments exercise, in respect of Provincial Revenue and Expenditure, all the powers exercised, before the introduction of the system of Provincial finance, by the Government of India. In the case of Revenue and Expenditure classified under heads which are divided between Imperial and Provincial in fixed proportions, those powers are exercised by Local Governments in respect of the Imperial portion also. The powers vested in Local Governments as above are necessarily limited to the powers possessed by the Government of India. In all very important matters and in certain minor matters, the orders of the Secretary of State are required; and, although some of the limitations, rendered necessary by this restriction on the powers of the Government of India, are included in the subsequent paragraphs of this Resolution, it should be understood that all orders, which are now in force or which may hereafter be issued, which have the effect of requiring the sanction of the Secretary of State in connection with any matter affecting Revenue or Expenditure, necessarily prevent the Local Governments from issuing, without a reference to the Government of India, final orders in regard to such matter.

4. Without the previous sanction of the Government of India—

(1) No additional taxation may be imposed, and no change made in any existing system of revenue management;

(2) No new general service or duty may be undertaken: whenever a Local Government proposes to undertake any such new service or duty, it must satisfy the Government of India that it can provide the funds for it, temporarily if the service of duty is temporary, and permanently if it is permanent;

(3) No appointment may be created with a pay of more than R250 a month; and no addition may be made to the pay and allowances of any officer if they exceed, or would, after the addition, exceed, R250 a month;

(4) No appointment of which the pay and allowances are more than R250 a month may be abolished; and the pay and allowances of no such appointment may be reduced;

(5) No class or grade of officers may be created or abolished; and the pay of no class or grade of officers may be raised or reduced;

(6) The rates of discount upon the retail of stamps and court-fees labels must not be altered;

(7) The rates of duty on spirits and drugs should not be altered in any case in which the alteration is likely to affect the excise arrangements of neighbouring provinces: and in particular the sanction of the Governor General in Council must be obtained to any alteration in the rates of duty in any district which borders on another province;

(8) No addition may be made to the pay or allowances of any individual officer, or class of officers, that may lead to increase in the emoluments of any public servants doing duty in the same province, whose pay and allowances are not charged under one of the transferred heads of service. The Government of India reserves the right to forbid alterations in rates of pay or allowances, which, in its opinion, would produce inconvenience in other provinces;

(9) No money may be removed from the public treasury for investment or deposit elsewhere; the Government of India, which is responsible for the provision of ways and means for the public service in all departments, must always retain, as at present, in its own hands, absolute and unconditional control over all money in the public treasury: a Local Government may not withdraw such money, except for expenditure upon the public service. This order applies to local fund balances as much as to provincial funds. The principle is that no funds contributed from the public revenues or raised by general taxation, such as the district cess funds, and the like, shall be invested without the consent of the Government of India; these orders do not apply to municipal or port funds nor to trust or endowment funds of any kind;

(10) No alteration must be made in the form or procedure of the public accounts; in particular Local Governments may not issue orders directing the division of a charge between two or more heads of account: the Comptroller General ordinarily decides the proper classification of an item on the accounts;

(11) No services previously rendered to other departments at the charge of the departments made over to the control of the Local Governments may be diminished, and no services previously rendered to these departments at the charge of other departments may be increased;

(12) No line of through communication may be abandoned, or allowed to fall out of repair.

5. The Provincial Revenues and Expenditure consist of the Revenue and Expenditure recorded, under the heads made Provincial, on the books of the Account Officers of the Province. Inter-Provincial adjustments are forbidden.

6. Local Governments are required to maintain balances of the following minimum amounts:—

| | R | | R |
|---|---|---|---|
| Central Provinces | 8,00,000 | N.-W. Provinces and Oudh | 20,00,000 |
| Lower Burma | 6,00,000 | Punjab | 10,00,000 |
| Assam | 5,00,000 | Madras | 20,00,000 |
| Bengal | 20,00,000 | Bombay | 20,00,000 |

A Local Government should not, without the previous sanction of the Government of India, propose any estimates or allow any transactions which involve the reduction of the Provincial balance below the prescribed minimum. Accountants General are required to make a report to the Local Government and to the Government of India when it appears to them that there is any likelihood of the balance being reduced below the minimum.

7. Local Governments may sanction loans and advances under the orders contained in Resolutions Nos. 13 and 14, dated 1st January 1889, and Nos. 417 and 419, dated 24th January 1890, but may not, without the special sanction of the Government of India, sanction any other loans of public money.

8. When any Local Government proposes to provide in the estimates for Provincial Expenditure largely in excess of the Provincial Revenue of the year, that is, when it is proposed to incur considerable expenditure out of accumulated balances, the proposals should be forwarded to the Government of India for separate consideration in advance of the estimates.

9. It is a general condition, precedent to the delegation of all authority to disburse public money, that it shall be bonâ fide for a public object; nothing must be carried out by means of the public funds for the advantage of any individual or body of private persons, unless in accordance with some declared or established rule or principle recognized by the Government of India. It is the duty of every Audit officer, at all times, to challenge any infringement of this principle; and every Local Government must submit, for the orders of the Government of India, any representation made to it by any Audit officer in accordance with this rule which it does not promptly accept.

10. All standing orders and rules of the Supreme Government are to be observed, including, in particular, the rules in the Civil Service Regulations, the Code of the Public Works Department, and the Civil Account Code.

11. Local Governments must exercise the powers vested in them by this Resolution subject to the ordinary rules of the Budget system. The most important of those rules which affect the exercise of the powers conferred by this Resolution, are—

(a) A Local Government cannot sanction any expenditure during a year which will involve an excess over the Budget grant for the year for any Provincial Major head without effecting re-appropriation, that is, without reducing by the amount of the excess the sanctioned grant under some other Provincial or Local Major Head under its control.

(b) A Local Government cannot sanction any expenditure which will involve an excess over the Budget grant for the year under a head which is divided in a fixed proportion between Imperial and Provincial, unless it can effect re-appropriation (for the Imperial and Provincial portions of the excess respectively) from Imperial and Provincial or Local heads under its control.

(c) A Local Government is required to keep the total Provincial expenditure under all heads within the total Budget grant of the year for that expenditure unless—

(1) it effects re-appropriation from the grants for Local expenditure under its control; or

(2) it has obtained the sanction of the Government of India to a supplementary grant.

---

ORDERED, that this Resolution be communicated to the several Local Governments and Administrations; to all Departments of the Government of India; to the Agent to the Governor General, Baluchistan; to the Comptroller and Auditor General; and to the several Accountants General and Comptrollers* for information.

* Except Comptrollers, Hyderabad and Post Office.

Summary of Financial Statement, 1892-93.

The Financial Statement for 1892-93 is published in a Gazette Extraordinary of this date.

The Accounts of 1890-91 have closed with a surplus of Rx. 3,688,000.

It is explained that this large surplus is mainly due to the speculative rise in Exchange which took place in that year, and to other causes of temporary operation.

In the Revised Estimate for 1891-92 the Revenue is estimated at Rx. 88,585,000 and the Expenditure at Rx. 88,666,000, showing a deficit of Rx. 80,000. It is fully anticipated that the improvement on the Revised Estimate which usually occurs will more than cover this deficit and that the Accounts of the year will close with a surplus.

During the year 1891-92 there has been a very great increase in net Revenue from Railways, a considerable improvement in the Opium Account, and satisfactory increases of Revenue under all important heads except that of Land Revenue.

The improvement has, however, been swallowed up by increased Military Expenditure, by the fall in the rate of exchange, and by falling off of Land Revenue owing to scarcity in portions of the country.

In the Budget Estimate for 1892-93 the Revenue is estimated at Rx. 88,368,000 and the Expenditure at Rx. 88,221,000, yielding a surplus of Rx. 147,000. The most striking feature of the Budget is the fall in the Rate of Exchange from 1*s.* 5¼*d.* in the Budget of 1891-92 to 1*s.* 4*d.* in the Budget of 1892-93—a fall which adds Rx. 1,708,000 to the Expenditure of the Government of India. This increase of Expenditure has been met by the resumption of Rx. 466,000 from Local Governments at the periodical revision of the Provincial Contracts, by increase of Revenue from Railways, and by increased receipts under the Principal Heads of Revenue, as well as by an improvement in the Interest Account in India, owing mainly to Capital Expenditure on Railways and Canals having been met from the large surpluses of recent years. The net Opium Revenue is taken in the Budget at Rx. 5,400,000.

The Estimates of 1892-93 provide Rx. 4,035,000 for Capital Expenditure not charged to Revenue, as well as Rx. 1,012,000 under the Famine Grant for the Construction of Railways and Canals and Rx. 118,000 under head 37—Construction of Railways.

It is not expected that it will be necessary to raise a loan in India this year, though no pledge is given.

It is announced under the usual reserve that the Secretary of State will probably sell bills for £17,000,000 in the coming year, and will raise a loan of £1,800,000 for discharge of Railway Debentures and for advances to Railway Companies.

The present scarcity is stated to be a cause of anxiety, but actual famine is not anticipated unless there should be a failure of the periodical rains in the affected tracts. The meteorological conditions at present afford no indication of the likelihood of such a failure.

Apart from the possibility of the occurrence of serious famine, Sir David Barbour considers that there is no ground for special anxiety regarding the coming year.

He adds, however, that the Currency question appears to be approaching the critical stage, and that it is impossible to tell what a few years may bring forth.

If a memorandum of appeal or application for a review of judgment has been presented within the proper period of limitation, but is written upon paper insufficiently stamped and the insufficiency of the stamp was caused by a mistake on the part of the appellant or applicant as to the amount of the requisite stamp, the memorandum of appeal or application shall have the same effect and be as valid as if it had been properly stamped: Provided that such appeal or application shall be rejected unless the appellant or applicant supplies the requisite stamp within a reasonable time after the discovery of the mistake, to be fixed by the Court."

Addition to section 647 of said Code.

4. To section 647 of the said Code the following shall be added, namely:—

"Explanation.—This section does not apply to applications for the execution of decrees, which are proceedings in suits."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IN the case of Bechi v. Ahsanullah Khan, 12 All. 461, the North-Western Provinces High Court held, in accordance with the practice of the High Court at Madras, that under section 12 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, in computing "the time . . . . . . . . . requisite for obtaining a copy of the decree " the Court ought not to include time which had passed before the application for a copy was made, even though the decree had not then been in fact drawn up or signed. Up to the date of this decision the practice of the Court, following that of the High Court at Calcutta, had been different, and the effect of the decision was to rule out of time several appeals which were in time according to the then practice of the Court, at the time when they were presented.

The first section of the Bill is designed to prevent the occurrence of a similar hardship in future.

2. Sections 2 and 4 of the Bill are intended to meet a conflict of opinion which has arisen between the High Court of Allahabad on one side and the High Courts of Calcutta and Bombay on the other as to the interpretation of section 647 of the Code of Civil Procedure. The Allahabad High Court have held (I. L. R. 12 All. 392) that that section makes the provisions of Chapter XXII of the Code applicable to proceedings in execution of decree. The contrary view has been taken by the High Court of Bombay (I. L. R. 10 Bom. 62) and by the High Court of Calcutta (I. L. R. 18 Cal. 462, 515). Section 2 of the Bill declares that the provisions in question are not to apply to proceedings after decree, and section 4 limits the operation of section 647 of the Code in accordance with the opinions expressed by the High Courts of Calcutta and Bombay.

3. In the case of Balkaran Rai v. Gobind Nath Tiwari (I. L. R. 12 All. 129) it was held by the High Court of Allahabad that a memorandum of appeal cannot be filed or recorded in, or received by, a Court unless and until the proper court-fee is paid in respect of it, and is of no validity unless and until it is properly stamped. Consequently, if it is not, when tendered, properly stamped, it is not at that time a memorandum of appeal within the meaning of section 541 of the Code of Civil Procedure, and the appeal cannot be regarded as having been at that time presented within the meaning of section 4 of the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, or as valid for any other purpose except in the events specified in section 28 of the Court-fees Act.

The Government of India are of opinion that when the insufficiency of the stamp is caused by a boná fide mistake on the part of the appellant as to the value of the court-fee stamp required it ought to be obligatory on the Courts to admit the appeal; provided that, if the deficiency is not made good within a reasonable time after the mistake has been discovered, the appeal should then be rejected.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT for 1892-93.

PART I.

IMPERIAL REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE.

Preliminary.

Part I of the Financial Statement of 1892-93 deals with Imperial Revenue and Expenditure only.

The object of dealing with Imperial Revenue and Expenditure in a separate section of the Statement is to render it possible to present in brief compass an intelligible outline of the financial position of the Government of India.

Those who wish for further information regarding Imperial, Provincial, or Local Finance will find it in Part II.

2. The financial transactions of the Government of India will, as usual, be considered under the following heads :—

(1) The accounts of the financial year 1890-91, which have been finally closed;

(2) The Revised Estimate of the financial year 1891-92, which ends on 31st instant;

(3) The Budget Estimate of the coming year—1892-93.

Section I.—Accounts of 1890-91.

3. The Budget Estimate of 1890-91 showed a surplus of Rx. 270,400.

The Revised Estimate of the same year, issued in March last, showed a surplus of Rx. 2,787,100, and it was said at the time that the Final Accounts would show a further improvement.

This expectation has been realised, and the Accounts of 1890-91 have closed with the very substantial surplus of Rx. 3,688,171.

Foremost among the causes which have contributed to the great surplus of 1890-91 must be placed the rise in Exchange which took place during the year. The average rate of the year was 1*s.* 6·089*d.* as against a Budget Estimate of 1*s.* 4·55*d.*, and fully one-half of the total surplus was due to this cause alone.

The total Imperial Revenue received in India proved to be almost the same as in the Budget Estimate, for, though there was a fairly satisfactory growth of general Revenue during the year, it was largely counterbalanced by some falling off in Opium Revenue and by other reductions of income which I need not specify in detail.

In Expenditure incurred in India the Accounts show an improvement over the Budget of Rx. 808,356, due mainly to reduction of Expenditure in the Railway Account (Rx. 481,850), short Expenditure on Special Defences (Rx. 173,402), and a poor opium crop (Rx. 123,620).

In England there was an improvement in Revenue of £146,509, due to special causes, and a reduction in Expenditure of £350,925, of which £141,230 was under Special Defences, and £179,975 was under Army, and was due to short supply of magazine rifles. In both cases, therefore, the saving was a mere postponement of a charge which must be incurred sooner or later.

4. I have dwelt upon the facts stated in the preceding paragraphs in order to make it clear that the large surplus of 1890-91 did not indicate what may be called the permanent financial position of the Government of India at the close of that year, and I think it necessary to do so because it has been urged in some quarters that, with so large a surplus, the Government of India should have reduced taxation or undertaken other fiscal reforms of an important nature.

The surplus of 1890-91 was not a surplus which could be expected to recur in future years. The rise in Exchange, which gave half that surplus, has been lost, and a further fall has taken place which adds at least Rx. 700,000 more to the expenditure of the Government of India. The special receipts of 1890-91 affected only the income of that year, and the temporary saving arising from a poor opium crop and from short expenditure on Special Defences, and on the purchase of magazine rifles, did not indicate any improvement in the financial position.

Section II.—Revised Estimate of 1891-92.

5. From what I have just said it will be understood that no important remission of taxation or other great fiscal reform involving a serious sacrifice of Revenue was possible in the Financial Statement of 1891-92. Exchange was taken for 1891-92 at 1*s.* 5¼*d.* the rupee, and the Government of India were able to show a small surplus of Rx. 115,600 in the Budget Estimate, after setting aside an additional sum of Rx. 448,000 in order to raise the Famine Grant to the full amount of Rx. 1,500,000.

The Revised Estimate for 1891-92 now shows a deficit of Rx. 80,000 as against the surplus of Rx. 115,600 shown in the Budget Estimate; and though no doubt the Final Accounts will show an improvement, and it is more than probable that we shall yet secure equilibrium, it is clear that if any considerable remission of taxation had been made last year, the Government of India would now have had to face a serious deficit. In comparison with the total Revenue and total Expenditure, the difference between a surplus of Rx. 115,600 and a deficit of Rx. 80,000 is of little importance, as in both cases practical equilibrium between Revenue and Expenditure is secured. But although the Revised Estimate gives almost the same net result as the Budget Estimate, the year 1891-92 is remarkable, even in Indian finance, for the wide departures from the figures of the Budget Estimate that have occurred under particular heads.

6. In explaining how an estimated surplus of Rx. 115,600 has been converted into a deficit of Rx. 80,000, it will be convenient to take net figures for Opium and under the Railway Revenue Account, and for Army; that is, in the case of Opium, Expenditure will be deducted from Revenue and only net Revenue shown, and in the case of Army I shall deduct Receipts from Expenditure and show only net Expenditure. Other Heads of Revenue and Expenditure will be taken gross.

In dealing with each head of the Accounts I shall also, as far as possible, exclude variations due to Exchange, and I shall show Exchange as a separate item of the Account.

7. Among the favourable influences of the year, the foremost place must be assigned to the increase of Railway Traffic and consequently of net Revenue from Railways. In the Budget it was estimated that under the Imperial portion of the Railway Revenue Account there would be a net receipt of Rx 6,071,600 in India, and a net Expenditure of £5,689,800 in England. The corresponding figures of the Revised Estimate are Rx. 7,394,000 and £5,652,000, showing improvements of Rx. 1,322,400 and £37,800 respectively. These figures exclude the effect of the fall in Exchange, which, as I have said, will be dealt with separately. If the effect of the fall in Exchange on the Railway Revenue Account be taken into account, the total improvement is reduced to Rx. 1,122,400.

The increase of Revenue from Railways is largely due to increased exports of wheat and seeds. The following figures show the increase in the export of these articles that took place in the first ten months of the present year as compared with past years:—

| | Wheat. | Seeds. |
|---|---|---|
| | Cwt. | Cwt. |
| 1889-90 (10 months) | 12,876,000 | 13,869,000 |
| 1890-91 ( „ ) | 12,926,000 | 11,940,000 |
| 1891-92 ( „ ) | 27,135,000 | 16,303,000 |

8. The net Revenue from Opium has increased by Rx. 821,500 minus £300; this is not an unmixed gain, even from the financial point of view, as Rx. 388,800 of the increase is due to another short crop.

9. For some years we have been in the habit of expecting a steady increase of receipts every year under certain Principal Heads of Revenue, but, unfortunately, in the current year the important head of Land Revenue shows a falling off, due to scarcity in certain Provinces; the Revenue under Salt, Stamps, and Excise has, however, shown the usual rate of growth.

The falling off in the Imperial share of Land Revenue comes to Rx. 657,000, though the total falling off (Imperial, Provincial, and Local) is only Rx. 518,800. This somewhat singular result is due to the fact that adjustments between the Government of India and the various Local Governments are made through the medium of the Land Revenue Head. In the current year the Government of India have made certain payments to Bengal which were not provided for in the Budget, and which have had the effect of transferring Rx. 162,300 of Land Revenue from Imperial to Provincial. Similar payments, but of much smaller amounts, have also been made to other Provinces.

| | Increase. |
|---|---|
| | Rx. |
| Salt | 282,100 |
| Stamps | 21,100 |
| Excise | 104,700 |
| TOTAL | Rx. 407,900 |

The increase of Revenue in England, excluding Army, Opium, and the Railway Revenue Account, in respect of which I take net figures, is £33,900, and the increase of Revenue in India, excluding the heads in respect to which net figures are taken, and also Land Revenue, Salt, Stamps, Excise, which are dealt with separately, is Rx. 188,200. The head which chiefly contributes to this result being Telegraph, under which there is an increase of Rx. 137,800 in Indian receipts.

11. The total increase of Revenue in England and India may then be calculated as follows:—

| | Rx. | | £ |
|---|---|---|---|
| Railways (net) | 1,322,400 | plus | 37,800 |
| Opium (net) | 821,500 | minus | 300 |
| Salt | 282,100 | | |
| Stamps | 21,100 | | |
| Excise | 104,700 | | |
| Other Heads, excluding Army and Land Revenue | 188,200 | plus | 33,900 |
| TOTAL . Rx. | 2,740,000 | plus | £71,400 |

Against this increase must be set a falling off of Rx. 657,000 under Land Revenue. Deducting this amount from the figures just stated, the resulting improvement is Rx. 2,083,000, plus £71,400.

12. Of the unfavourable influences affecting the Indian finances during the current year, the chief was increased Expenditure under Army.

In the Budget the net Expenditure in India under Army was taken at Rx. 13,815,500 and in England at £4,625,500. These figures have been increased in the Revised Estimate by Rx. 1,095,500 and £123,100 respectively.

13. The increase of Military Expenditure in India was chiefly due to Frontier Expeditions and to the sanction of certain measures considered necessary for the efficiency of the Army.

The Budget Estimate of 1891-92 provided Rx. 155,000 for Expeditions. During the year further Expenditure on Expeditions was sanctioned to the amount of Rx. 720,000:—

| | Rx. |
|---|---|
| Chin-Lushai Expedition | 50,000 |
| Manipur operations | 300,000 |
| Wunthoo Expedition | 50,000 |
| Hazara ,, | 60,000 |
| Meranzai ,, | 140,000 |
| Cold weather operations in Burma | 120,000 |
| TOTAL | Rx. 720,000 |

It is characteristic of the uncertainties of Indian Finance that in last Financial Statement I should have called attention to what I then considered the high scale of Expenditure on Frontier Expeditions of Rx. 374,400 in 1888-89, of Rx. 421,000 in 1889-90, and of Rx. 352,600 in the Revised Estimate of 1890-91, and expressed a hope that Expenditure of this nature was about to fall off.

A grant of Rx. 80,000 was also sanctioned during the year for additional transport mules, and Rx. 52,100 for additional remounts and ordnance mules, while the Revised Estimate for 1891-92 provides Rx. 213,400 under Army for Expenditure in India on preparations to facilitate mobilization.

14. The excess in the Home Expenditure under Army is due to the payment of £211,000 not provided for in the Budget, being arrears and increase of effective charges on account of British Forces serving in India, reduced by savings under other heads.

15. Putting on one side the Expenditure under Opium, the Railway Account, and Army, in respect to which we have found it more convenient to deal with net figures, the increase of gross Expenditure shown in the Revised Estimate amounts to Rx. 222,200 in India and £127,000 in England. With regard to the increase of Expenditure in India, I need only explain that it is the net result of a number of increases and decreases which individually are not of very great magnitude.

The chief increases are Rx. 51,700 under Political, Rx. 138,000 under Famine Relief and Insurance, Rx. 48,200 under Irrigation, Rx. 80,900 under Military Works, and Rx. 65,900 under Civil Works. And the chief decreases are Rx. 74,500 under Police, and Rx. 60,600 under Special Defences. These items of increase and decrease are explained in Part II, which, it should be recollected, deals with Provincial and Local Revenue and Expenditure as well as with Imperial Revenue and Expenditure.

In England the chief increase in Expenditure has been £232,000 under Interest, and the chief decrease £175,500 under Special Defences. The increase is due to the Secretary of State having issued India Stock at a discount, which has thrown a charge of £255,000 on the Revenue of the year. The decrease under Special Defences is, as usual, a mere postponement of Expenditure.

16. Bringing together the whole of the items of Revenue and Expenditure with which I have just dealt, and still continuing to exclude Exchange, we get the following result:—

| | | | | | Rx. | | £ |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Improvement shown in paragraph 11 | | | | | 2,083,000 | plus | 71,400 |
| Deduct— | | | | | | | |
| Increased Expenditure under Army | Rx. | 1,095,500 | plus | £123,100 | | | |
| Increased Expenditure, excluding Expenditure under Opium, Railways, and Army | Rx. | 222,200 | plus | £127,000 | | | |
| | | | | | 1,317,700 | plus | 250,100 |
| | | Balance | | | Rx. 765,300 | minus | £ 178,700 |

The sum of Rx. 765,300 in rupees very considerably exceeds £178,700 in sterling, and we thus see that, notwithstanding the great increase of Military Expenditure and the falling off in Land Revenue, the Revised Estimate gives a result which shows a satisfactory improvement over the Budget Estimate if Exchange be excluded.

17. There now remains Exchange to be dealt with.

The increase of net Expenditure on this account is Rx. 782,200, partly due to increased Sterling Expenditure, but mainly to the average value of the rupee having proved to be 1*s.* 4·713*d.* instead of 1*s.* 5¼*d.*, the rate taken in the Budget Estimate.

Deducting from the increased Expenditure under Exchange, the figures at the end of the preceding paragraph, we find the Revised Estimate to be worse than the Budget by Rx. 178,700* plus Rx. 16,900 (782,200 minus 765,300), or Rx. 195,600. As the Budget Estimate showed a surplus of Rx. 115,600, a deterioration of this magnitude brings out a deficit of Rx. 80,000, being Rx. 195,600 minus Rx. 115,600.

18. The whole case may then be stated briefly and with sufficient accuracy in the following manner:—

The Railway Revenue Account and Opium, Salt, Stamps, Excise, and other Heads of minor importance, have given an improvement in 1891-92 over the Budget Estimate of not much less than three crores of rupees.

Of this improvement 1¼ crores have been balanced by increased Military Expenditure; the fall in Exchange and reduction in Land Revenue account for nearly 1¼ crores more, and increased Expenditure under Heads of minor importance in England and India, is sufficient to do rather more than swallow up the remainder of the improvement, thus converting a surplus of Rx. 115,600 into a deficit of Rx. 80,000.

Section III.—Budget Estimate of 1892-93.

19. In the Financial Statement for 1891-92, I made the following remarks:—

"So far as can be judged, our financial position during the next two years depends on two factors—Military Expenditure and Exchange. It is of great importance to the

* On making the adjustment for Exchange, the sterling symbol (£) is changed to Rx.

Indian finances that Exchange should not fall materially below the present rate for a year or two, that is, until we have experienced some relief from the heavy Military charges which we are now bearing. If Exchange falls materially within the next year or two, we may find ourselves in a difficult position, though I believe the difficulties would prove to be only temporary."

Since this passage was written Exchange has fallen heavily, and in the Budget Estimate for the coming year a rate of 1*s.* 4*d.* the rupee has been taken as against 1*s.* 5¼*d.* in the Budget Estimate of the current year. It would be a tedious process to calculate the exact loss due to this heavy fall, but for present purposes it will be sufficient to take it, in round figures, at Rx. 1,708,000. The sterling expenditure of the coming year is almost the same as the estimated sterling expenditure of 1891-92, and yet the net charge of the columns headed " Exchange " has increased by no less than Rx. 1,708,000.

On the other hand, there has been no reduction in total Military Expenditure as the following figures will show:—

| | Budget, 1891-92. | | Budget, 1892-93. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Rx. | £ | Rx. | £ |
| Military Works (net) | 1,075,400 | 8,200 | 1,084,100 | 38,400 |
| Army (net) | 13,815,500 | 4,625,500 | 14,325,000 | 4,556,300 |
| Special Defences | 360,000 | 350,000 | 270,900 | 229,100 |

20. The difficulty which I foresaw twelve months ago has, therefore, come upon us, and the problem of the Budget of 1892-93 has been the overcoming of that difficulty. If we have not succeeded in dealing with it in a wholly satisfactory manner, we have at least done better than could have been hoped this time last year, and the Budget Estimate of 1892-93 shows a surplus of Rx. 146,600.

21. In explaining how this result has been obtained, I shall take as starting point the Budget Estimate of 1891-92, and a comparison of the figures of that Estimate with the figures of the Estimate for 1892-93 will show how the loss of Rx. 1,708,000, due to the fall in Exchange from 1*s.* 5¼*d.* to 1*s.* 4*d.*, has been covered and equilibrium between Revenue and Expenditure secured.

22. In the first place I may say at once that in the comparatively small item of sterling receipts in England there is not much difference between the Budget of 1891-92 and the Budget of 1892-93, there being merely a reduction from £212,600 to £200,800, or by £11,800; as there is an increase of £2,100 in receipts under Army, the decrease, excluding Army, is £13,900.

23. Under Principal Heads of Revenue (excluding Opium) there is an increase of Revenue amounting to no less than Rx. 1,091,600. This large increase is due partly to substantial increases under Salt, Excise, and Forests, but above all to an increase of Rx. 673,800 under Land Revenue. The latter figure requires special explanation.

The current Provincial Contracts terminate on 31st March 1892. They have lately been revised and continued for another period of five years, and the revision has been made in such manner as to give the Government of India additional Revenue to the amount of Rx. 466,300 yearly; and, I regret to say, as a necessary consequence, to contract the resources of the Local Governments by an equal amount. It is no doubt satisfactory that Local Governments should have been in a position to make a contribution to the resources of the Empire at a period of pressure, and thus, possibly, avoid the necessity of imposing further taxation. But it would have been still more satisfactory if the Government of India had been in a position to allow them to retain the whole or the greater portion of this amount for expenditure on the improvement of the internal administration of the several Provinces of India. This adjustment in favour of the Government of India increases the Imperial share of the Land Revenue by Rx. 466,300. The amount so withdrawn may seem large, but as the total increase of Provincial Revenue during the last five years has been Rx. 2,042,700, it follows that the Government of India have now withdrawn only 23 per cent. of the increase of the last five years, leaving the remaining 77 per cent. for expenditure by Local Governments.

The Imperial share of Land Revenue in the coming year has also been increased by ordinary growth of Revenue and by postponements of Revenue collections from the current year in consequence of drought and scarcity. As has already been stated, the total increase of the Imperial share of Land Revenue due to all causes is Rx. 673,800.

24. Net Opium Revenue for 1892-93 is taken at Rx. 81,200 above the Budget Estimate for 1891-92; although the price of the drug has risen and the expenditure is expected to be somewhat less than the average, the short crops of recent years have told on the Opium Reserve, and the quantity to be sold has already been reduced by a Notification in the Gazette of India dated 26th June 1891.

25. The Receipts from Interest in India, less the corresponding Expenditure, have increased by Rx. 238,100; this very satisfactory result is due to our not having borrowed in recent years, and to the investment of another crore of the Paper Currency Reserve.

In England the charge for Interest is reduced by £11,500.

26. The net Receipts in India from the Railway Revenue Account are estimated to increase by Rx. 606,700, while the increase of sterling expenditure in England under the same head is £51,800.

27. Excluding the Principal Heads of Revenue, Interest, and the Railway Revenue Account, with which we have already dealt, and also the Revenue under the Heads of Military Works and Army, with which I shall deal hereafter, there is an increase of Revenue in India, under various Heads, of Rx. 375,700.

Excluding Expenditure under Interest, Opium, and the Railway Revenue Account, and Military Expenditure of all kinds (Military Works, Army, and Special Defences), there is an increase of Expenditure in India which amounts to Rx. 235,100, and in England of £95,700.

28. Net Military Expenditure of all kinds in India has increased by Rx. 429,100, of which Rx. 205,000 is due to the calculation of the pay of the British soldier serving in India at a lower rate of Exchange. In England the net Expenditure under Military Works has increased by £30,200 and decreased under Special Defences by £120,900, and under Army by £69,200, giving a net decrease of £159,900 in Military Expenditure of all kinds.

29. Bringing together the different items with which we have just dealt, we get the following result:—

| GAIN. | Rx. | | £ |
|---|---|---|---|
| Revision of Provincial Contracts | 466,300 | | |
| Ordinary increase under Principal Heads of Revenue, excluding Opium | 625,300 | | |
| Increase in net Opium Revenue | 81,200 | minus | 100 |
| Increase under the Railway Revenue Account | 606,700 | minus | 51,800 |
| Improvement under Interest in India, net | 238,100 | | |
| Reduction of Interest charge in England | ... | | 11,500 |
| Increase of Revenue under various Heads in India | 375,700 | | |
| Reduction of net Military Expenditure in England (Military Works, Army, and Special Defences) | ... | | 159,900 |
| TOTAL . Rx. | 2,393,300 | plus | £119,500 |

| Loss. | Rx. | | £ |
|---|---|---|---|
| Increase of net Military Expenditure in India . . . . . . | 429,100 | | |
| Reduction in sterling Receipts in England (excluding Military Receipts) . | ... | | 13,900 |
| Increase of Expenditure under various Heads . . . . . . . | 235,100 | plus | 95,700 |
| TOTAL . Rx | 664,200 | plus | £109,600 |

Deducting the loss from the gain, we get a net gain of Rx. 1,729,100 plus £9,900.

30. On the other side must be put the net loss by Exchange, which, as I have said, amounts to Rx. 1,708,000 It follows that the Budget Estimate of 1892-93 is better than that of 1891-92 by Rx. 21,100 (1,729,100—1,708,000) plus Rx. 9,900,* or Rx. 31,000 in all. As the surplus of the Budget Estimate of 1891-92 was Rx. 115,600, and as the Budget Estimate of the coming year is, on the whole, better by Rx. 31,000, the estimated surplus of 1892-93 is Rx. 146,600, being Rx. 115,600 plus Rx. 31,000.

31. The manner in which the very heavy charge of Rx. 1,708,000, which falls on the finances next year in connection with Exchange, has been met, may now be stated in a few words.

The additional charge of Rx. 1,708,000 on account of Exchange has been met almost entirely by contributions from Local Governments (Rx. 466,300), by increase of Revenue under Principal Heads (Rx. 625,300), and by growth of Railway Revenue (Rx. 606,700 minus £51,800); there has also been a substantial improvement under Interest in India owing to our having been able to avoid borrowing for some time, and to increase of the Paper Currency Investment by one crore of rupees.

Net Military Expenditure of all kinds is somewhat heavier, and net Opium Revenue is slightly better, for 1892-93 than for 1891-92, while the growth of Revenue under various Heads, not of the first importance, almost exactly balances the growth of other Expenditure in England and India.

Section IV.—Prospects of the Immediate Future.

32. In the Financial Statements of the last three years I have dwelt at some length on the general financial position of Government as it presented itself to me at the time, and have endeavoured to indicate the prospects of the immediate future.

Thus, in the Financial Statement for 1889-90, after a series of years of deficit, I ventured to predict that our financial difficulties were, for the time, at an end.

This forecast was amply justified, as the Accounts of the year 1889-90 gave a surplus of Rx. 2,612,000, though the sum of Rx. 460,255 had been set aside with a view to begin the restoration of the Famine Grant to its full amount of Rx. 1,500,000.

In the Financial Statement for the succeeding year, 1890-91, I looked forward to still further improvement, but expressed the opinion that 1890-91 was not likely to prove so prosperous, from a financial point of view, as 1889-90.

In point of fact, the Accounts of 1890-91 now show a larger surplus (Rx. 3,688,100) than that obtained in the preceding year; but the greater portion of this surplus was due to what has proved to be a speculative rise in Exchange and to other accidental causes, and all that can be said of 1890-91 is that it was a year of, on the whole, satisfactory financial progress.

* The sterling symbol (£) is altered to Rx. when the adjustment for Exchange is made.

33. As the result of two years' financial prosperity, the Government of India were able to restore the Famine Grant to its full amount of Rx. 1,500,000 in the Budget of 1891-92; but I pointed out, that while there were encouraging features in the position, there was also some danger of financial difficulties arising from a fall in Exchange taking place before Military Expenditure of a special character was reduced.

The difficulties to which I drew attention have actually come upon us, and we have had, besides, in the current year, a considerable loss of Land Revenue owing to drought and scarcity.

We should have had to face a heavy deficit in 1891-92 but for a remarkable increase in Railway Revenue, and considerable improvement under Opium. As it is, the Revised Estimate of 1891-92 shows a deficit of Rx. 80,000; but I have little doubt that improvement will yet take place, and that the Accounts of 1891-92 will close with a moderate surplus.

34. Although the three forecasts which I have ventured to make of the progress of Indian Revenue and Expenditure have, considering the nature of the subject, proved fairly accurate, I must admit that the result which I anticipated was sometimes not attained in the way I expected. For example, I had expected that the expenditure on Special Defences would, by this time, have come to an end, and this hope would have been fulfilled if the works could have been constructed and the armament provided as rapidly as the money was forthcoming. Unfortunately this has not proved to be the case, and the Estimates of the coming year are burdened with a charge of Rx. 614,500 on account of Special Defences, and a similar charge must be borne for another year or two. I could give other instances in which I have been disappointed, but what I have said is sufficient to show the necessity for caution in forecasts regarding Indian Revenue and Expenditure.

35. The circumstances of to-day are such as to make special caution necessary.

Exchange has fallen heavily and rapidly, and though now steady it is impossible to conjecture whether the next move will be upwards or downwards.

Railway receipts have largely increased in the current year, and for 1892-93 we have calculated on retaining a portion of this improvement; but no one can at present say whether Railway traffic is likely to be heavy or the reverse in 1892-93.

The price of Opium, after falling very low, has risen suddenly and rapidly, but it is impossible to say how long this rise will be maintained.

Above all, certain portions of the country are suffering from drought and scarcity, and already the collections on account of Land Revenue have shown some falling off. The extension of Railways in recent years has greatly reduced the risks from famine, and if the periodical rains, which are due about June next in the affected tracts of Madras, Bombay, and Upper Burma, in Rajputana and Behar, are received in due season, and are not insufficient, we shall in all probability have nothing worse than severe scarcity to meet. On the other hand, if the rains are delayed or are insufficient in the tracts in question, scarcity may deepen into famine, and the loss of Revenue and increase of Expenditure that must follow such a calamity cannot be calculated. Meteorological conditions, I understand, are not unfavourable at present for the occurrence of a timely monsoon.

36. Under the circumstances just stated, I refrain from making a forecast of probable financial progress during the coming year, and must content myself with saying that, putting aside the possibility of the occurrence of famine, there is, to the best of my judgment, no ground at this moment for any special anxiety regarding 1892-93. The Currency question, however, appears to be approaching the acute stage, and it is impossible to foresee what may happen in this connection within the next few years.

PART II.

IMPERIAL, PROVINCIAL, AND LOCAL REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE.

Section I.—Accounts of 1890-91.

37. The Revised Estimate for the year 1890-91, published in March last, showed a surplus of Rx. 2,787,100. In August the Under-Secretary of State for India announced in Parliament that the surplus would be nearly Rx. 900,000 in excess of that sum. The Accounts of the year show a surplus of Rx. 3,688,171.

38. Explanations of the variations under the several heads will be found in the Appropriation Report, published in the Gazette of India of the 12th March. The following statement gives a general comparison of the Revised Estimates with the Accounts of the year:—

| | Revised Estimate. | Accounts. | Accounts, Better. | Accounts, Worse. |

1890-91. General Results.

39 The improvement in the Revenue and Expenditure in India was thus Rx. 728,865, of which Rx. 114,173 occurred in the Provincial and Local sections of the Accounts, and Rx. 614,692 in the Imperial section The addition to the latter sum of the improvement of Rx. 286,379 in the Revenue and Expenditure in England, including Exchange, makes up the increase in the surplus of the year to the sum of Rx. 901,071, shown above.

Revenue in India.

40. Increased receipts under the Principal Heads of Revenue, Rx. 243,734, and from Railways, Rx. 228,298, account for the improvement of Rx. 422,251 shown in the Revenue in India. The more important increases under the Principal Heads occurred under Land Revenue, Rx. 130,609, and Salt, Rx. 70,168, while of the chief Principal Heads the only one under which the Actuals were less than the Revised Estimate was Stamps. The only important decrease in the Accounts, compared with the Revised Estimate, was one of Rx. 70,092 in Military Receipts.

Expenditure in India.

The decrease of Rx. 306,614 in the Expenditure in India, as compared with the Revised Estimate, occurred mainly under the groups Direct Demands on the Revenue, Rx. 83,985 ; Railways, Rx. 101,039 ; and Buildings and Roads, Rx. 82,161.

Expenditure in England.

41. The saving of Rx. 280,481, including Exchange, in the Expenditure in England, occurs mainly under the groups Miscellaneous Civil charges, Rx. 48,855 ; Army, Rx. 190,560 ; and Special Defence Works, Rx. 20,561.

Expenditure not charged to Revenue.

42. The Capital Outlay on Railways and Irrigation Works, not charged to Revenue, was less than assumed in the Revised Estimate by Rx. 123,768.

Section II.—Revised Estimates of 1891-92.

43. The following statement gives a general comparison of the Budget and Revised Estimates of 1891-92 :—

| | | Budget. | Revised. | Revised, Better. | Revised, Worse. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| REVENUE. | | | | | |
| India . . . . . . . | Rx. | 85,729,500 | 88,219,400 | 2,489,900 | ... |

| England . . . . . . | £ | 15,972,100 | 16,193,400 | ... | 221,300 |
| Exchange . . . . . . | Rx. | 6,250,000 | 7,060.300 | ... | 810,300 |
| TOTAL . | Rx. | 85,909,700 | 88,665,900 | ... | 2,756,200 |
| Surplus or Deficit . | Rx. | +115,600 | —80,000 | ... | 195,600 |

1891-92, General Results.

44. The small surplus of the Budget Estimate has become in the Revised Estimate a small deficit. The salient features of the year may be stated as, on the one hand, a large increase of net Railway Revenue, and improvements in most other heads of Revenue; and, on the other hand, a large increase of Military Expenditure, a fall in the rate of Exchange, and some falling off in Land Revenue. The increase of Revenue is greater than that of Expenditure, apart from Exchange; if the rate of Exchange had not fallen below the rate assumed in the Budget Estimate, there would have been an improvement, instead of a deterioration, in the general result.

1891-92, Revenue in India.

45. The Revenue in India is now expected to be Rx. 2,489,900 more than was anticipated last March.

1891-92, Increases of Revenue in India.

46. The larger part of this occurs under Railways, the receipts from which show an improvement of no less than Rx. 1,781,100. The revival of Railway traffic which began towards the close of last financial year continued and developed to an unexpected extent in the present year. There are now some signs of the improvement coming to an end ; but in all probability the high figure taken in the Revised Estimate for Railway Revenue will be realised. Almost all the important lines of Railway have contributed to this satisfactory result.

Most of the other heads of Revenue also show increases, the more important being the following :—

| | Rx. |
|---|---|
| Opium . . . . . . . . . . | 432,700 |
| Salt . . . . . . . . . . | 277,200 |
| Stamps . . . . . . . . . . | 78,700 |
| Excise . . . . . . . . . . | 143,100 |
| Telegraph . . . . . . . . . . | 137,900 |
| Irrigation, Major Works . . . . . . . . | 147,900 |

The larger part of the increase under Opium occurs in Bengal, where the receipts exceed the Estimate by Rx. 324,200: this is due to the average price realised at the sales of Bengal Opium having been R1,058 a chest, against a price of R1,000 a chest assumed in the Budget Estimate. There is also an increase of Rx. 110,000 in Bombay, due to the number of chests of Malwa Opium exported being higher than assumed in the Budget Estimate.

The rest of the increases may be ascribed to the general progress of the country.

1891-92, Decreases of Revenue in India.

47. Against those increases must be set the falling off in Land Revenue and Provincial Rates, due to the scarcity in Madras. The collections of Land Revenue, including that due to Irrigation, are now expected to be less than the Budget Estimate by Rx. 585,500, and those of Provincial Rates, by Rx. 54,400, the reductions in Madras being Rx. 603,000 and Rx. 65,300.

The only other important decrease in Revenue is one of Rx. 85,000 under Mint. It is due to the coinage being much below the average.

1891-92, Revenue in England.

48. The increase of the Revenue in England is not great; more than half of it occurs under Interest, the Secretary of State having been able to realise higher rates of interest than he anticipated on his temporary investments of cash balance.

1891-92, Expenditure in India. Increases under Army and Railways.

49. For the large increase of Expenditure in India shown in the statement in paragraph 43, amounting to Rx. 1,357,700, the two heads Army and Railways are responsible.

The increase in Railway Expenditure is a necessary accompaniment of the increase in the Railway Revenue. It amounts to Rx. 489,000 on State Railways—Working Expenses, and to Rx. 151,500 on Guaranteed Railways—Surplus Profits, Land and Supervision.

The increase in the Expenditure on the Army amounts to Rx. 1,059,500. The causes of this increase are (a) the cost of expeditions not contemplated when the Budget Estimate was framed amounting to Rx. 725,300; (b) the sanction given to an expenditure of Rx. 213,400 on measures designed to facilitate mobilisation; and (c) the sanction given to an expenditure of Rx. 132,100 for the purchase of additional mules and remounts.

1891-92, Expenditure in India. Other variations.

50. The sum of the increase in the Expenditure on Railways and of the increase in the Expenditure under Army being in excess of the increase of the total Expenditure in India, it follows that under the remaining heads of Expenditure there must have been, on the whole, a decrease. The following are the more important increases and decreases of expenditure under these heads:—

| Decreases. | Rx. | Increases. | Rx. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Land Revenue | 54,200 | Political | 50,700 |
| Opium | 388,800 | Reduction of Debt | 802,800 |
| Police | 133,100 | Irrigation, Minor Works | 58,400 |
| Miscellaneous | 109,400 | Military Works | 80,900 |
| Construction of Protective Railways | 680,100 | | |
| Special Defence Works | 60,600 | | |

1891-92, Decreases of Expenditure in India.

51. The larger part of the decrease under Land Revenue occurs in Bombay, Rx. 35,900, and is due partly to too high a margin having been allowed in the Estimate of Expenditure, and partly to provision having been made for a scheme of reorganisation of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture, which was not fully brought into operation in the year. There are also decreases in the Central Provinces Rx. 9,400, Assam Rx. 8,200, and India General Rx. 4,200 (all of these three decreases occurring mostly in Settlement charges):

while there are increases in Bengal Rx. 4,200 (due to increased expenditure on Survey and Settlements) and in Lower Burma Rx. 4,100 (due to higher charges for the collection of the Revenue, which is expected to exceed the Budget Estimate).

The decrease under Opium is caused by the produce of the season's crop having been much less than was assumed in the Budget Estimate. The Estimates are framed at a time when the produce of the crop cannot be gauged with accuracy.

The decrease under Police is due to provision having been made in Bombay for large Expenditure on a scheme for the reorganisation of the Police which has not yet been brought into operation, and to the Expenditure in both Upper and Lower Burma having been largely over-estimated. These decreases are partially counterbalanced by increased Police charges in the South Lushai country.

The decrease under Miscellaneous occurs in Madras. About half of it is nominal, being due to the transfer of Local Sanitation charges from this head to Medical; while the remainder is due to the Madras Government having provided in the Budget Estimate a large sum under this head as a "reserve."

The decrease under Protective Railways and Special Defence Works is due merely to the rate of Expenditure having been slower than was anticipated.

52. The increase under Political is due mainly to the Amir of Afghanistan having drawn a portion of his subsidy for last year in arrears. If the Amir again allows his subsidy to fall into arrears, the increase under Political will almost entirely disappear in the actuals for the year.

The amount entered for Reduction of Debt is the sum required to make up the Famine Insurance Grant of the year to Rx. 1,500,000. It is composed of the sum of Rx. 680,100, the amount shown above as the decrease under Construction of Protective Railways, and of Rx. 166,900 being the amount by which the net loss on the Bengal-Nagpur and the Indian Midland Railways is now expected to be less than assumed in the Budget; diminished by the increases under the two other heads included in the grant, namely, Rx. 30,400 under Famine Relief and Rx. 13,800 under Construction of Protective Irrigation Works.

The increase under Irrigation is caused by the opening of Famine Relief Works in Ajmere, Upper Burma, and Madras.

The increase under Military Works is accounted for by the sanction given during the year to expenditure of Rx. 30,000 for the restoration of buildings at Quetta damaged by rain; and of Rx. 61,600 for works designed to facilitate mobilisation in time of war. Smaller expenditure on other works diminishes to some extent the above excess.

1891-92, Provincial and Local Adjustments.

53. The sum of Rx. 366,900 entered opposite "Adjustment of Provincial and Local Surplus and Deficit" represents the amount by which the reduction of their accumulated balances by Local Governments has been less than they proposed when the Budget Estimates were framed.

1891-92, Expenditure in England.

54. The more important variations accounting for the increase of £221,500 in the Expenditure in England are the following:—

| Increases. | £ | Decrease. | £ |
|---|---|---|---|
| Interest . . . | 232,100 | Special Defence Works . | 175,500 |
| Army . . . | 130,800 | | |

The excess in the Interest payments is caused by the payment of discount on the issue and sales of India Stock, for which no provision was made in the Budget Estimate. The public loan of £2,600,000 was issued at an average rate of £94-10-2½*d.* per cent., and the discount, including that paid on payments towards the loan in anticipation of due date, amounted to £153 478. The subsequent sales of stock to the amount of £2,000,000 were effected at a price of £95 per cent., and a further charge for discount of £101,522 was incurred. This total increase of £255,000 was partially counterbalanced by a saving in the interest charge in consequence of the loan having been issued later than was intended.

The report of Lord Northbrook's Commission on the claims of the War Office on account of British Forces serving in India necessitates the payment this year of £211,000 in excess of the amount provided in the Budget Estimate; this payment accounts for the increase of expenditure under Army and covers arrear charges for the four years 1887-88, 1888-89, 1889-90, and 1890-91, and the full payment likely to be due under the award of the Commission for the current year. The payments already made for the years 1887-88, 1888-89, and 1889-90 are respectively £655,000, £665,000, and £720,000, or in all £2,040,000. The amount due under the award of the Commission for those three years is £2 156,000. To close the account to March 1890, an arrear payment of £116,000 is therefore required. Owing to the increase in the payments on account of deferred pay, it is anticipated that the amounts due for each of the years 1890-91 and 1891-92 will be £760,000 against £700,000 paid in 1890-91, and £725,000 provided in the Budget Estimate of 1891-92, necessitating a further payment of £95,000 for these two years. The addition to the Budget Estimate for payments to the War Office is therefore £211,000 in all. On the other hand, it is anticipated that the payments for the Troop Service will be less by £29,300 owing chiefly to the new machinery for the Euphrates not having been supplied, and that the payments for stores will be less by £62,000: these reductions are mere postponements of expenditure, not real savings.

The decrease under Special Defence Works is due to Stores required for these works not being provided as rapidly as was anticipated.

55. The net charge for Exchange on the Revenue and Expenditure in England is Rx. 6,949,000 against the Budget Estimate of Rx. 6,166,800, being worse by Rx. 782,200. This may be said to be due to the fall in the rate of exchange from 1*s*. 5·25*d*. to 1*s*. 4·713*d*. the rupee, a small portion only being on account of the variations in the amount of Sterling Revenue and Expenditure.

Section III.—Budget Estimate of 1892-93.

| England | £ | 15,972,100 | 15,950,400 | 21,700 | .. |
| Exchange | Rx. | 6,250,000 | 7,975,200 | ... | 1,725,200 |
| TOTAL | Rx. | 85,909,700 | 88,221,300 | ... | 2,311,600 |
| SURPLUS | Rx. | 115,600 | 146,600 | 31,000 | ... |

57. A surplus of Rx. 146,600 means practical equilibrium between Revenue and Expenditure. A considerable development of Revenue is expected, which is, however, absorbed partly by increases in expenditure, but chiefly by the fall in the rate of Exchange from 1*s*. $5\frac{1}{4}d$. to 1*s*. 4*d*. 1892-93, General Results.

58. The Revenue in India in 1892-93 is expected to exceed the Budget Estimate for 1891-92 by Rx. 2,337,200. The more important increases are the following:— 1892-93, Revenue in India.

| | Rx. |
|---|---|
| Land Revenue, including that due to Irrigation | 224,400 |
| Salt | 201,200 |
| Stamps | 81,400 |
| Excise | 148,700 |
| Provincial Rates | 92,200 |
| Forests | 56,100 |
| Interest | 108,800 |
| Post Office | 74,500 |
| Telegraph | 129,300 |
| XXIV—Exchange | 137,100 |
| State Railways | 883,900 |
| Guaranteed Railways | 80,000 |
| Irrigation, Major Works | 99,500 |

59. The increases under Land Revenue and Provincial Rates are partly due to new settlements, but to a larger extent merely represent the portion of the heavy remissions in Madras this year, which, it is hoped, will be recovered next year on the assumption that the season will be normal. 1892-93, Increases in Revenue in India.

Of the increase under Interest, Rx. 38,000 is due to the increase of the Currency investment by one crore; Rx. 40,600 is on account of interest on overdrawn capital of Railway Companies—a charge of the same amount occurs in the Railway Revenue Account; and the remainder is obtained from the growth of interest on loans to Municipalities, other Local Bodies, and Cultivators.

The estimated increase under Railway Revenue, which amounts to over 40 per cent. of the total increase in Revenue, is justified by the good results of the current year; the Railway Revenue is taken at a considerably lower figure than in the Revised Estimate for the present year.

The increase under XXIV—Exchange is due chiefly to the fall in the rate of Exchange, which has the effect of increasing the apparent receipts under this head.

The other increases may be ascribed to the general progress of the country.

60. The only important decrease is one of Rx. 68,300 under Army: it is due mainly to the discontinuance of the employment of State agency in Madras and Bombay for the supply of Malt liquor to soldiers, and should involve a corresponding decrease in the charges. 1892-93, Decrease in Revenue in India.

61. The falling-off of £11,800 in the Revenue in England is accounted for by decreases under Interest, the Secretary of State anticipating that the loans from his cash balance will be less than this year, and under Telegraph, due to a change in the method of bringing to account the transactions with Telegraph Companies. 1892-93, Revenue in England.

The increase in the receipts from Exchange on Sterling Revenue is due to the fall in the rate of exchange.

62. The following are the more important of the increases and decreases which result in the increase in the Expenditure in India of Rx. 941,400, shown in the statement in paragraph 56:—

| INCREASES. | Rx. | DECREASES. | Rx. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Land Revenue . . . | 143,500 | Interest . . . . | 166,900 |
| Forest . . . . | 65,200 | Scientific and other Minor Departments . . . | 161,600 |
| Post Office . . . | 83,900 | Miscellaneous . . . | 114,900 |
| Education . . . . | 69,900 | Miscellaneous Railway Expenditure . . . | 68,800 |
| Medical . . . . | 96,000 | Civil Works . . . | 238,800 |
| Famine Relief . . . | 127,000 | Special Defence Works . | 89,100 |
| 37. - Construction of Railways | 91,000 | | |
| State Railways, Working Expenses . . . . | 224,600 | | |
| Ditto ditto Interest . | 137,300 | | |

63. The increase under Land Revenue is distributed over all the Provinces except Assam. The more important increases are, in Bengal, Rx. 50,600—Rx. 42,900 being for larger expenditure on Survey and Settlements, some of it in Behar, and Rx. 9,000 for improved sanitation on Government estates: in Madras Rx. 38,300—most of this is due to the gradual introduction of a scheme for the revision of village establishments under which the Village officers are paid by fixed salaries, and recoveries effected by means of a Local Cess: in Burma Rx. 28,200—being increased expenditure on Survey and Settlement: in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, Rx. 11,700—mostly in charges for District administration; and in Bombay Rx. 10,700—for arrears of allowances to Village officers and for the reorganisation of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture.

The increase under Forest is a consequence of the expansion of the operations, and of improvements in the organisation, of the Department. It is accompanied by an increase of Revenue.

Most of the increase shown under Post Office is nominal, being due to the transfer of certain Printing and Stationery charges, amounting to Rx. 64,200, to the head as explained in paragraph 76 in Section IV: the remainder is the normal annual increase due to the expansion of operations.

The increase under Education occurs in all Provinces, the largest increase being in the Local Expenditure in Madras.

Under Medical more than half of the increase shown above is nominal, being due to the transfer to this head from Miscellaneous of Local Sanitation charges in Madras; the remainder is distributed over all the Provinces except Bengal, where there is a small decrease.

In view of the scarcity in Madras, the Madras Government think it necessary to provide for an expenditure of ten lakhs of rupees under Famine Relief. The Bengal Government has also provided two lakhs under the head, and the Bombay Government one lakh.

The increase under the head 37, Construction of Railways, is mainly the result of a special provision of Rx. 118,300 to be expended in carrying out the Railway programme of the Government of India, and of an increase of Rx. 61,900 in the Provincial Expenditure on the Mayaveram-Mutupet Railway in Madras, counterbalanced by a decrease of Rx. 92,000 in that on the Hyderabad Umarkot Railway in Bombay.

The increase under State Railways, Working Expenses, is required in consequence of the anticipated increase in traffic and Railway Receipts.

The increase in State Railways, Interest, is a transfer from the Interest on Ordinary Debt, and follows, as a matter of course, the increase of the Capital Expenditure on Railways.

64. The decrease under Interest represents the transfers from Ordinary to Public Works Debt of Interest on the Capital Expenditure on Railways and Irrigation Works.

The decrease under Scientific and other Departments is due to the practical completion of Census work this year.

The decrease under Miscellaneous occurs in Madras: nearly half of it is due to the transfer to Medical of Local Sanitation charges, and the remainder to the omission of the "reserve" which was made by the Madras Government last year.

The decrease under Miscellaneous Railway Expenditure occurs because smaller provision is required for Railway Surveys.

Under Civil Works the Expenditure is reduced by Rx. 110,000 in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Budget Estimate of 1891-92 having made special provision, amounting to Rx. 120,000, for water-supply and sanitation projects; and in Madras there is a reduction of Rx. 122,400, as the Local Government is restricting the expenditure in consequence of the strain thrown on its finances by the scarcity. There are also decreases in Bombay, Rx. 63,000; Bengal, Rx. 91,100 (the decreases in Bombay and Bengal are due partly to the revision of the Provincial Contracts rendering it necessary for the Local Governments to reduce for a time the high Public Works Expenditure which accumulated balances had enabled them to incur); the Punjab, Rx. 22,300; and the Central Provinces, Rx. 28,700; while increased expenditure is contemplated in Burma, Rx. 46,000, Assam, Rx. 98,900, and the smaller Provinces under the Government of India, Rx. 53,800, the last being due partly to the necessity of providing relief works in Ajmere.

The grant for Special Defence Works has been fixed at a lower amount than for 1891-92.

65. The increase in the deductions shown in the table in paragraph 56 on account of the "Adjustment of Provincial and Local Surplus or Deficit" represents the amount by which Local Governments propose to increase their Expenditure from accumulated balances Most of this increase may be ascribed to the revision of the Provincial Contracts explained in Section VI, by which a portion of the surpluses of Provincial Revenues are resumed by the Government of India. Notwithstanding the revision, most of the Local Governments are able to continue their expenditure on much the same scale as in the current year.

1892-93. Expenditure in England.

66. The Expenditure in England in the two years does not differ much. The only variations which need be noticed are those under Army. The expenditure on Military Stores, chiefly Ordnance, is expected to be less next year than this by £115,500; and a saving is anticipated in the Troopship Service of £27,200; while the charges of the War Office for British Forces in India are increased by £35,000, Furlough allowances by £10,000, and the Non-Effective charges by £31,600.

1892-93, Exchange. The increase of Rx. 1,725,200 in the Exchange on Expenditure in England is due to the fall in the rate from 1*s.* 5¼*d.* to 1*s.* 4*d.* This heavy loss is the main reason why the prospects of 1892-93 are not considerably better than were those of 1891-92.

Section IV.—Examination of the Estimates under the more important heads of Revenue and Expenditure.

LAND REVENUE.

67. The Estimates for 1891-92 and for 1892-93, and the Actuals for the three preceding years, are shown in the following statement:—

| | Accounts, 1888-89. | Accounts, 1889-90. | Accounts, 1890-91. | Budget Estimate, 1891-92. | Revised Estimate, 1891-92. | Budget Estimate, 1892-93. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Rx. | Rx. | Rx. | Rx. | Rx. | Rx. |
| Revenue, including that due to Irrigation . | 23,687,445 | 24,671,165 | 24,754,205 | 25,155,500 | 24,570,000 | 25,379,900 |
| Expenditure . . | 3,513,957 | 3,624,194 | 3,676,596 | 3,887,400 | 3,833 200 | 4,031,000 |
| Net . | 20,173,488 | 21,046,971 | 21,077,609 | 21,268,100 | 20,736,800 | 21,348,900 |

The scarcity in Madras and Upper Burma is the cause of the falling off in the Revenue in 1891-92. It is expected that the scarcity will reduce the collections below the Budget Estimate by Rx. 603,000 in Madras and by Rx. 48,900 in Upper Burma.

In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh also the Revenue is expected to be less than the Budget Estimate by Rx. 77,600. About Rx. 20,000 of this is due to remissions in a few districts necessitated by floods, inroads of wild cattle, and hail-storms: the rest is due to the expectation of the recurrence of arrears; the Budget Estimate for the current year was framed in the anticipation that the arrears from the previous year would be recovered in addition to the Revenue of this year, but the Local Government now expects that the arrears of this year will be heavy, though not so heavy as were those of the preceding year.

In all other Provinces except the Central Provinces and India General the collections will be above the Budget Estimate, the increase in Lower Burma being Rx. 88,400.

The increase of Revenue shown in the Budget Estimate for 1892-93 is partly due to the normal growth of Revenue, notably in the Punjab as the result of Settlement operations, but also to a large extent to the expectation that some portion of the suspensions in the current year will be recovered next year. The scarcity this year will therefore improve the Revenue next year, so far as can be now foreseen. But this is based on the hope that next year will be a normal season. Should there be any failure of the rains in the coming season, the Budget Estimate may not be realised.

The areas in which agricultural conditions give rise to anxiety are four: first, the Deccan districts in Madras and Bombay, part of the States of Mysore and Hyderabad, and some Madras districts to the south and east of these; second, Rajputana and some of the British districts on its borders in the Bombay Presidency; third, Behar; and fourth, some districts in Upper Burma. Whether matters will improve or grow seriously worse cannot be known with any certainty till June next. The Estimates have been framed in the hope that the serious calamity of a famine will not occur. If a famine should occur, not only will the Land Revenue be reduced, but other Revenue also will suffer, and Expenditure must be increased under many heads beyond the amounts provided in the Estimates.

OPIUM.

68. The figures are—

| | Accounts, 1888-89. | Accounts, 1889-90. | Accounts, 1890-91. | Budget Estimate, 1891-92. | Revised Estimate, 1891-92. | Budget Estimate, 1892-93. |

The average price of Bengal Opium in 1891-92 has been R1,058 a chest, whereas in the Budget Estimate a price of R1,000 a chest only was assumed. The Bengal receipts will consequently be higher than the Budget Estimate by Rx. 324,200.

The exports of Malwa Opium through Bombay have been larger than was anticipated, and the receipts in Bombay have improved by Rx. 110,000.

In accordance with Notification No. 2686, dated 26th June 1891, the number of chests of Bengal Opium to be sold in 1892-93 is smaller than in the current year But neverthless the rise in price justifies the placing of the Budget Estimate somewhat higher than that for this year. For Bombay the Estimate is placed at the same amount as for 1891-92.

The Expenditure in the current year will be lower than the Budget Estimate, the crop of opium having been smaller than expected. The Estimate of Expenditure for 1892-93 is based on the assumption that an average crop will be obtained. The reports regarding the crop indicate that it may be below the average; but it is not considered safe to act on this assumption in framing the Estimates.

SALT.

69. The figures are—

| | Accounts, 1888-89. | Accounts, 1889-90. | Accounts, 1890-91. | Budget Estimate, 1891-92. | Revised Estimate, 1891-92. | Budget Estimate, 1892-93. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|

| Revenue . . . | 7,675,634 | 8,187,739 | 8,523,368 | 8,343,500 | 8,620,700 | 8,544,700 |
| Expenditure . . | 412,979 | 412,766 | 429,013 | 466,900 | 459,600 | 497,500 |
| Net . | 7,262,655 | 7,774,973 | 8,094,355 | 7,876,600 | 8,161,100 | 8,047,200 |

The Salt Revenue in the current year has increased above the expectations of the Budget Estimate in all Provinces with the exception of Madras. In Madras the quantity of salt consumed has increased as in other Provinces, and the decrease in Revenue is due to the allowance made for the exceptional increase in cash payments in 1890-91, mentioned in paragraph 34 of Part II of the Financial Statement of March last, having proved to be insufficient. The Estimate of Revenue for next year is moderately framed at an amount lower by Rx. 76,000 than the Revised Estimate of this year.

The consumption of salt since 1888-89 has been as under:—

| | Maunds. |
|---|---|
| 1888-89 . . . . . . | 31,395,000 |
| 1889-90 . . . . . . | 33,086 000 |
| 1890-91 . . . . . . | 33,320,000 |

STAMPS.

70. The figures are—

| | Accounts, 1888-89. | Accounts, 1889-90. | Accounts, 1890-91. | Budget Estimate, 1891-92. | Revised Estimate, 1891-92. | Budget Estimate, 1892-93. |

The Stamp Revenue fell off in the closing months of 1890-91, and the Revenue of that year was lower than that of the previous year. But the ground lost is expected to be more than made up in the current year.

EXCISE.

71. The figures are—

| | Accounts, 1888-89. | Accounts, 1889-90. | Accounts, 1890-91. | Budget Estimate, 1891-92. | Revised Estimate, 1891-92. | Budget Estimate, 1892-93. |

The increase in the Excise Revenue is distributed over all the Provinces with the one exception of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh. The increase this year is largest in Bengal.

CUSTOMS.

72. The figures are—

| | Accounts, 1888-89. | Accounts, 1889-90. | Accounts, 1890-91. | Budget Estimate, 1891-92. | Revised Estimate, 1891-92. | Budget Estimate, 1892-93. |

The rice duty realised in 1890-91 was, owing to special conditions, abnormally large, and the reduction this year has been even greater than was assumed in the Budget Estimate. The trade at present is active and, unless the next monsoon rains in India should be deficient, in which case Burma rice will be required to supplement local deficiencies, the Estimates should be fully realised. The import revenue shows a normal increase.

ASSESSED TAXES.

73. The figures are—

| | Accounts, 1888-89. | Accounts, 1889-90. | Accounts, 1890-91. | Budget Estimate, 1891-92. | Revised Estimate, 1891-92. | Budget Estimate, 1892-93. |

The receipts from Income Tax are increasing yearly with the growth in wealth and population.

FOREST.

74. The figures are—

| | Accounts, 1888-89. | Accounts, 1889-90. | Accounts, 1890-91. | Budget Estimate, 1891-92. | Revised Estimate, 1891-92. | Budget Estimate, 1892-93. |

| Expenditure | 792,000 | 780,035 | 784,113 | 905,700 | 879,800 | 970,500 |
| Net | 557,047 | 706,268 | 663,889 | 605,400 | 618,000 | 596,700 |

The financial results of Forest administration are expected to remain much the same as was estimated in March last. There has been a considerable increase of Revenue compared with the previous year, but the Expenditure has also increased. For next year a similar result is expected.

INTEREST.

75. The Interest receipts since 1888-89 are shown below:—

|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| REVENUE— | | | | | | | |
| India | Rx. | 643,310 | 676,703 | 710,552 | 764,700 | 799,200 | 873,500 |
| England | £ | 135,477 | 135,633 | 166,194 | 30,000 | 58,000 | 25,000 |
| Exchange | Rx. | 63,035 | 60,865 | 54,304 | 11,700 | 25,300 | 12,500 |
| TOTAL | Rx. | 841,822 | 873,201 | 931,050 | 806,400 | 882,500 | 911,000 |

The moderate and steady rate of progress in the receipts in India continues. The increase in the Revised Estimate is accounted for by the receipt of Rx. 39,700, as interest on overdrawn Capital of Railway Companies, the other receipts being slightly reduced owing to the sums placed at the disposal of Local Governments for loans to Municipalities and other bodies not having been fully utilised. Of the increase in the Budget Estimate Rx. 40,600 is for interest on overdrawn Capital, Rx. 38,000 is in consequence of the increase of the Currency investment by one crore in accordance with the Notification in the Finance and Commerce Department No. 4861, dated 3rd December 1891, and the remainder comes from the loans to Municipalities and other bodies.

The Secretary of State obtained higher rates of interest on the temporary investments of his cash balance than he was able to count on in the Budget Estimate. During next year the cash balance available for investment will be smaller than this year.

The Expenditure under Interest (other than that charged to Railways and Irrigation Works) has been as follows since 1881-82:—

| YEAR. | India. | England. | Exchange. | TOTAL. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Rx. | £ | Rx. | Rx. |

The decrease in the Expenditure in India is the consequence of the transfers from Ordinary to Public Works Debt.

The increase in the Expenditure in England in the Revised Estimate is on account of discount paid on the loan raised in England and on sales of stock, as explained in para. 54.

In 1890-91 for the first time the Post Office transactions as recorded on the Finance and Revenue Accounts showed a small surplus. A similar small surplus would have appeared on the Revised Estimate for 1891-92 and on the Budget Estimate for 1892-93 had it not been for a recent decision to charge to the Post Office the expenditure on printing and stationery incurred on its account in the Central Press and Stationery Office, as well as the portion incurred directly by Post Office officials, which latter has always been so charged.

The increase in receipts during the current year is chiefly due to the large expansion of traffic from India and other Eastern Countries to Europe, and to the development of press and other private traffic in India. There is also a special increase caused by telegrams relating to Military Expeditions.

The coinage in 1890-91 was unprecedentedly large. This year it has fallen much below the average. Hence the reduction in the Revenue and Expenditure shown in the Revised as compared with the Budget Estimate. A coinage more nearly equal to the average is assumed in 1892-93.

The value of silver bullion presented at the Mints for coinage has been as under in the last few years:—

A considerable part of the increase under General Administration occurs in the Exchange on Sterling Expenditure; the remainder is distributed over the Expenditure in England and of the Government of India and most of the Local Governments.

The provision made in the Budget Estimate of this year for Judicial Establishments has proved to be more than was required in Bengal, Madras, and Bombay, and the increase of those establishments in the two former Provinces will not be so great as was anticipated last March. On the other hand, it has been necessary to increase the expenditure in the Central Provinces, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, and the Punjab.

The saving shown in the Revised Estimate of this year under Jails occurs chiefly in Bengal and Burma, the greater part of the saving in Bengal being under Manufactures and being more than counterbalanced by a falling off in the receipts. On the other hand, there has been a large excess in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, where the Jail population is high.

The saving shown in the Revised Estimate under Police has been explained in paragraph 51. The Expenditure in Burma will be smaller also in 1892-93; but that saving is nearly swallowed up by renewed provision in all other Provinces for increasing the efficiency of the Police.

The reduction in the Revised Estimate under Marine occurs in Burma and England. In Burma it has not been possible to complete the construction of a vessel required for the Baragua Flats. In England the subsidy to the Admiralty mentioned in paragraph 29 of Part II of the Financial Statement of March last will not be payable for the whole year, owing to there having been delay by the Admiralty in taking over charge of the Defence vessels, this saving being partly absorbed by increased expenditure on the purchase of stores. In 1892-93 the vessel for Burma will be paid for, the Admiralty subsidy will be payable for the whole year, the expenditure on English stores will be as high as this year, and there will also be an increase in the charges of the Imperial Marine Department in India owing chiefly to the establishment of ferries on the Indus for Military purposes.

The increase in Expenditure on Education and for Medical purposes continues. But Rx. 50,000 of the increase under Medical is nominal in both years, being due to a change in the classification in the accounts of Local Sanitation charges in Madras.

Under Scientific and other Minor Departments there will be a large reduction next year, as but little Census Expenditure will remain to be met. The reduction would have been greater had it not been for the recent sanction to the establishment of a Civil Veterinary Department.

The increase in the Revised Estimate under Territorial and Political Pensions occurs in England, where arrears of the stipend of His Highness Maharaja Dhuleep Sing were paid, the payments to the Maharaja being also increased by a reduction in the rate of interest on the advances to him.

The amounts of the payments on account of Furlough Allowances fluctuate with the rate of exchange.

The charges for Pensions are increasing, a part of the increase in this year and next being due to the decision to pay certain pensions at the minimum rate of 1*s.* 9*d.* the rupee.

The amounts shown in the Revised Estimate of 1891-92 and in the Budget Estimate of 1892-93 under Stationery and Printing would have been much larger had it not been for the decision mentioned in para. 76 to charge the Post Office with the cost of all its printing and stationery. This has had the effect of transferring from the head Stationery and Printing to Post Office Rx. 62,300 in the Revised Estimate, and Rx. 64,200 in the Estimate for next year. There is therefore a considerable real increase of Expenditure under this head to be explained. While there has been some increase in the amount of printing done and of stationery used, the main reason of the rise under the head is to be found in the orders issued some years ago to substitute, as far as possible, the use of paper manufactured in India for paper procured from England. In the present year the purchases of paper in India have shown a marked increase, as the stocks of paper in the Calcutta Stationery Office procured from England under the old procedure have hitherto met a large portion of the demands, and those stocks have only now been exhausted. The exhaustion of the stock of English paper was not sufficiently allowed for in framing the Budget Estimate. The stocks of English paper having been exhausted, the local purchases must continue on the higher level in future years. The reduction of the sterling charges in England caused by the substitution of Indian-made for English-made paper took place some years ago when the indents for paper were reduced : the corresponding increase in the charges in India has only now reached its full extent.

The reduction in the Expenditure under Miscellaneous, both in the Revised Estimate of 1891-92 and in the Budget Estimate of 1892-93, as compared with the Budget Estimate of 1891-92, has been explained in paragraphs 51 and 64.

In accordance with the policy announced in the last two Financial Statements, the Famine Grant has been raised to its original amount of Rx.1,500,000 in the present year, and will be maintained at that amount in 1892-93.

The scarcity in Madras and Rajputana has caused the Expenditure on Famine Relief to exceed the Budget Estimate; and the Bombay Government has provided for some expenditure in the latter months of the year, while for next year the Madras Government has provided Rx.100,000, the Bengal Government Rx. 20,000, and the Bombay Government Rx. 10,000.

It may be mentioned here that the provision made in Madras for Famine Relief has the effect of reducing the Madras Provincial balance below the prescribed minimum of Rx. 200,000. As the minimum balances of Local Governments were prescribed in order that there might be a reserve to meet Expenditure caused by famine, the reduction of the Madras balance is in this instance unobjectionable. This increase of Expenditure on direct Famine Relief is but a small portion of the effect produced on the finances by the scarcity. In addition to the loss of Land Revenue mentioned in para. 67, it has been necessary to open Famine Relief works in Madras, Ajmere, and Upper Burma, which will involve considerable expenditure both this year and next; but the expenditure on them is charged to the heads of account proper to the particular works opened.

The excess expenditure shown in the Revised Estimate on Protective Irrigation Works is on account of the more vigorous prosecution of the Rushikulya project in Madras.

The reduction under Protective Railways and the increase under Reduction of Debt shown in the Revised Estimate are in consequence of it having been found impossible to spend the full amount of the grant provided in the Budget Estimate for Capital Expenditure on Railways.

Railways in 1891-92.

It will be seen that the net loss on the railway account, which was estimated in the Budget of the current year at Rx. 1,501,700, is in the Revised Estimate placed at only Rx. 528,800, being an improvement of Rx. 972,900. The increase in the net traffic receipts of State Railways is Rx. 1,019,100, and the increase in the net traffic receipts of Guaranteed Railways Rx. 283,000; on the other hand, the fall in exchange, which increases the equivalent of the sterling payments of interest in England, causes an additional charge of Rx. 238,200, and the surplus profits payable to Companies are increased by Rx. 161,300.

The Miscellaneous Railway Expenditure is now expected to be less than the Budget Estimate by Rx. 39,800.

State Railways, 1891-92.

The gross traffic receipts of State Railways will probably exceed the amount entered in the Budget by Rx. 1,508,100, while the excess in working expenses will be Rx. 489,000.

The principal fluctuations in net receipts are the following:—

| | Revised Estimate more (+) or less (—) than the Budget Estimate. |
|---|---|
| | Rx. |
| East Indian Railway . . . . . . . . | +365,000 |
| North-Western Railway . . . . . . . | +300,000 |
| Rajputana-Malwa Railway . . . . . . . | +197,500 |
| Bengal Nagpur Railway . . . . . . . | +158,000 |
| Indian Midland Railway . . . . . . . | + 22,000 |
| Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway . . . . . . | + 60,000 |
| Southern Mahratta Railway . . . . . . . | + 15,500 |
| Bengal and North-Western and Tirhoot Railways . . . | — 97,500 |
| Eastern Bengal State Railway . . . . . . | —102,500 |

On all the lines showing a considerable increase, the principal cause of the increase is the largely augmented traffic in wheat and seeds carried to Calcutta, Bombay, and Karachi for export to Europe. Scarcity in Rajputana and high prices in Hyderabad and the Southern Mahratta country have caused considerable movement in food-grains. Part of the increase on the East Indian Railway is due to the continued expansion of the coal traffic.

In coaching traffic the chief contributors to the increase are the North-Western and Oudh and Rohilkhand Railways, on account of fairs at Hardwar, and the Bengal-Nagpur, which shows a satisfactory development in the whole of its traffic.

The decrease in net receipts on the Bengal and North-Western and Tirhoot Railways is chiefly due to provision being made for payment to the Company of their share of net earnings for three half-years, as their share for the second half-year of 1890 was not paid in 1890-91, and so became an unexpected charge against 1891-92; there is also a slight falling off in the earnings, due to scarcity in Tirhoot.

The Eastern Bengal State Railway has suffered from the partial failure of the jute crop, but the main cause for the falling off in net receipts is the large renewals which have been carried out, and which were not anticipated when the Budget Estimates were framed.

The gross receipts of the Madras Railway are Rx. 30,000 below the Budget Estimate.

The Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway and the Great Indian Peninsula Railway are now expected to yield, respectively, Rx. 55,000 and Rx. 258,000 more than the net receipts entered in the Budget Estimate. The improvement is all in goods traffic and is due to the causes just mentioned in connection with State Railways.

Railways in 1892-93.

Excluding Exchange, on which account a sum of Rx. 406,300 is provided in excess of that entered in the Revised Estimate, the net result on the Railway account for 1892-93 is Rx. 639,400 worse than the Revised Estimate of the current year. It is not considered safe to estimate for such exceptional traffic as has been secured in 1891-92; and there is a considerable increase in the charge for interest owing to increase of Capital outlay.

State Railways, 1892-93.

In 1892-93 the gross receipts of State Railways are estimated at Rx. 624,200 less than in the Revised Estimate of 1891-92. The most noticeable fluctuations occur on the East Indian Railway (—Rx.280,000); Rajputana-Malwa Railway (—Rx.243,800); Bengal-Nagpur Railway (+ Rx. 32,000); Eastern Bengal State Railway (+Rx. 35,000); Bengal and North-Western and Tirhoot Railways (+Rx. 35,000); North-Western Railway (—Rx. 340,000); South Indian Railway (+Rx. 91,000).

Guaranteed Railways, 1892-93.

The net traffic receipts of the Guaranteed Railways are taken at Rx. 203,000 below the Revised Estimate of 1891-92; this is entirely due to the Estimates for 1892-93 being framed on the basis of a normal year with an allowance for natural expansion, and not on the very high receipts of the current year. Surplus profits, Land and Supervision are expected to diminish by Rx. 150,500.

IRRIGATION.

The improvement in Revenue during the current year is due to the irrigated area in the North-Western Provinces and Punjab having been larger than was anticipated in the Budget Estimate for 1891-92.

The Budget for the ensuing year shows that the revenue is expected to fall off by Rx. 32,900. The decrease occurs in the North-Western Provinces and

Oudh, where it is not anticipated that the season of 1892-93 will be so favourable for artificial irrigation as those of the previous two years. On the other hand, increases are expected from the growth of irrigation in the Punjab and Madras.

The increase in Expenditure in the current year is mainly due to Famine Relief Works in Upper Burma, Madras, and Rajputana. The Budget provides for a decrease in expenditure owing to the curtailment of outlay on Minor Irrigation Works in Madras and the cessation of Famine Works in Upper Burma.

The slight improvement in revenue in the Revised Estimate of 1891-92 is chiefly due to increased receipts from tolls on ferries and roads maintained from Local Funds.

The increase of Rx. 84,900 in the Military Works expenditure in the Revised is mainly due to special expenditure on the restoration of buildings at Quetta damaged by rain, and to outlay of Rx. 61,600 on measures intended to facilitate the speedy mobilization of the army in time of war. The increase of Imperial expenditure in 1891-92 under Civil Works amounts to Rx. 74,800, and is due to special expenditure on buildings at Quetta and Famine Relief Works in Upper Burma and in Rajputana. There is a decrease of Rx. 83,400 under Provincial.

An increase of Rx. 63,300 occurs under Local for Public Works under the control of Local Boards.

SPECIAL DEFENCE WORKS.

| | Rx. |
|---|---|
| To end of 1885-86 | 137,811 |
| 1886-87 | 325,626 |
| 1887-88 | 456,017 |
| 1888-89 | 789,595 |
| 1889 90 | 689,481 |
| 1890-91 | 491,837 |

| 1891-92 { Revised " | 550,000 |
| 1892-93, Budget " | 614,500 |

As has usually been the case in the past, the grant for this expenditure will not be fully utilized in the current year; and a smaller grant has been given for 1892-93. The lapse is chiefly on the English grant, and the slower progress in England involves less outlay in India.

The total expenditure on Special Defence Works being estimated at Rx. 5,000,000, if the amounts shown above for 1891-92 and 1892-93 are spent, there will remain Rx. 945,133 to be incurred in 1893-94 and future years.

Section V.—Expenditure not charged to Revenue.

88. The following table gives the figures of the estimates for 1891-92 and 1892-93 for Capital Expenditure on Railways exclusive of sums found by Local Governments out of Provincial resources, the amounts charged to the Famine grant and to the head "37—Construction of Railways" being included for convenience, although charged to Revenue:—

| | India. | England. | Exchange. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Rx. | Rx. | Rx. | Rx. |
| 1891-92, Budget Estimate | 2,266,600 | 1,192 000 | 466,400 | 3,925,000 |
| 1891-92, Revised Estimate | 1,825,200 | 870,000 | 379,300 | 3,074.500 |
| 1892-93, Budget Estimate | 2,542,000 | 1,382,000 | 691,000 | 4,615,000 |

Of the totals shown above the following amounts are taken as charges against the Famine G.ant for Protective Railways, namely, in the Budget Estimate of 1891-92, Rx. 975,000; in the Revised Estimate of 1891-92, Rx. 294,900; and in 1892-93, Rx. 1,011,700. In 1892-93 Rx. 118,300 is also charged under 37—Construction of Railways.

The Capital Expenditure on Railways in 1891-92 will be less than the Budget grant by Rx. 850,500 Of this lapse, Rx. 170,400 has been utilised for increased Capital Expenditure on Irrigation Works, and the remainder appears in the reduction in the Revised Estimate of the Expenditure on Protective Railways. The heaviest expenditure has been on the East Coast, the Mu Valley, the Godra-Rutlam, South Indian (including Villupuram-Guntakal), and the Dharmaveram-Hindupur Railway. The Chaman Extension of the Sind-Pishin Railway has been completed during the year, and also the Mianwali-Mari Branch of the North-Western system, while a start was made on the Barsoe-Kishengunge, the Lucknow-Rai Bareli-Jaunpur, the Bengal-Assam, the Bareilly-Rampur-Moradabad, the Mari-Attock, and the Muskhaf-Bolan Railways.

The provision for 1892-93 will, it is hoped, practically complete the Villupuram-Guntakal Section of the South Indian Railway and the Dharmaveram-Hindupur Extension, while large grants have been provided for the Godra-Rutlam, the Bareilly-Rampur-Moradabad, the Mari-Attock, the Lucknow-Rai Bareli-Jaunpur, gradient improvements of the North-Western Railway, the Mu Valley, the Bengal-Assam, and the Jherria Extension of the East Indian Railway.

The following figures show the rate at which Railways have been constructed at the cost, or on the responsibility, of the Government since 1880:—

| Date. | Number of miles open. |

The increase of Rx. 170,400 in the Expenditure of the current year is due to a portion of the lapse on the Railway Capital grant having been utilised to secure the earlier completion of the Chenab Canal Works.

Section VI.—Revision of the Provincial Contracts.

90. It has long been the policy of the Government of India to delegate some of its powers in respect of certain Revenues and Expenditure to Local Governments.

The first step in this direction was taken in 1870, when certain heads of Expenditure were made Provincial, the Local Governments being given, under conditions, the powers possessed by the Government of India in the matter of sanctioning expenditure, and the financial responsibility of Local Governments being enforced by requiring them to keep the total Provincial Expenditure within the amount assigned for all the heads, plus any savings from that amount effected in previous years.

This policy was subsequently extended by making Provincial also some heads of Revenue, the financial responsibility of the Local Governments remaining as before, with the addition that they were allowed to spend any increases of Revenue obtained by them during the period for which the arrangement was made.

Still later, in restriction of the power of spending savings of previous years, Local Governments were required to maintain minimum balances of amounts fixed for each Province, to be drawn against in the event of pressure, such, for example, as the opening of works for the employment of labour in time of scarcity.

The arrangements with Local Governments to give effect to the delegation of powers as above explained are made for fixed periods, at the end of which the arrangements are subject to revision as well in respect of the heads of Revenue and Expenditure made Provincial as in respect of the assignment, including Revenue, made to the Local Government to cover the Provincial Expenditure.

91. The existing arrangements described in general terms in the preceding paragraph, commonly called contracts, come to an end with the close of the current year, having been made for the five years 1887-88 to 1891-92; and it has been necessary to settle the terms of the contracts to be in force during the next five years. The Government of India have been in correspondence with all the Local Governments concerned during the year. The final result of that correspondence is as follows.

92. The new contracts are framed on the same general lines as the preceding ones. The terms of the contract for each Province are contained in two Resolutions. The first of these is reprinted as an Appendix to this statement; it consolidates and re-enacts, with some modifications, the general rules relating to the powers of Local Governments under the scheme of provincial finance. In the second the heads of Revenue and Expenditure which are made provincial are stated, it being declared that Revenue and Expenditure classified in the accounts under those heads, and no other, is Provincial; and the amount of the addition to, or the deduction from, the Provincial Revenue which is required to place the province in equilibrium is stated.

93. The following statement shows the total Provincial Expenditure and Revenue, as estimated for the new contracts, and the amount of the adjusting addition to or deduction from the Revenue of each province:—

| | Central Provinces. | Burma (Lower). | Assam. | Bengal. | North-Western Provinces and Oudh. | Punjab. | Madras. | Bombay. |

94. The Revenue and Expenditure shown in the above statement are estimates of the amounts which may be taken as fairly representing, generally, the normal Revenue and Expenditure of each Province at the existing stage of growth. The actual Revenue and Expenditure will of course vary from year to year. But the amount of the adjustment is fixed for the five years.

95. The amount of the adjustment shown in paragraph 93 is not an index either of the financial position of the province or of the effect on the provincial finances of the revision of the contract. It is merely the amount required to place in equilibrium the Revenue and Expenditure which it has been found expedient to make provincial.

96. The financial effect of the revision of the contracts is the resumption by the Government of India of the following surpluses from Provincial Governments:—

| | Rx. |
|---|---|
| Central Provinces . . . . . . . . . . . | 22,700 |
| Lower Burma . . . . . . . . . . | 58,900 |
| Bengal . . . . . . . . . . . . . | 51,900 |

| Bombay . . . . . . . . . . . . . | 131,100 |
| TOTAL . | 466,300 |

97. These surpluses are the share of the increase in Revenue in the past five years which the needs of Imperial Revenues require the Government of India to resume from Local Governments. The statement below shows to what extent the Provincial Revenues have increased in each Province since the estimate for the contracts now coming to an end was framed. The statement also shows the extent to which the Local Governments have used their increased Revenues in the five years, and the closing balance of each year :—

* Actuals of 1886-87.

Note.—In this statement Railway Revenue and Expenditure have been taken net.

98. It will be seen from the foregoing statement that the increase of revenue in the past five years has in every Province been much greater than the amount of the surplus which is now to be resumed. The difference the Local Governments have been allowed to retain to enable them to meet the increase of Expenditure which has occurred in the five years. It would have been desirable, if possible, to allow the Local Governments to retain the whole of the increase, as all of them have many needs on which money could be beneficially spent. But as stated in Part I of this Statement, this could not have been done without imposing additional taxation, and it is a less evil to restrict to some extent the progress of useful Provincial Expenditure than to impose additional taxation. The total increase in Provincial Revenue for all Provinces has been Rx. 2,042,700. The surplus resumed by the Imperial Government is Rx. 466,300, or less than one-fourth. The amount to be resumed has been fixed in every case on a careful consideration of the circumstances of each Province,

HOME TREASURY.

99. The Budget and Revised Estimates of the transactions of the Home Treasury for 1891-92 compare as follows:—

Council Bills. The total estimate of the Secretary of State's drawings for the two years 1891-92 and 1892-93 is £33,200,000. It is now expected that Rx. 16,200,000 will be drawn during the current year.

3 per cent. Sterling Loan issued. As explained in paragraph 68, page 46, of the last Financial Statement, the loan of £2,600,000 proposed in the Budget was required partly for the repayment of a portion of the India 3½ per cent. debentures which fell due on 16th August 1891 and partly for advances to Railway Companies under the Oudh and Rohilkhund Railway Purchase Act. The loan was issued at an average rate of £94-10-2¼*d.* per cent. During the year the Secretary of State decided to issue additional 3 per cent. Stock to the amount of £2,000,000. This was required (a) for the discharge of £911,900 debentures of the Southern Mahratta Railway Company which expired on the 1st October 1891: in the Budget Estimate it was anticipated that additional capital would be received from the Company for this purpose; (b) for the discharge of £1,000,000 Oudh and Rohilkhund Railway debentures which will expire on 1st April 1892, and (c) for the discharge of £600,000 debentures of the Southern Mahratta Railway Company expiring on 1st April 1892.

Capital Receipts from and Issues to Railway Companies. A sum of £302,143 of the loan of £2,600 000 remained unappropriated, and a total sum of £2,302,143 is therefore available for the discharge of the debentures just described, amounting to £2,511,900. The balance will be met from the loan to be raised in 1892-93. The additional Stock of £2,000,000 was issued at a price of £95 per cent.

100. The details of the estimated transactions of the Railway Companies are as follow:—

| Madras Railway . . . . . . . . | 124,000 | 145,600 |
| | 2,974,000 | 3,126,400 |

These transactions are liable to heavy fluctuations on account of changes in the programme of the Companies. As regards the receipts, the Rohilkhund Kumaon Railway, instead of paying £160,000 in England, paid its equivalent in India in exercise of an option given to the Company by the Contract. The receipt of £1,000,000 from the Southern Mahratta Railway Company was intended to replace debentures to be paid off in the year, but £88,100 out of those debentures were renewed and £911,900 paid off with funds raised by the issue of 3 per cent. stock, as above explained. The difference between the Budget and Revised, of £20,500, in the case of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway, represents debentures renewed. The requirements of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway were reduced by £569,000, but, on the other hand, a sum of £12,400 was received from the Madras Railway Company in 1891-92 which it was expected to receive in 1890-91.

The variations in the Estimates of payments for discharge of debentures are due (1) to partial provision towards paying off £600,000, debentures of the Southern Mahratta Railway, and (2) to the renewal instead of discharge, as originally provided for in the Budget, of debentures amounting to £88,100 and £20,500, respectively, of the Southern Mahratta and the Bombay, Baroda Companies.

The large reduction in the net payments on account of Remittances from India occurs chiefly in the advances for purchase of stores, for the Rajputana-Malwa and South Indian Railways and also in the payments on account of Indian Money Orders.

101. The following is the Budget Estimate of the Ways and Means of the Home Treasury for 1892-93:—

| | Budget, 1892-93. |
|---|---|
| Net Receipts. | £ |
| Council Bills | 17,000,000 |

| TOTAL | 23,853,850 |

The loan of £1,800,000 is required partly for the discharge of the Southern Mahratta and Oudh and Rohilkhund Railway Debentures and partly for advances to Railway Companies. At present it is estimated that the drawings on India in the year will be £17,000,000. It should be understood that in stating the present intentions of the Secretary of State, no sort of pledge is given that he will adhere to the programme above explained, and that the amounts to be obtained by bills or by loans may be varied from time to time as may seem expedient.

102. The Ways and Means Estimate of India is as follows:—

| | Budget. | Revised. | Budget. |

| Total | 40,987,621 | 44,298,144 | 43,237,244 |

The headings in italics are connected with, and explained by, the corresponding figures of the Secretary of State's account in England. The others refer to purely Indian transactions.

103. No public loan was raised in India in the current year or in 1890-91. Public Loans. The Estimates do not provide for the issue of any loan in India in 1892-93. But the Government of India are unable to say positively that there will or will not be a loan, and full liberty is reserved, as usual, to modify the present Estimates to any extent which may be expedient, and to issue a loan if one is required.

The fact that no loan has been raised for two years, and that it has been considered possible to frame the Estimates for a third year on the assumption that there will be no loan, is due to the following causes:—

(1) The large surpluses of 1889-90 and 1890-91.

(2) The provision made for reduction of debt since 1889-90.

(3) The large increase in the Savings Bank deposits.

(4) The fact that the Secretary of State hopes to receive in 1892-93 considerable Capital Receipts from Railway Companies, only a portion of which will be required for expenditure next year.

(5) The fact that the Secretary of State intends to meet a portion of his expenditure in 1892-93 by drawing on his cash balance.

Savings Banks.

104. The following are the usual details of the transactions of the Savings Banks during the last few years :—

| YEAR. | Net additions to deposits cash. | Interest. | Total addition. |
|---|---|---|---|
| | Rx. | Rx. | Rx. |
| 1887-88 | 656,330 | 224,000 | 880,300 |
| 1888-89 | 685,200 | 261,800 | 947,000 |
| 1889-90 | —362,900 | 272,200 | —90,700 |
| 1890-91 | 250,700 | 279,700 | 530,400 |
| 1891-92, Budget | 229,500 | 305,100 | 534,600 |
| 1891-92, Revised | 530,000 | 305,400 | 835,400 |
| 1892-93, Budget | 459,400 | 333,800 | 793,200 |

The Post Office Savings Bank deposits now show a steady increase in spite of the reduction of the limits for deposits. The Budget Estimate of these deposits is framed with moderation, and allowance has been made for some falling off next year owing to the expectation of scarcity and dearness of provisions in some Provinces.

Appropriation for reduction of Debt.

The sum of Rx. 802,800, credited in the Revised Estimate under "Appropriation for Reduction of Debt," represents the amount charged to Revenue to raise the Famine Grant to Rx. 1,500,000. Provision was made in the Budget Estimate of the current year for an expenditure of Rx. 975,000 out of the Famine Grant on construction of Protective Railways, but only a portion of the amount having been spent the above amount has been set free for appropriation for reduction of debt.

Loans to Municipalities, etc.

The net amounts to be advanced to Municipalities, Presidency Corporations and others during 1891-92 and 1892-93 are Rx. 935,300 and 611,500. These include Rx. 471,300 and Rx. 432,700 respectively placed at the disposal of Local Governments under the Provincial Advance and Loan scheme, referred to in paragraph 62 of Part II of the Financial Statement of March 1890. They also include Rx. 410,000 and Rx. 65,600 required by the Calcutta and Bombay Port Trusts for the Kidderpore and Victoria Docks. The approaching completion of the Kidderpore docks is the chief cause of the reduction in the aggregate amount of advances provided for in 1892-93. The following is an account of the advances to the Calcutta and Bombay Port Trusts on account of the docks :—

| | Calcutta. | Bombay. |
|---|---|---|
| | Rx. | Rx. |
| Up to 1890-91 | 2,194,566 | 878,622 |
| Advances in 1891-92 | 390,000 | 20,000 |
| " " 1892-93 | 55,600 | 10,000 |

Capital of Railway Companies.

105. The capital transactions with the Railway Companies in 1891-92 are expected to result in a net receipt in India of Rx. 214,200 instead of a net payment of Rx. 184,200 anticipated in the Budget Estimate. This is due partly to the payment in India instead of in England by the Rohilkhund Kumaon Railway Company of the equivalent of £160,000 referred to in paragraph 100, and partly to smaller capital expenditure in India.

Cash Balance.

106. The current year is now expected to close with a cash balance of Rx. 16,750,044 instead of Rx. 13,570,321, estimated in the last Financial Statement. The year 1892 93 is expected to close with a cash balance of 13,298,844.

Section VIII.—Summary.

107. The principal features in this Statement are—

(a) The Accounts of 1890-91 have closed with a surplus of Rx. 3,688,171.

(b) The Revised Estimates of 1891-92 show a deficit of Rx. 80,000 against the surplus of Rx. 115,600 shown in the Budget Estimate of the year. The increase in Military Expenditure caused mainly by expeditions and measures designed to facilitate mobilisation in time of war, the fall in the rate of exchange from 1*s*. 5¼*d*. to 1*s*. 4·713*d*. the rupee, and the falling off in Land Revenue, are the causes of the deterioration. The loss due to those causes is nearly made good by a remarkable improvement in Railway Revenue, by an increase in net Revenue from Opium, and by improvements under other heads of Revenue.

(c) The Budget Estimates of 1892-93 show a surplus of Rx. 146,600.

(d) For 1892-93 the Rate of Exchange is taken at 1*s*. 4*d*. the rupee, giving an increased charge of Rx. 1,708,000. The Estimate of net Revenue from Opium is taken at Rx. 5,399,800, being slightly higher than the Budget Estimate for 1891-92. It is anticipated that a portion of the improvement in Railway Revenue will be retained next year, and that most of the improvements in other Heads of Revenue which have been secured this year will be maintained. A sum of Rx. 466,300 out of the increase in Provincial Revenues secured by Local Governments in the past five years has been resumed by Imperial Revenues on the revision of the Provincial Contracts.

(e) The Expenditure on Railways and Irrigation Works (not charged against Revenue) is estimated at Rx. 3,500,000 in 1891-92 and at Rx. 4,035,000 in 1892-93; this is in addition to Rx. 294,900 in the former and Rx. 1,130,000 in the latter year charged against the Famine Grant and under Head 37—Construction of Railways.

(f) It is expected that the Secretary of State in 1892-93 will sell Council Bills to the amount of £17,000,000 and raise a loan of £1,800,000. The loan is required for the discharge of certain Railway debentures and for advances to Railway Companies. These announcements are accompanied by the usual reservation of entire liberty to the Secretary of State to vary the amounts to be obtained by bills or raised by loan as he may find occasion.

(g) The Estimates do not provide for the issue of any loan in India in 1892-93. The surpluses of 1889-90 and 1890-91, the sums provided for Reduction of Debt in 1889-90, 1890-91, and in 1891-92, and the increase in the Savings Bank Deposits, are the main reasons why the Government of India consider that it may be possible for a third year to meet the Capital Expenditure not charged to Revenue without borrowing. No pledge, however, is given that the Government will not borrow in India next year.

(h) The financial prospects of 1892-93 are considered to depend largely on the degree of scarcity or famine that may be experienced in the coming year. The currency question is a source of much anxiety as regards the future.

RESOLUTION.—In supersession of the orders read in the preamble and all other existing orders on the subject, His Excellency the Governor General in Council is pleased to lay down, with effect from 1st April 1892, the following rules and conditions regulating the administration by Local Governments of Provincial Revenues and Expenditure.

2. The powers vested in Local Governments by this Resolution are subject to the general supervision and control of the Government of India; and His Excellency the Governor General in Council expressly reserves the right of issuing instructions to Local Governments on general or particular matters affecting the transferred revenues and services, when such interference with the discretion ordinarily vested in them seems to him expedient.

3. Subject to the limitations hereinafter stated, Local Governments exercise, in respect of Provincial Revenue and Expenditure, all the powers exercised, before the introduction of the system of Provincial finance, by the Government of India. In the case of Revenue and Expenditure classified under heads which are divided between Imperial and Provincial in fixed proportions, those powers are exercised by Local Governments in respect of the Imperial portion also. The powers vested in Local Governments as above are necessarily limited to the powers possessed by the Government of India In all very important matters and in certain minor matters, the orders of the Secretary of State are required; and, although some of the limitations, rendered necessary by this restriction on the powers of the Government of India, are included in the subsequent paragraphs of this Resolution, it should be understood that all orders, which are now in force or which may hereafter be issued, which have the effect of requiring the sanction of the Secretary of State in connection with any matter affecting Revenue or Expenditure, necessarily prevent the Local Governments from issuing, without a reference to the Government of India, final orders in regard to such matter.

4. Without the previous sanction of the Government of India—

(1) No additional taxation may be imposed, and no change made in any existing system of revenue management;

(2) No new general service or duty may be undertaken: whenever a Local Government proposes to undertake any such new service or duty, it must satisfy the Government of India that it can provide the funds for it, temporarily if the service of duty is temporary, and permanently if it is permanent;

(3) No appointment may be created with a pay of more than R250 a month; and no addition may be made to the pay and allowances of any officer if they exceed, or would, after the addition, exceed, R250 a month;

(4) No appointment of which the pay and allowances are more than R250 a month may be abolished; and the pay and allowances of no such appointment may be reduced;

(5) No class or grade of officers may be created or abolished; and the pay of no class or grade of officers may be raised or reduced;

(6) The rates of discount upon the retail of stamps and court-fees labels must not be altered;

(7) The rates of duty on spirits and drugs should not be altered in any case in which the alteration is likely to affect the excise arrangements of neighbouring provinces: and in particular the sanction of the Governor General in Council must be obtained to any alteration in the rates of duty in any district which borders on another province;

(8) No addition may be made to the pay or allowances of any individual officer, or class of officers, that may lead to increase in the emoluments of any public servants doing duty in the same province, whose pay and allowances are not charged under one of the transferred heads of service. The Government of India reserves the right to forbid alterations in rates of pay or allowances, which, in its opinion, would produce inconvenience in other provinces;

(9) No money may be removed from the public treasury for investment or deposit elsewhere; the Government of India, which is responsible for the provision of ways and means for the public service in all departments, must always retain, as at present, in its own hands, absolute and unconditional control over all money in the public treasury: a Local Government may not withdraw such money, except for expenditure upon the public service. This order applies to local fund balances as much as to provincial funds. The principle is that no funds contributed from the public revenues or raised by general taxation, such as the district cess funds, and the like, shall be invested without the consent of the Government of India; these orders do not apply to municipal or port funds nor to trust or endowment funds of any kind;

(10) No alteration must be made in the form or procedure of the public accounts; in particular Local Governments may not issue orders directing the division of a charge between two or more heads of account: the Comptroller General ordinarily decides the proper classification of an item on the accounts;

(11) No services previously rendered to other departments at the charge of the departments made over to the control of the Local Governments may be diminished, and no services previously rendered to these departments at the charge of other departments may be increased;

(12) No line of through communication may be abandoned, or allowed to fall out of repair.

5. The Provincial Revenues and Expenditure consist of the Revenue and Expenditure recorded, under the heads made Provincial, on the books of the Account Officers of the Province. Inter-Provincial adjustments are forbidden.

6. Local Governments are required to maintain balances of the following minimum amounts:—

| | R | | R |
|---|---|---|---|
| Central Provinces . . | 8,00,000 | N.-W. Provinces and Oudh | 20,00,000 |
| Lower Burma . . | 6,00,000 | Punjab . . . . | 10,00,000 |
| Assam . . . . | 5,00,000 | Madras . . . . | 20,00,000 |
| Bengal . . . | 20,00,000 | Bombay . . . | 20,00,000 |

A Local Government should not, without the previous sanction of the Government of India, propose any estimates or allow any transactions which involve the reduction of the Provincial balance below the prescribed minimum. Accountants General are required to make a report to the Local Government and to the Government of India when it appears to them that there is any likelihood of the balance being reduced below the minimum.

7. Local Governments may sanction loans and advances under the orders contained in Resolutions Nos. 13 and 14, dated 1st January 1889, and Nos. 417 and 419, dated 24th January 1890, but may not, without the special sanction of the Government of India, sanction any other loans of public money.

8. When any Local Government proposes to provide in the estimates for Provincial Expenditure largely in excess of the Provincial Revenue of the year, that is, when it is proposed to incur considerable expenditure out of accumulated balances, the proposals should be forwarded to the Government of India for separate consideration in advance of the estimates.

9. It is a general condition, precedent to the delegation of all authority to disburse public money, that it shall be bonâ fide for a public object; nothing must be carried out by means of the public funds for the advantage of any individual or body of private persons, unless in accordance with some declared or established rule or principle recognized by the Government of India. It is the duty of every Audit officer, at all times, to challenge any infringement of this principle; and every Local Government must submit, for the orders of the Government of India, any representation made to it by any Audit officer in accordance with this rule which it does not promptly accept.

10. All standing orders and rules of the Supreme Government are to be observed, including, in particular, the rules in the Civil Service Regulations, the Code of the Public Works Department, and the Civil Account Code.

11. Local Governments must exercise the powers vested in them by this Resolution subject to the ordinary rules of the Budget system. The most important of those rules which affect the exercise of the powers conferred by this Resolution, are—

(a) A Local Government cannot sanction any expenditure during a year which will involve an excess over the Budget grant for the year for any Provincial Major head without effecting re-appropriation, that is, without reducing by the amount of the excess the sanctioned grant under some other Provincial or Local Major Head under its control.

(b) A Local Government cannot sanction any expenditure which will involve an excess over the Budget grant for the year under a head which is divided in a fixed proportion between Imperial and Provincial, unless it can effect re-appropriation (for the Imperial and Provincial portions of the excess respectively) from Imperial and Provincial or Local heads under its control.

(c) A Local Government is required to keep the total Provincial expenditure under all heads within the total Budget grant of the year for that expenditure unless—

(1) it effects re-appropriation from the grants for Local expenditure under its control; or

(2) it has obtained the sanction of the Government of India to a supplementary grant.

---

ORDERED, that this Resolution be communicated to the several Local Governments and Administrations; to all Departments of the Government of India; to the Agent to the Governor General, Baluchistan; to the Comptroller and Auditor General; and to the several Accountants General and Comptrollers* for information.

* Except Comptrollers, Hyderabad and Post Office.

Ordered also, that this Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weather Review of India for the week ending at 8 a.m. on Saturday, 5th March, 1892.

The general weather during the week under review has been very similar to that which prevailed during the immediately preceding week. It will be remembered that at the close of last week a depression which had advanced over the Punjab from the westward had just disappeared, that the barometer had risen briskly in the north-west, and that a high pressure area had been formed over North-Western and Central India while readings were relatively low off the West Coast, over the Bay of Bengal, and over North Bengal. These conditions continued during February 28th and 29th, but on the 1st of March a well marked depression appeared over Sind, and on the 2nd of March, a deep depression over the north-west of the Punjab. The latter depression gave very unsettled weather to the Punjab, but it did not last long, as it had practically disappeared by the morning of the 4th. The former, on the contrary, was more long-lived and appears to have passed right across India to Bengal, to which Province it gave showers on the 4th and 5th.

The chart of the 28th showed that the barometer was falling, except across the head of the Peninsula and in the extreme south. Readings were high and uniform over North-Western and Central India, and relatively low off the west-coast, over the Bay and Burma, and in North Bengal. The winds were anti-cyclonic over Northern and Central India and variable over the Peninsula. Rain was reported from South-East Bengal, from Cachar, and from the south of the Peninsula. On the 29th the barometer was falling almost everywhere. The anti-cyclone had given way on its north-west side and was centred over Rajputana, but otherwise there was but little change in the distribution of pressure or in the winds. Moderate rain had fallen in the extreme south of the Peninsula and a few drops at Sibsagar. By the morning of the 1st March the anti-cyclone had travelled eastward and lay over the Central Provinces, while a well-defined depression had appeared over Sind. A local barometric rise was reported from Peshawar and gradients were steep over the Punjab. The winds showed a cyclonic circulation over North-Western India, where gales of wind were experienced. Rain was reported at Quetta, Peshawar, Rawalpindi, Murree, Srinagar, Bangalore, and Cochin. On the 2nd the depression which had entered India through Sind lay apparently over Central India and the west of the Central Provinces, and a fresh and deep depression was shown over the Punjab. Strong cyclonic winds and gales prevailed around the depression; snow was falling at Quetta and Srinagar, and moderate rain along the foot of the hills. At Peshawar the barometric fall during the 24 hours preceding 8 A. M. on the 2nd was as much as 0 365″. The chart of the 3rd showed that the Punjab depression had moved very slowly south-eastward, and that the centre was near Ludhiana. It was filling up somewhat, but was still a very considerable disturbance, and the cyclonic winds which surrounded it were very strong, particularly on the hills where a very severe gale was blowing. The shallow depression which entered India through Sind, lay apparently to the south of Allahabad. Rain had fallen at most of the Punjab stations, and rain and hail on the hills. A slight shower was also reported from Raipur. On the 4th the barometer was rising except in Bengal and the South Carnatic. The rise had been very rapid in the north-west and a high, pressure area similar to that which prevailed at the commencement of the week had been formed over North-West and Central India. Readings were lowest in Bengal and the Circars. Except in Bengal, Burma, and Madras the winds were mainly anti-cyclonic, blowing outward from the high-pressure area in the North-West. Slight snow was again reported from the North-West, Himalayas, and slight rain from Sialkote, Rawalpindi, False Point, and Cuttack On the 5th the barometer continued to rise, except in a few places, and the anti-cyclonic distribution noticed on the preceding day was undisturbed. Murree still reported slight hail, but elsewhere in the Punjab the weather had cleared. Showers of rain had fallen at Silchar and in south-east Bengal.

Temperature—A very decided deficiency of temperature has existed during the week over Northern and Central India, and a moderate excess in Madras. Two cold waves have passed across India during the week. The first covered the whole of Northern and Central India on the 28th and had its lowest point over Central India and Eastern Rajputana. By the 29th this point had advanced eastward to the Central Provinces, while the succeeding warm wave had made its appearance along the Indus Valley. By the 1st the lowest point of the cold wave was in Bengal, the highest point of the warm wave at Multan; by the 2nd the cold wave depression was greatest at Jessore, the warm wave excess was greatest at Sirsa and a fresh cold wave had commenced at Peshawar; by the third the first cold wave had reached Central Burma, the warm wave had reached Jhansi, and the second cold wave was most marked at Jacobabad. On the 4th and 5th the depression of the first cold wave was over Burma, the crest of the warm wave over Bengal, and the greatest depression of the second cold wave over Central India.

The following table shows the variations of the mean temperature from the normal on each day of the week for the principal provinces of India :—

| PROVINCE. | 28th | 29th. | 1st. | 2nd. | 3rd. | 4th. | 5th. | Mean variation of week. |

| MEAN FOR WHOLE INDIA . | —4·1 | —3·5 | —2·5 | —1·0 | —0·8 | —3·8 | —5·2 | —3·0 |

From the above it will be seen that the only province which recorded an excess of temperature was Madras. The greatest deficiency was in Guzerat and Central India, but the amount was closely approached in Sind, Rajputana, and the Central Provinces.

Rain.—The daily distribution of rainfall was described in the earlier paragraphs. At first it occurred in the south of the Peninsula, subsequently in North-Western India, and finally in North-Eastern India. The concluding table shows that rain fell during the week in twenty out of the fifty-two rainfall divisions. Of these twenty divisions, ten, viz., the Assam Valley, Deltaic Bengal, Chota Nagpur, the North-Western Provinces (submontane), the Punjab (south, submontane, and west), Mysore, the Central Provinces (east), and Sind had an average fall for the week of less than one-tenth of an inch, while the remaining ten, viz., Eastern Bengal, Cachar, Orissa, the Punjab (hill districts and north-west), Malabar, Madras (south central and south), Coorg, and the East Coast (south) received effective rain the amounts varying from 0·71" in Madras, south, to 0·12" in East Bengal. In Burma, Behar, Central and North Bengal, nearly the whole of the North-Western Provinces, and nearly the whole of the Peninsula (except the south) and of the central parts of the country, there was no rain during the week. Where rain fell the amounts received were generally in defect of the normal, the only districts recording an excess being Orissa, the north-west of the Punjab, Malabar, Madras (south central and south), Coorg, Mysore, and the East Coast (south). With the present report a fresh rainfall period, viz., that of the spring storm rainfall, is commenced. Consequently the figures in the final three columns of the concluding table simply give in another form the information already shown in the first three columns.

In the record of maximum falls during the week there are very few large amounts, but the following table shows the places where more than 1 inch was received during the week :—

Wells constructed 96, 1,941, 292; under construction 1,817, 3,592, 1,846 in respective blocks. Agricultural Loans Act:—R42,733; R31,735; R79,328; Total R1,53,796 disbursed in respective blocks.

Bombay.—For week ending 16th March.—Standing crops damaged by drought, blight, frost, or insects in parts of Sind. Cotton blighted in Dharwar. Fodder scarce in parts of eleven and water in parts of six districts. Cattle distressed in parts of four districts. Prices generally steady. Harvesting of late crops progressing generally, and preparations for the next season in parts of five districts. FAMINE RELIEF:—Numbers on works: Professional Agency—Dharwar 8,100, Belgaum, 180; Civil Agency—Dharwar 3,620, Bijapur 26, Belgaum 811; Total 12,745.

Bengal.—For week ending 15th March.—No rain. Weather abnormally dry. Rain is generally much wanted for the cultivation of the autumn crops. Early rice and jute are being sown where there is moisture in Northern and Eastern Bengal. Spring rice is doing well, but this and other crops on the ground are in want of rain in some districts. Indigo sowings are coming on well except in Purneah, where they are retarded for want of moisture. Rabi harvest is in progress, the general outturn, as previously reported, will not be satisfactory, and in some parts it will be very poor. Opium collections are going on. In some places the yield will be reduced owing to strong west winds. Sugarcane, potato, and tobacco crops have turned out well. Mahua and mango prospects are favourable. Prices are stationary throughout the greater part of the province, but show a tendency to rise in Chittagong, Burdwan, and some parts of the Patna division. Cattle are generally in good condition, and fodder and water supplies are still reported to be sufficient except in parts of Midnapur and the 24-Parganas. Reports from the districts of the Patna division show no important change. The rabi crop generally has turned out better than was expected, and the people are now employed in reaping it. FAMINE RELIEF:—In Darbhanga it is said that relief works will be necessary a fortnight earlier than was anticipated. No signs of actual distress have as yet appeared in Muzaffarpur. The test applied to Gya has shown that works are not yet wanted there. The Rajshahi Commissioner reports that taking the division as a whole the deficiency of the rice crop has not as yet been followed by any overt symptoms of suffering or any special demand for employment on relief works. The Monghyr and Bhagulpur reports are on the whole reassuring. Prices have not risen, and the number of persons employed on relief works continues to be small. Numbers on works:—Monghyr, during last fortnight of February 650; Bhagulpur, in the first week in March 676; Purneah, on the 27th February 3,222; Total 4,548.

In the Purneah district 326 persons were in receipt of gratuitous relief on the 20th, 21st, and 22nd February.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 16th March.—Weather seasonable. Rabi harvesting and opium collection in progress. Supplies are adequate. Prices are generally steady, but have fallen in a few districts.

Punjab.—For week ending 16th March.—Slight rain has fallen in parts of the Rawalpindi district. Prices are stationary in all but two districts, where they are unsettled. Irrigation of rabi crops in progress; gram being harvested in Hissar district; sowings of extra rabi crops commenced. Condition of crops on irrigated lands average, crops on Sidhnai canal lands are drying up, their condition is not good in parts of two districts; birâni land crops are a failure for want of rain in Lahore. Rain urgently wanted in most districts. Owing to drought the mustard crop is said to have been damaged by blight in parts of Lahore; damage is reported to have been done to crops by cold winds in parts of Dera Ismail Khan. Condition of cattle is reported good in all but two districts where it is poor. Fodder scarce in six districts; sufficient elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 16th March.—No rain. Reaping of rabi crops nearly completed in the southern districts, just commenced in the northern districts. Fodder reported poor in one district; sufficient elsewhere. Prices stationary.

Burma.—For week ending 12th March.—LOWER BURMA:—Reaping, threshing, and winnowing practically completed. UPPER BURMA:—Dry-weather paddy progressing except in Katha and Ruby Mines where condition is poor; peas, tobacco, and maize are being gathered. Price of paddy has risen slightly in Akyab, considerably in Rangoon, Pegu, Moulmein, Tavoy, Bhamo, Shwebo, and largely in Shwegyin and very largely in Pakokku, Magwe, Kyaukse, and Yamethin; in Thayetmyo there is a slight fall; elsewhere it is stationary. # THE RESIDENT IN MYSORE,

NOTIFICATION.

Bangalore, the 11th March, 1892.

No. 817—101-92.—Tenders are hereby invited for the exclusive privilege of the wholesale vend of ganja and any preparation thereof, except halva, in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore.

2. The contract will be for one year from 1st April 1892 to 31st March 1893.

3. Every tender must specify the minimum annual revenue which the tenderer will guarantee to Government, and shall be for one lump sum inclusive of local cess. No tender which guarantees to Government less than a minimum annual revenue of R2,500 will be considered. Every tender must be accompanied by a deposit of R100 in cash and enclosed in a cover superscribed with the words "Tender for the exclusive privilege of wholesale vend of ganja and any preparation thereof, except halva, for the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore."

4. The tenders must be delivered at the office of the Collector, Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, on or before noon of the 24th March, 1892, when they will be opened by the Collector in the presence of the applicants. The applicant whose tender may be selected by the Collector for recommendation to the Resident will be required to deposit at once in cash or in Government securities duly endorsed in favour of the Resident in Mysore a further sum equal to one-twelfth (or one month's instalment) of the annual amount guaranteed, failing which the deposit made with the tender will be forfeited and the contract resold at the sole risk of the tenderer.

5. When the decision of the Resident is announced, the deposits made by the applicants whose tenders have been rejected will be returned to them on their application. The Resident reserves to himself the power of rejecting the highest or any tender without assigning any reason.

6. The party whose tender may be accepted shall, within eight days after the Resident's decision has been communicated to him, deposit with the Collector a sum in cash or Government securities duly endorsed in favour of "the Resident in Mysore," which with the sums previously deposited under paragraph 4 shall be equal to one-fourth of the yearly revenue guaranteed, and shall execute an agreement in the usual form on proper stamp, binding himself to conform to the conditions hereinafter set forth; and if he fails or refuses to sign the agreement, or to make the deposit required, the deposits already made will be forfeited to Government and the lease otherwise disposed of. No tender proposing any modification of any of the terms of this Notification will be considered.

7. The contract for which tenders are now invited shall be subject to the following conditions, namely:—

CONDITIONS.

I. The contract shall not be transferable except with the approval of the Resident in Mysore.

II. For the purposes of this contract the Resident in Mysore may decline to recognize any representative, agent, or partner appointed or taken by the Contractors during the period of the contract unless such representative, agent, or partner shall have been first approved of on behalf of the Resident in Mysore by the Collector for the time being.

III. (a) The minimum annual revenue guaranteed shall be payable to Government in twelve equal monthly instalments. The Contractors shall pay into the Resident's Treasury the whole amount of the fees on wholesale vend, inclusive of the local cess payable to Government at the rates fixed by Government on the ganja and its preparations, except halva, sold from the Bonded Warehouse in each month to the retail dealers on or before the 20th of the following month.

(b) If the fee on wholesale vend payable on the sales of ganja and its preparations up to the end of any month be not sufficient to make up the amount of the instalment of the minimum guaranteed revenue for that month, the Contractors shall pay such further sum as may be required to make up the deficiency. The excess sale of any month shall be available to make up any deficiency in any other month of the same official year. Such portion of the fee on wholesale vend on excess sales in any one month as may be over and above the deficiency which may have been made good by the Contractors in any previous month or months of the same official year shall be paid into the Government Treasury along with the minimum guaranteed revenue for the month in which such fee on wholesale vend on excess sales has been realized.

(c) If the above payments are not made on or before the 20th of the month following that for which they are due, interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum will be charged from that date on all the arrears outstanding; and should the default continue after the lapse of the month in which the payments are due, the arrears with the interest due shall be recovered by attachment and sale of the property of the Contractors, including cash at Bonded Warehouse, in the manner provided for by the rules for the time being in force for the recovery of arrears of land revenue. And it shall further be at the discretion of the Resident upon the report of the Collector to declare the contract cancelled, to direct the forfeiture of the deposit made by the Contractor, and to cause the business to be carried on by Government officers or otherwise, at the expense and risk of the Contractors, their heirs, executors, and assigns, during the unexpired period of their contract.

IV. There shall be five shops for the sale of ganja and its preparations (except halva), and the places at which they are to be kept shall be determined by the Collector, and the Contractors shall engage to sell ganja and its preparations only at the places so fixed. The Collector shall be at liberty to make any alterations in the localities of the shops that he may from time to time consider necessary.

V. The confirmation of existing retail vendors and the nomination of new vendors shall rest with the Collector. The Collector shall issue licenses in the prescribed forms directed to the retail vendor.

VI. The Contractors shall sell ganja and its preparations only to such licensed vendors, and shall not interfere with the retail vendors in any way. But they or their authorized agent or wholesale vendor shall be at liberty to visit the drug shops in company with the Excise officers and inspect the accounts, and if they have reason to believe that contraband drugs are being vended in any shop, shall, with the permission of the Collector, place a nominee of their own to officiate as vendor jointly with the license holder or vendor of such shop for such time as the Collector may deem fit, and if sufficient grounds exist to justify this step, the Collector shall remove the original holder and appoint any other holder he deems fit

VII. The ganja and majam and other preparations thereof sold (except halva) shall be of good quality not black or old or such as may have lost its medicinal virtues, and must be without stalks which should be removed before issue to retail vendors, or equivalent weight of good ganja given for such stalks when returned by retail vendors. Powdered ganja to the extent of 5 per cent. only shall be taken by the retail vendors and no more. Such powdered ganja may be made up by the retail vendors into halva. All ganja powder over 5 per cent., or bad ganja of the stamp indicated in this condition found at the wholesale depôt or retail shops, shall be attached by the Excise Department, and, with the sanction of the Collector, be burnt. No ganja more than a year and a half old shall be sold to the public.

VIII. The Contractors shall always keep on hand not less than one month's supply of ganja at the Bonded Warehouse.

IX. The rates of Government fees for wholesale vend, the wholesale price at which ganja and majam shall be sold to the retail dealer, and the retail prices at which the drugs shall be vended to the public, are noted below .—

| | Government fee for wholesale vend. | | Wholesale rate at which the drugs are to be sold to retail vendors. | | Retail prices at which the drugs are to be vended to the public. | |

X. The Collector shall have power to close any particular retail shop or shops on the requisition of the Military authorities or Magistracy temporarily or permanently, and the Contractors shall not be entitled to any compensation therefor. But with the approval of the Collector the number so reduced may, if the public requirements demand it, be re-established elsewhere.

XI. The Contractors shall be permitted to import ganja for the purposes of this contract into the Distillery or the Bonded Warehouse, as may be decided upon hereafter, under "import" passes to be issued by the Collector, and besides this no other ganja shall be sold by the Contractor without the written permission of the Collector.

XII. The Contractors shall render a true and correct account, in duplicate, of the sales at the wholesale depôt to the Collector, through the Head Supervisor, Abkari and Excise, monthly, and allow the officers of the Excise Department free access always and at all times to all the accounts kept by the Contractors, which accounts shall be true and accurate and in the forms prescribed by Government in Notification No. 2551—2756, dated the 11th September 1886. And for the purposes of this agreement the Contractors shall open an account showing in detail the prime cost of the drug, cost of carriage, by cart and rail, other charges if any, and total cost of drugs, and cost per maund. The number and date of transport or import pass should be quoted, and each item duly vouched for with original receipts, etc., duly numbered. The cost of establishment, contingencies, etc., shall also be given monthly in detail. A copy of this account shall be furnished to the Head Supervisor, Abkari and Excise, monthly for reference and check, and the original with vouchers shall be kept at the depôt for verification by the Excise Department and the Collector.

XIII. Disorderly conduct and irregular transactions at the wholsale depôt shall not be permitted by the Contractors' agents or employés. They shall be provided at the Contractors' cost with correct scales and weights, the latter duly stamped by the Collector, and further, all such employés shall, 15 days after the agreement is signed by the Contractors, enter into engagements with the Contractors to abide by the spirit and letter of the conditions entered into by the Contractors with Government, and the laws and rules in force, and such engagements shall be deposited with the Collector without fail within five days after execution, and they shall take out wholesale licenses, if employed, to sell the drugs, or sign permits for the Contractors.

XIV. The contractors shall be required to conform to any additional rules which may be prescribed from time to time by the Government, and abide by those laid down in the agreement and notified by the Resident in Mysore in his Notification No. 2551—2756, dated the 11th September 1886.

XV. The Collector may give written permission to the Contractors to grow their own ganja. The cultivation of the drug otherwise, by the Contractors or any one else in the Civil and Military Station, is hereby interdicted.

XVI. Any infringement of the above conditions, the provisions of the Excise Act, XXII of 1881, and the rules framed thereunder, will subject the Contractors or their authorized agents to the penalties prescribed therein, and to a forfeiture of their contract, with the approval of the Resident in Mysore.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

[Revised Advertisement.]

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

The first five volumes of the Dictionary are now ready at the Office of Superintendent of Government Print-

'ing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Ca'cutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is R45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, 2 rupees 6 annas per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names, habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, etc. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 550 royal octavo pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages, Volume III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G; Volume IV, latter half of G to middle of L and Volume V contains the latter half of L to end of O. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in seven volumes during the current year, but an eighth volume may also be issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals, and minerals of India, and, as such, will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

NOTIFICATION.

Bangalore, the 16th March, 1892.

No. 841—411-91.—1. Notice is hereby given that the right of selling country spirits in each of the thirty shops in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, specified in the subjoined schedule, for the year beginning 1st April 1892 and ending 31st March 1893, will be put up to public auction at the upset annual prices, specified in the schedule hereunto annexed. The sale will be conducted by the Collector at his office in the Mayo Hall, commencing at 12 noon on Tuesday, 22nd March 1892, and the following days. The limits within which the shops shall be established are also shown in the said schedule, and purchasers will be allowed to open their shops in any place approved by the Collector within the limits prescribed.

2. Each bidder at the auction will deposit a sum of R50 previous to bidding. The shops will be knocked down to the approved highest bidder above the upset price mentioned in the aforesaid schedule, subject to a reference to the Police as to his personal character. Parties intending to bid must attend either in person or by duly accredited agents. Should there be no bid above the upset price, the officer conducting the sale may lower the upset price at his discretion.

3. As soon as the auction is completed, the deposits made by the unsuccessful bidders, and not forfeited as hereinafter provided, will be returned to them. As the auction proceeds, the person whose bid is accepted for each shop, shall at once deposit a sum equal to half a month's rent for that shop. Should he fail to do so, the deposit made by him under paragraph 2 will be forfeited, the shop will at once be put up again on the above conditions, and he will be debarred from bidding again for the same or for any other shop.

4. No one shall bid for, buy, retain, or be interested in more than one shop. Should two or more persons bidding separately have a joint interest in more than one shop, the deposit made by them under paragraph 2 will be forfeited, and their shop or shops will at once be put up again on the above conditions at the risk of the original purchaser, and he will be debarred from bidding again for the same or for any other shop or retaining an interest in any shop.

5. Persons to whom shops have been knocked down, and who have made deposits as provided in paragraphs 2 and 3, shall also, within seven days from the date of the auction, deposit such further sum as, with the first and second deposits will make up an amount equal to two months' rent of each shop knocked down to them; and shall take out licenses in the appended form A on the conditions hereinafter set forth. On the failure of any person to make the deposit, or to take out licenses as aforesaid, the shop or shops will be resold at the risk of such person, or, if the auction hereby notified, has already been completed, will be otherwise disposed of at the discretion of the Collector of the Civil and Military Station. In the case of the purchaser's death after the confirmation of the sale, it will be binding on his heirs or assigns.

6. Re-sales effected under clause 5 will be at the risk of the defaulting bidder who will forfeit all gain; and in the event of a loss by re-sale, he will make good the deficiency between the total amount payable for the whole period under the terms of the original sale and the total amount payable by the successful bidder at the re-sale. In the latter case the forfeited deposit will be deducted from the loss arising from the re-sale, and the remainder, if any, will be recovered from the bidder in the same manner as if it were an arrear of land revenue. Should, however, the forfeited deposit be greater than the loss by re-sale, the whole of such deposit will be credited to Government.

7. The details of the existing and proposed shops are given in the schedule.

CONDITIONS.

(1) The privilege conferred by the license, extends only to the sale of country spirits of the strength of 20° under-proof, and with the special permission and passes of the Collector or other Officer authorized by him, to the sale of double distilled liquors and "milk punch" in bottles duly corked and labelled in the Central Distillery.

(2) The amount for which the privilege has been purchased, shall be payable into the Resident's Treasury in equal monthly instalments commencing from April 1892; each instalment shall be regarded as the rent for the month in respect of which it is payable. Each month's rent shall be payable on the 15th of the month following. The deposit of two months' rent made by the licensee will be taken in payment of the rents due for the last two months of the period of the farm. Failing payment by the 15th of the next month the Collector shall at once proceed to recover the arrears together with interest at 6 per cent under the rules in force for the collection of land revenue. No remission or abatement of the rent shall, on any account whatever, be claimable by the licensee.

(3) The licensee shall purchase the spirits to be sold in his shop from Messrs. Parry & Co., who have been appointed Distillers for the manufacture of country spirits, at the rate of 10¼ annas per gallon of 20° under-proof delivered at the distillery, or from any bonded warehouse established under the sanction of Government, and at proportionate rates for higher or lower strengths according to Casella's Rules. The spirits shall be sold to the public at R5-5-0 per gallon of 20° under-proof and at proportionate rates for higher or lower strengths.

(4) The licensee of every shop in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore shall pay a registration fee under the Municipal Regulations at the rate of R180 per annum in advance for the period of the license for his shop; and he shall pay also a license fee of 4 annas per gallon on all arrack sold by him in excess of 55 gallons a month in each.

(5) The above rates and fees are in addition to the Excise duty which shall be prepaid into the Resident's Treasury, as per following conditions (6), and 6 (a) at the prescribed rate of R4 per gallon of 20° under-proof, and at proportionate rates for higher or lower strengths, before the removal of the spirits from the Distillery, or any bonded warehouse established under the sanction of Government.

(6) The licensee shall pay the above duty into the Resident's Treasury and obtain a receipt in the prescribed printed form. On production of such receipt and an indent for the supply of the liquor covered by the receipt, and on payment of the prescribed price of such liquor to the Distiller or his agent, or any person appointed by Government on this behalf, the Assistant Supervisor or other Officer in charge of the Distillery or Warehouse shall issue the quantity of liquor equal to the amount of duty shown in the Treasury Officer's receipt, which will be forwarded to the Collector's Office under the endorsement of the Assistant Supervisor or other Officer aforesaid, as to the date and hour when the liquor was issued. The Assistant Supervisor or other Officer aforesaid shall issue a pass in the prescribed form for the transport of liquor from the Distillery or warehouse. These passes shall be duly sent by that officer to the 2nd Magistrate for disposal under the rules in force.

(6 a) As each shop is estimated to sell 258 gallons a month or 9 to 10 gallons per day, duty on the stock for the day must be paid into the Treasury before 1 P. M. In case of holidays, duty shall be paid previously on 10 gallons per day for the period for which the Treasury may be closed. Payment of duty for less than 10 gallons will not be received at the Treasury—The shop-keeper can, on the Treasury receipt, purchase the liquor in instalments of not less than 2 gallons from the bonded warehouse.

(7) The licensee shall use such measures as may from time to time be prescribed by Government. The present measure is fixed at 51 drams per Imperial gallon.

(8) The licensee shall be bound by the rules in force, and which may be issued from time to time by Government.

(9) The remaining terms and conditions shall be as set forth in Appendix (A).

8. In case of any breach of the above conditions either by the licensee, or with his connivance and privity, by any person in his employment, it shall be competent to the Collector to impose upon the licensee a fine not exceeding R10 for every such breach, or at the option of the Collector to declare the money deposited with him forfeited, and to cancel the license and to re-sell the exclusive privilege at the risk of the licensee, and all loss thereby caused shall be made good by him. When a lease is cancelled, the rent for the whole period of the lease shall become due at once which shall be recovered as if it were an arrear of land revenue.

9. The penalties laid down in the last preceding clause shall not exempt the licensee or his employés from prosecution for any offence committed against the Excise laws or rules in force.

10 A bonded warehouse in place of the existing wholesale Depôt will be established in the Civil and Military Station. The shop-keepers will draw their supply from such warehouse, prepaying the price of liquor and duty, at the prescribed rates, into the Resident's Treasury.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

[Revised Advertisement.]

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes of the Dictionary are now ready at the Office of Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is R45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, 2 rupees 6 annas per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics, markets, etc. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and half of G; Volume IV, latter half of G to middle of L, and Volume V contains the latter half of L to end of O. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in seven volumes during the current year, but an eighth volume may also be issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals, and minerals of India, and, as such, will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value

STATEMENT.

(See sections 2 and 3.)

AFTER you have served for three years in the Bengal Military Police, you may, at any time when not on active service, apply for your discharge, through the officer to whom you may be subordinate, to a Commandant of Military Police or to the District Magistrate of the district in which you may be serving, and you will be granted your discharge after two months from the date of your application, unless your discharge would cause the vacancies in the Bengal Military Police to exceed one-tenth of the sanctioned strength; in that case you must remain until this objection is waived by competent authority or removed. But when on active service you have no claim to a discharge, and you must remain and do your duty until the necessity for retaining you in the Bengal Military Police ceases, when you may make your application in the manner hereinbefore prescribed. In the event of your re-enlistment, after you have been discharged, you will have no claim to reckon for pension or any other purpose your service previous to your discharge.

Bills introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for making Laws and Regulations, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council, and Bills published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 25th March, 1892:—

NO. 8 OF 1892.

A Bill to amend the Law of Partition.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the law of partition; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Partition Act, 1892.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India; and

(3) It shall come into force at once.

Saving of certain local laws.

(4) But nothing herein contained shall be deemed to affect any local law providing for the partition of immoveable property paying revenue to the Government.

Power to Court to order sale instead of division in partition suits.

2. Whenever in any suit for partition in which, if instituted prior to the commencement of this Act, a decree for partition might have been made, it appears to the Court that, by reason of the nature of the property to which the suit relates, or of the number of parties interested therein, or of any other special circumstance, a division of the property cannot reasonably or conveniently be made and that a sale of the property and distribution of the proceeds would be more beneficial for all the parties interested, the Court may, if it thinks fit, on the request of any party or parties interested individually or collectively to the extent of one moiety or upwards, direct a sale of the property and a distribution of the proceeds.

Procedure when sharer undertakes to buy.

3. (1) If, in any case in which the Court is requested under the last foregoing section to direct a sale, any other shareholder shall undertake to buy the share or shares of the party or parties asking for sale, the Court shall, instead of directing a sale, order a valuation of the share or shares in such manner as it thinks fit, and may give all necessary and proper directions in that behalf.

(2) If two or more shareholders undertake to buy as provided in sub-section (1), but do not agree as between or among themselves with regard to the respective proportions in which they should buy, the Court shall sell the share or shares to the shareholder who offers to pay the highest price above the valuation made by the Court.

Partition suit by transferee of share in dwelling-house.

4. (1) Where the transferee of a share of a dwelling-house belonging to an undivided family not being a member of the family sues for partition, the Court shall, if any member of the family shall undertake to buy the share of such transferee, make a valuation of such share in such manner as it thinks fit and direct the transfer of the share on payment of the purchase-money so fixed by the Court.

(2) If in any case described in sub-section (1) two or more members of the family undertake to buy, but do not agree as between or among themselves with regard to the respective proportions in which they should buy, the Court shall follow the procedure prescribed by sub-section (2) of the last foregoing section.

Representation of parties under disability.

5. In any suit for partition a request for sale, may be made or an undertaking to buy given on behalf of any party under disability by any person authorized to act on behalf of such party in such suit, but the Court shall not be bound to comply with any such request or undertaking unless it is satisfied that the sale or purchase will be for the benefit of the party under such disability.

Power to shareholders to bid at sale.

6. (1) On any sale under this Act any of the parties interested in the property shall be at liberty to bid at the sale on such terms as to non-payment of deposit or as to setting off or accounting for the purchase-money or any part thereof instead of paying the same as to the Court may seem reasonable.

(2) If two or more persons, of whom one is a shareholder in the property, respectively advance the same sum at any bidding at such sale, such bidding shall be deemed to be the bidding of the shareholder.

Procedure to be followed in case of sales.

7. When any property is directed to be sold under this Act, the following procedure shall, as far as practicable, be adopted, namely :—

(a) if the property be situated within the town of Calcutta, Madras or Bombay, the procedure of the High Court in its original civil jurisdiction for the sale of property by the Registrar ;

(b) if the property be situated elsewhere such procedure as the High Court may from time to time by rules prescribe in this behalf, and until such rules are made the procedure prescribed in the Code of Civil Procedure in respect of sales in execution of decrees.

XIV. of 1882.

Certificate to purchaser of immoveable property.

8. (1) On a sale of immoveable property becoming absolute under this Act, the Court shall grant a certificate stating the property sold and the name of the person who at the time of sale is declared to be the purchaser.

(2) Such certificate shall bear the date of the confirmation of the sale ; and, so far as regards the parties to the suit and persons claiming through or under them, the title to the property sold shall vest in the purchaser from the date of such certificate and not before.

Distribution of proceeds of sales.

9. When any property is sold under this Act, the proceeds, after deducting the costs of the sale, shall be distributed among the parties according to their respective interests as ascertained by the Court.

Appeals.

10. (1) Any order made by the Court under section 2 or section 4 shall be deemed to be a decree within the meaning of section 2 of the Code of Civil Procedure and to be appealable as such.

X

(2) All other orders shall be appealable only when such orders are of the same nature as appealable orders under section 588 of the Code of Civil Procedure, and the orders passed in appeals in such cases shall be final.

Saving of power to order partly partition and partly sale.

11. Nothing herein contained shall prevent the Court from making a decree for a partition of part of the property to which the suit relates and a sale of the remainder.

Application of Act to pending suits.

12. This Act shall apply to suits pending at the commencement thereof, in which no commission for the purpose of making a partition shall have been executed.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE present statutory law on the subject of partition, apart from various local laws dealing with the partition of land paying revenue to Government, is contained in sections 265 and 396 of the Code of Civil Procedure. Section 265 simply enacts that the partition or separation of a revenue-paying estate shall be made only by the Collector, and need not therefore be noticed further, as the present Bill leaves untouched all local laws dealing with the partition of such property. Section 396 lays down the procedure which should be adopted in the partition of lands not paying revenue to Government. That section, however, only authorizes the Court to divide the property, and in some exceptional cases where an equal division is not practicable to award a money compensation for the purpose of equalizing the value of the shares. But as the law now stands the Court must give a share to each of the parties and cannot direct a sale and division of the proceeds in any case whatever. Instances, however, occasionally occur where there are insuperable practical difficulties in the way of making an equal division, and in such cases the Court is either powerless to give effect to its decree, or is driven to all kinds of shifts and expedients in order to do so. Such difficulties are by no means of very rare occurrence, although in many cases where the parties are properly advised they generally agree to some mutual arrangement, and thus relieve the Court from embarrassment.

2. It is proposed in the present Bill to supply this defect in the law by giving the Court, under proper safeguards, a discretionary authority to direct a sale where a partition cannot reasonably be made and a sale would, in the opinion of the Court, be more beneficial for the parties. But, having regard to the strong attachment of the people of this country to their landed possessions, it is proposed to make the consent of parties interested at least to the extent of a moiety in the property a condition precedent to the exercise by the Court of this new power. In order at the same time to prevent any oppressive exercise of this privilege, it is proposed to give such of the shareholders as do not desire a sale the right to buy the others out at a valuation to be determined by the Court. The power, moreover, which it is proposed to give to the Court will be a discretionary one to be exercised on a consideration of all the circumstances of the case. It should be added that, where the Court is obliged to direct a sale, a right of pre-emption is given by the Bill to the parties similar to that conferred on shareholders by section 310 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

3. It is also proposed in the Bill to give the Court the power of compelling a stranger, who has acquired by purchase a share in a family dwelling-house when he seeks for a partition, to sell his share to the members of the family who are the owners of the rest of the house at a valuation to be determined by the Court. This provision is only an extension of the privilege given to such shareholders by section 44, paragraph 2, of the Transfer of Property Act, and is an application of a well known rule which obtains among Muhammadans everywhere and by custom also among Hindus in some parts of the country.

4. The other sections of the Bill only deal with matters of procedure and do not call for any detailed notice.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to extend the jurisdiction of the Court of Small Causes of Madras was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 25th March, 1892 —

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to extend the jurisdiction of the Court of Small Causes of Madras was referred, have re-considered the Bill together with Bill No. II (a Bill to establish a Civil Court for the City of Madras) and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our further Report, with the Bill No. II as amended by us annexed thereto.

Endorsement from Home Department, No. 183, dated 10th February, 1892, and accompaniment [Papers No. 5 relative to Bill as introduced].
From Secretary, Mylapore Athæneum, G. No. 1, dated 22nd February, 1892 [Paper No. 1 relative to Bill No. II].
From Secretary, Madras High Court Vakils Association, dated 23rd February, 1892 [Paper No. 2 relative to Bill No. II].
Telegram from President, Mahajana Sabha, Madras, dated 26th February, 1892 [Paper No. 3 relative to Bill No. II].
From Government of Madras, No. 395 (Judicial), dated 2nd March, 1892, and enclosures [Papers No. 4 relative to Bill No. II].
Endorsement from Home Department, No. 359, dated 11th March, 1892, and accompaniment [Papers No. 5 relative to Bill No. II].
Despatch from Secretary of State, No. 1, dated 7th January, 1892, and endorsement from Private Secretary to Viceroy, dated 24th February, 1892, and accompaniment [Papers No. 6 relative to Bill No. II].

2. We are strongly of opinion that the limit prescribed by Bill No. II, namely, Rs. 2,500, should not be exceeded. On the other hand, if the local authorities so desire, we see no reason why the cognisance of small causes between Rs. 1,000 and Rs. 2,000 in value should not be transferred from the Court of Small Causes to the City Court. We have not provided for such a transfer, as we understand that the reduction of all the Presidency Small Cause Courts' jurisdiction to Rs. 1,000 is under consideration, but we think it desirable to point out that the establishment of the new Court will greatly facilitate such a reduction in Madras.

3. It has been suggested by Mr. Justice Handley of the Madras High Court that suits of the kinds mentioned in clauses (q) and (r) of section 19 of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act (XV of 1882) should be excluded from the jurisdiction of the City Court. We do not, however, see sufficient grounds for adopting this suggestion. We prefer to give the new Court general jurisdiction, and to leave the High Court to call up cases which, in its judgment, should be tried by itself. Section 12 makes all reasonable provision regarding fees paid in cases so removed to the High Court.

4. We have inserted a section (11), based on section 73 of Act XV of 1882, providing for the refund of half the institution-fees paid in cases before the City Court which are settled by agreement of the parties before hearing.

5. It is not certain that the Indian Legislature is competent to abolish any part of the original jurisdiction of a chartered High Court. We have accordingly resolved expressly to maintain the High Court's concurrent jurisdiction (section 14), adding a provision as to costs similar to that contained in section 22, Act XV of 1882.

6. Various other points have been raised in the letter, dated 2nd March, from the Government of Madras, and we will briefly advert to each of them in order:—

(1) By section 3 (c) we have excluded suits cognizable by the Court of Small Causes.
(2) has been met by section 10.
(3) We are of opinion that the new Court should be confined to the trial of petty cases and should not be a District Court. All matters reserved by law for a principal Court of original jurisdiction should go to the High Court.
(4) The Court-fees Act and the Code of Civil Procedure are general and apply to all Courts not specially exempted from their operation.
(5) has been met by section 3 (b).
(6) A majority of the Committee considered that section 7, Act XV of 1882, applied to all Judges who are ex officio Judges of the Small Cause Court, and that no further provision was expedient.

(7) has been met by section 4; and (8) and (9) by section 6.
(10) By section 5 (2) we have empowered the Chief Justice of the High Court to control the Judges of the new Court with reference to Small Cause work.
(11) We consider it sufficiently clear that it is only when trying small causes that a Judge of the City Court can exercise Small Cause powers.
(12) has been met by section 15.
(13) The control of the ministerial establishment is provided for by section 7.
(14) It seems unnecessary specially to prohibit Judges in a presidency-town from trying cases in which they are personally interested.
(15), regarding the law to be administered, is met by section 8; and (16), regarding the valuation of suits, by section 9.
(17) The Legal Practitioners Act, 1879, seems to make all necessary provision regarding the persons who may practise in the City Court.
(18), regarding holidays, is met by section 16
(19) It seems unnecessary to make any exemptions from arrest.
(20) It has been proposed, simultaneously with the establishment of the new Court, to reduce the scale of fees levied in the Court of Small Causes, and to introduce in its place the scale prescribed by the Court-fees Act. We consider that this matter is beyond the scope of our instructions. We may, however, remark that section 75, Act XV of 1882, gives the Local Government full power to vary the fees payable under sections 71 and 72.
(21) has been met by section 7, and (22) by section 13.
(23) is disposed of in paragraph 3 of this Report, and (25) in paragraph 5.
(24) is met by section 14 (2).

7. We recommend that the Bill as now amended be remitted to the Government of Madras for further consideration, and that it be re-published.

The 23rd March, 1892.

I REGRET my inability to concur in this Report. In the first place, I do not think that it has been satisfactorily established that any new Court is needed in the City of Madras; and, in the second place, I am strongly of opinion that, if such a Court is established, the law should provide that the Judges thereof should be Advocates of the High Court. Without such a provision, the establishment of the new Court will, in my judgment, tend to the further decadence of the Madras Bar, to the serious injury both of private interests and of the public weal. By private interests, I mean the interests of private suitors, not those of individual members of the Bar.

The 23rd March, 1892. H. W. BLISS.

I THINK the Bill as amended is now a workable scheme. I am not certain that all the advantages of it might not be equally well or better secured by modifications of the original scheme. I desire to reserve my opinion as to the points raised by the Hon'ble Mr. Bliss in view of the possibility of further representations from Madras. The necessity for this legislation (if it is necessary) must depend on the peculiar circumstances of Madras, as such a measure would, in my opinion, be wholly out of the question for Calcutta. The position of Madras as regards the original jurisdiction of the High Court appears to be very peculiar.

INDIAN LIMITATION ACT, 1877, AND CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, and the Code of Civil Procedure. He said:—

"Before I explain the reason why it has been thought necessary to introduce this Bill, I wish to say one or two words to make it quite clear as to what the position, as I take it, of the Legislature in this matter is. In the construction of an Act of Parliament, or an Act of this Legislature, it is clear that the Courts of Law are the only authority that can decide as to what is the true construction, and that where two High Courts have, as in this case has happened in three instances, come to different conclusions upon the true construction of an Act, there is no authority in India which has any right to say which of the two High Courts is right and which is wrong. It may be that both are right or both wrong; but what the Legislature has a right to do is this: if it considers either that one of the two conflicting views ought to prevail for the future, or that some view different from either would be the best rule to introduce for the future, it can alter the law so as to put an end to the conflict of authority without expressing any opinion as to which conclusion was right or which was wrong in the past.

"This is the course which I am about to ask the Council to take in regard to three cases in which a difference of opinion has arisen between different High Courts in this country.

"The first is a comparatively small matter. In the construction of the Limitation Act the Court at Calcutta has taken one view as to the manner in which time for obtaining copies of decrees ought to be counted for purposes of appeal. The Court at Madras has, I understand, taken a different view; and as long as each Court consistently follows its own view, as a mere matter of law procedure, no harm is done; but it so happened that the Court in the North-Western Provinces, after following for some time the practice of the Calcutta Court, suddenly discovered in a case reported in the 12th volume of the Allahabad series of the Indian Law Reports that that view was wrong and that it ought to have adopted the practice of the Madras Court. The consequence is that a number of cases which would have been in time if the Court had continued to follow its old practice were thrown out of time by the change of practice. That no doubt was felt to be a hardship, and the first section of the Bill is designed to prevent the occurrence of a similar hardship in the future. I may say that the form in which the first section has been put was suggested by the Chief Justice of the Allahabad Court himself with a view to prevent the operation in the future of such a decision as that to which I have referred: so that it is introduced here with, if I may say so, the full co-operation, with the full concurrence and approbation, of the Judge against whom it might otherwise be supposed that the section was directed.

"The second and fourth clauses of the Bill refer to a somewhat different case. It had been decided again and again by the High Court in Calcutta that the twenty-second chapter of the Code of Civil Procedure, which refers to what I may, for convenience, call cases of nonsuit, has no application to proceedings after decree. By an interpretation of the 647th section of the Code, which differed from that put upon it by the Court of Calcutta, the Court of the North-Western Provinces has come to the conclusion that Chapter XXII does refer to proceedings after decree. Without saying which is right and which is wrong, I personally, and I think I may say the Executive Department most concerned, are strongly of opinion that that chapter ought not to refer to such proceedings; and that, whether it does do so or not, we ought to declare that it shall not do so for the future; and accordingly the second section of the Bill proposes to add to Chapter XXII of the Code of Civil Procedure a clause providing that nothing in that Chapter shall have any application to any proceedings subsequent to a decree; and the fourth section of the Bill proposes to add to section 647 an explanation which will prevent the same interpretation being put upon it in future as that which has been put upon it by the Allahabad Court.

"Finally, the third section of the Bill, which I have passed over for a moment, applies to a case in which I am not sure that there is a difference of opinion between two High Courts, but in which an interpretation has been put upon the limitation in respect of memoranda of appeal and applications for review of judgment, which has had this effect, that where a memorandum of appeal has been presented in proper time, and has been duly received, bearing a stamp which at the time when it was presented was supposed both by the appellant and by the Registrar of the Court to be sufficient, but where, after the time for appealing had expired, it was discovered that the stamp was insufficient, the Court has held that there was no proper memorandum of appeal, for want of a proper stamp, that it was too late to amend the error, and that therefore the appeal failed.

"I think that it will be obvious to every one that where there is a bonâ fide mistake of that kind which is not discovered until it is too late, and where the applicant is ready and willing to amend it as soon as he has discovered it, the appellant ought not to have his suit fail upon the merits merely because he and the officer of the Court had been under a mistake as to what stamp ought to have been affixed.

"We accordingly propose to add a section to the Code of Civil Procedure to the effect that if an appeal is presented which is otherwise correct, but is insufficiently stamped by reason of a mistake as to the amount of the proper stamp, it shall be as valid as if it had been properly stamped, provided that, if the proper stamp is not put on within a reasonable time after the mistake is discovered, the appeal is to be rejected. That, I think, will meet the justice of the case without imposing any risk of loss to the revenue, which of course it is part of our duty to preserve."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER also introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER also moved that the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the local official Gazettes in English and in such other languages as the Local Governments think fit.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weather Review of India for the week ending at 8 a. m., on Saturday, March 12th, 1892.

Quiet weather has prevailed throughout India during the week under review, and the principal feature in the changes which have occurred has been the gradual approach towards hot weather conditions. Up to the present time variable light breezes have been general throughout Northern India, but during the present week the wind has more or less settled into north-west and west down the Gangetic plain. These winds are characteristic of the hot season, and their temperature has slowly increased as the week has progressed.

On the 6th the barometer was falling over north-western India and was rising elsewhere. Readings were highest over the central parts of the country, and low over the north of the Gangetic plain, over Burma and over the south of the Peninsula. The wind was southerly at Khushab and south-easterly at Murree and feebly cyclonic over Burma, but elsewhere the directions were anticyclonic. The force was strong down the Gangetic plain. On the 7th a large shallow low pressure area was shown over Sind, the west of Rajputana and the Punjab, while the low pressure area over the north of the Gangetic plain had disappeared. In other respects the distribution was similar to that reported on the 6th. The wind exhibited irregular cyclonic movements in the north-west but elsewhere the directions were little changed. The force was lower down the Gangetic plain. Slight rain had fallen at Srinagar, Murree and Rawalpindi. The chart of the 8th showed that the barometer had risen in the north-west and fallen in Central, North-Eastern and Southern India. The low pressure area in the north-west was less distinctly marked than on the 7th, while on the contrary the low pressure over the north of the Gangetic plain had reappeared; otherwise there was little change. The cyclonic movements of the air in the north-west had given way to variable breezes, and south-westerly and southerly winds had taken the place of the westerly winds in the North-Western Provinces and Bengal. The only rainfall was a shower at Cochin. On the 9th the chart showed that the low pressure in the north-west had disappeared and that a high pressure area was forming in that region. Except in Northern India readings were very uniform and the winds throughout India varied very considerably in direction. There was no rain in any part of India. The chart of the 10th showed that the barometer was rising almost everywhere, and the high pressure area which was appearing in north-western India on the 9th had extended south-eastward and spread right across the country. Slight depressions were shown over Sind, over Behar and North Bengal and over Central Burma. The winds remained generally variable but the westerly current down the Gangetic plain was reappearing. Light rain had fallen at Murree, Rawalpindi and Mercara. On the 11th the barometer was falling except in the Indus Valley and the high pressure area, though still shown extending from the north of the Punjab south-eastward to the central parts of the country, had contrasted considerably in size. On the other hand, the low pressure in Behar and North Bengal had developed and the westerly winds down the Gangetic plain were more general and stronger. Light rain had fallen at Kushab, Murree and Srinagar. On the morning of the 12th the barometer was falling except in Sind and the south-west of the Peninsula. The general distribution was the same as on the 11th, readings being high in north-western India and low over Behar Gradients had, however, slightly increased in the north-west as the low pressure area had moved somewhat in that direction. In consequence the north-westerly and westerly current down the Gangetic plain had increased in force and gales were reported from several places. Elsewhere variable breezes prevailed. There was no rain in any part of India.

Temperature.—The general mean temperature for India has been below the average during the week under review. It will be remembered that at the close of the previous week a cold wave of considerable intensity was passing across India. On the 6th this cold wave covered almost the whole of India, the only province outside its influence being Madras. On the 7th, however, the commencement of a warm wave was shown over the Punjab, Sind and Rajputana. Between the 8th and the 10th the cold wave retreated eastward and the warm wave advanced eastward, so that on the latter date the mean temperature was excessive over the Punjab, the North-Western Provinces, Oudh, Sind and Rajputana, and in defect in Burma, Bengal, Bombay, the Central Provinces Central India, Guzerat and Madras. By the 11th the warm wave had extended to all provinces except Burma, Bombay and Madras, and by the 12th to all provinces except Burma and Madras.

The following table shows the variations of the mean temperature from the normal on each day of the week for the principal provinces of India:—

| Province. | 6th. | 7th. | 8th. | 9th. | 10th. | 11th. | 12th. | Mean variation of week. |

The above figures show that the mean temperature of the whole of India was 1° below the normal average on the mean of the week. From the 6th to 9th the mean was in defect by decreasing amounts, on the 10th it was exactly normal, and on the 11th and 12th it was excessive. The maxima began to exceed 100° in parts of the Peninsula, Berar and Guzerat at the close of the week

Rain.—The earlier paragraphs of the summary have shown that the rainfall of the week was extremely light, and the concluding table shows that during the week rain was received in only four of the fifty-one rainfall divisions, and that in one division only did the average rainfall of the division exceed 0·1". The divisions which received rain were Eastern Bengal, the North-West Punjab, Malabar, and Madras (South Central). In Malabar the actual rainfall exactly equalled the normal; in the other three divisions it was in defect.

The columns showing the state of the rainfall for the two weeks, February 28th to March 12th, exhibit a deficiency in all divisions except Malabar, Coorg and Madras (South), where the fairly heavy rain of last week still occasions an excess.
